Oregon: McCarthy Soars, Kennedy Sags

By RAYMOND LAHR

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy stunningly defeated Sen. Robert F. Kennedy in the Oregon Democratic primary that Kennedy had said he must win to keep his presidential aspirations alive. They headed today for a do-or-die showdown in California.

Richard M. Nixon won another lopsided primary victory Tuesday in his quest for the Republican nomination.

Oregon's maverick voters harshly set back Kennedy's design to roll to his party's nomination on a bandwagon of consecutive primary victories. Their rejection of Kennedy placed a new ace in the hand of Vice President Hubert Humphrey, a noncontestant in the primary battles but the front-runner in delegates committed.

McCarthy gained a surge of momentum toward next Tuesday's California primary, a more crucial battle where Kennedy is the favorite. The California winner gets 172 delegates, a prize neither Kennedy nor McCarthy could afford to lose and still hope to stop Humphrey.

Shows Confidence

Stunning as his victory was, McCarthy still was an underdog for the nomination but he confidently spoke of going on to Chicago (the national convention) "and beyond."

Nixon won overwhelmingly over absentee opponents—Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, whose name was on the ballot, and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, a write-in candidate.

Once a substantial number of the votes was counted, McCarthy consistently ran ahead of Kennedy by a margin of about 43 per cent to 38. Most of the balance went for President Johnson and Humphrey write-ins.

Nixon's Lead Constant

Nixon's total throughout the night hovered around 72 per cent with 22 per cent going to Reagan and six per cent in Rockefeller write-ins.

A weary Kennedy, who had been saying he had to win all of the primaries he entered to stay alive as a candidate, telegraphed congratulations to McCarthy shortly before midnight. He told still cheering supporters nothing about his future plans beyond announcing he would hold a news conference today at Los Angeles.

While his cheering section was still with him, gloom was obvious among the Kennedy professionals, almost from the time the polls closed.

There was a more jubilant mood in the McCarthy headquarters. Shouts of "We Want Gene" nearly drowned McCarthy's voice when he said he was going on to Chiicago, where the Democrats nominate their presidential candidate, "and beyond."

McCarthy's victory gave him 33 of the state's 35 delegate votes. The convention nominee must get 1,312.

Collects Convention Votes

Nixon won 18 Oregon votes for the GOP convention, where 667 will be needed to win.

Johnson's announcement March 31 that he would not accept renomination came too late to take his name off the ballot. Humphrey became a declared candidate too late to enter any primaries, and his national campaign organization discouraged write-in voting for him in Oregon.

McCarthy was the hero in the Oregon contest, although the roadblock he threw in front of the Kennedy bandwagon may ultimately benefit Humphrey. It was the first ballot box defeat ever suffered by the Kennedy brothers, including the late President John F. Kennedy, and the New York senator's younger brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

McCarthy still must travel far before he can hope to persuade a majority of the delgates to the Chicago convention that he is their strongest nominee.

No Negro Vote

To those Democratic professionals, Oregon is a sort of oddball state, with few Negro voters and none of the nationality groups common in the more potent political states to which Democrats look for national election victories.

Humphrey as well as Kennedy are deemed to have greater strength in those states than McCarthy, whose appeal is to the white collar liberals and the upper income Democrats.

A National Broadcasting Co. analysis showed Kennedy ahead in low income precincts.

It gave McCarthy 70 per cent in the high income areas and 50 in middle-income groups, 55 per cent in the rural areas. It also gave him 55 per cent of the vote of union members, although the state AFL-CIO had tried to run out a vote for Johnson, a vote which would have been interpreted as for Humphrey.

Viet War Boiling: Westy

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese troops battled Viet Cong holdouts today on the southwest side of Saigon as the U.S. Marines reported hurling back two massive North Vietnamese assaults near Khe Sanh. The Marines said they killed 230 of the enemy.

"The war has intensified," said Gen. William C. Westmoreland, "but the enemy is not doing well militarily. They've had no military victories."

After four days of hard fighting on the outskirts of Saigon, the South Vietnamese said they had wiped out the last Viet Cong pockets in Gia Dinh, on the northern side of the city, and retaken two thirds of the Phu Lam residential area on the southwest side of the city.

In Phu Lam, four miles from downtown Saigon, government marines were advancing from the south while rangers pushed in from the north, trying to dig out a Viet Cong force strengthened by 100 or more reinforcements during the night.

U.S. gunship helicopters fired rockets into buildings from which enemy snipers were laying down sharp barrages of small arms and rocket fire into street intersections.

South Vietnamese officers said one VC prisoner indicated that the infiltrators had taken heavy casualties, possibly up to 50 per cent in two days of clashes. But two South Vietnamese troops were killed and 10 wounded in the first few hours of fighting this morning.

The government radio reported more than 100 Viet Cong killed in the last few days around Gia Dinh.

A captured Viet Cong document unveiled by the U.S. Command exhorted the guerrillas to work for "more striking and more decisive victories" to better the bargaining position of North Vietnam's negotiators in Paris.

Allied intelligence reports indicate that 17 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese battalions have been assigned to harass Saigon and its suburbs during the talks. A full-strength enemy battalion normally means 400 troops but government intelligence sources say some of these battalions may be down to fewer than 100 men after severe losses in the enemy's February Tet offensive.

Along South Vietnam's northern frontier, fighting also continued for the fifth straight day. A U.S. spokesman said allied forces have killed more than 3,000 North Vietnamese along the demilitarized zone since May 1, about a third of them in the past four days.

Hopes Dimming For Sub Crew

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy officials indicate that with each passing hour hope ebbs for the survival of the missing atomic submarine Scorpion and her 99-man crew.

Facing more nasty weather today, 40 U.S. Navy ships and submarines and 16 patrol aircraft headed into a third day of searching thousands of miles of storm-churned Atlantic waters.

So far the round-the-clock search has produced not a single reliable clue to the whereabouts of the missing Scorpion.

"We had hoped something would show by Tuesday morning, the day after she was reported overdue," one Navy officer said.

"We're still trying, but we're getting pessimistic."

Capt. Walter N. Dietzen Jr., a submarine warfare expert, told newsmen the Scorpion—whether disabled on the surface or at some survivable depth—should have been able to communicate by Tuesday.

Richard Fryklund, a top Pentagon spokesman, said the search will "keep going as long as there is hope" of a successful outcome.

Discount Oil Slick

Naval officers tended to discount the significance of an oil slick sighted by a passing naval vessel two days after the Scorpion made her last radio contact with shore on May 21.

The oil spot on the ocean surface was sighted about 800 miles west of the Scorpion's last reported position, south of the Azores.

Pentagon officials said they were evaluating a British amateur radio operator's report claiming to have monitored a ship-to-ship conversation involving the Scorpion. Navy sources said their checks suggested the report was groundless.

According to the Pentagon, John Greyson of Barnoldswick, Yorkshire, told a constable he heard "a distinctly American voice in what seemed to be a distress call from Scorpion" on the 2.5 meter band Monday morning, London time.

The Pentagon said the call reportedly indicated "that the ship was having some kind of condenser trouble and was attempting to return to its base."

2,760 Mile Search

A Navy officer said the search is covering the entire 2,760-mile track from the Scorpion's last reported position to Norfolk, Va., but is concentrated over the relatively shallow continental shelf.

Experts feel the Scorpion's crew has at least an outside chance if the vessel is located on the continental shelf, which has a maximum depth of about 650 feet.

But they acknowledge there is no hope if the ship plummeted to the ocean floor beyond the shelf, where depths reach up to 18,000 feet. The Scorpion could not withstand the enormous pressures at such depths, they said.

Dietzen, deputy director of submarine warfare, indicated the crew could survive for longer than 70 days if the nuclear reactor continued to work and the skipper took certain measures to conserve the crews' strength.

In Broomall, Pa., Mrs. Salvatore A. Violetti, said she received a letter from her son, Torpedoman 3.C. Robert P. Violetti, on May 18 reporting that a Soviet destroyer rode alongside the surfaced Scorpion on May 10 "with every gun trained."

The Scorpion crewman said the incident occurred near Crete in the eastern Mediterranean and that American fighter planes "came to our aid."

County Dems Fail to Endorse

By LYNN MULVANEY

Democratic County Chairman Dr. Gerald P. Gorman has won his point — The Democratic County Committee remains uncommitted to any presidential candidate.

For Dr. Gorman, last night's 2 to 1 defeat of a proposal to endorse a candidate was a personal victory against the Kennedy and McCarthy forces who have beten pushing for an endorsement ever since the county convention in March.

Vote of Support

Terming it a vote of support, Dr. Gorman also interpreted the action as an indication that most of the committeemen did not wish to be as divided as they appear. "It will give the party more unity," he said.

It was Woodstock chairman John Bonilla, a staunch Kennedy supporter, who put a motion on the floor asking if the committee wished to endorse any presidential candiate. Lengthy discussion followed without any move on the part of the McCarthy forces to push for a committment.

"This was a surprise", said Dr. Gorman. Bonilla and city treasurer Stanley Petro Jr. spoke for an endorsement.

A second motion, brought forth by Gardiner Supervisor George Majestic called for tabling of the first. It was carried, 58 to 26.

Gorman, despite being a supporter of Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick and the Humphrey candidacy, maintained that an endorsement of any candidate "could serve no useful purpose at this time." He cited the three headquarters located in Kingston for Kennedy, McCarthy and Resnick - Humphrey saying they indicated an immediate division within the party ranks.

"I am trying to keep the party together," he said, adding that it should wait for an expression of sentiment from the people in the June primary.

Last night's discussion of endorsements marked the first time Gorman has allowed the subject to become part of the agenda.

In the past and before Vice President Humphrey's entry into the race, the county chairman discarded committment talk as "premature."

At a subsequent meeting another move by the Kennedy forces was made through James McCardle, Ulster County coordinator for the senator. But Gorman did not permit the subject of endorsement on the floor because it was not on the agenda.

Make Choices in June

Ulster County Democrats will make their presidential candidate selection at the polls in June. They will vote for delegates committed to the candidate rather than for the candidate himself.

Ulster Democrats, in remaining uncommitted, stand alone among some of its neighboring counties. Both Dutchess and Schoharie counties are backing the administration and Columbia and Greene have endorsed Kennedy.

The Humphrey slate is comprised of Joseph Y. Resnick, Thomas Quinn and Roy Guerino. Kennedy delegates include Roger Mabie, George Whalen and Hillary Masters. Those committed to McCarthy include Marshall Effron, Tobie Geertsema and George Skau.

In what was termed a record number of appointments to fill committeemen vacancies last night, the following were named:

Pre-Holiday Downpour: Flooding and Closings

By JEAN F. DOLAN

Memorial Day planners watched leaden skies with an apprehensive eye today as heavy rains pelleted Ulster County and most of the Northeast.

The excessive rainfall caused early closing of Onteora Central and Rondout Valley Schools today due to "bad road conditions" and flooding was reported in scattered areas throughout the county.

A combination of heavy rains and high tides forced the closing of lower portions of the Strand in Kingston early this morning and County Highway Department officials reported minor flooding on Granite Road.

Catch basins, unable to cope with the continued downpour, overflowed and cellar floodings plagued homeowners in many areas.

Original predictions were for up to two inches accumulation before the storm abated late tonight. In Kingston 1.30 inches of rain were recorded by the city engineer's office at 7:45 a.m. and teeming rains were still falling. Cooper Lake Reservoir reports 1.8 inches of rain during the overnight downpour, with rain continuing. Early unofficial reports from other county areas were in excess of an inch and a half, indicating total amounts would be well over the expected accumulation.

The heavy rains downed tree limbs causing scattered power interruptions. Minor difficulties were remedied by Central Hudson repairmen in Rifton and High Falls this morning.

Today's early recording on the city engineer's rain gauge brought the total precipitation for May to 3.95 inches slightly higher than the average of 3.5 inches for the May flowers season.

Records were broken in May, 1945 when 18 days of rain and one inch of snow brought the precipitation level to 7.66 inches for the month. Most rain recorded during a single day in that crazy May was 1.88 inches, a record which might well be broken by the current storm.

Earlier this week, high winds and abnormally cool temperatures plagued the county with a record low of 38 degrees set Monday morning. Frost was noted in some areas.

The extended forecast for New York State through Monday calls for some warming Friday and Saturday and more showers Sunday or Monday. Overnight lows are expected to be in the 40s and low 50s with daytime highs mostly in the 60s.

Cautious forecasts for tomorrow call for a cloudy morning with clearing and warming trends in the afternoon. Kingston marchers should be greeted with blue skies by the time Memorial Day festivities get underway at 2 p. m. on Academy Green.

Point Cadets Top Civilians in Calorie Count

BY DEE WEDEMEYER

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — That trim, well-conditioned cadet at the U.S. Military Academy, consumes more calories than a combat soldier—and almost twice as many as a civilian.

He and his 3,200, West Point classmates annually go through 135,000 loaves of bread, 80,000 pies and cakes, 800,000 cups of ice cream, tons of meat and vegetables and more peanut butter than you'd care to count the calories for.

Board Does Counting

The academy's menu board does the calorie counting for the cadet, and each one averages between 4,500 and 5,000 calories per day.

"Five thousand calories seems like an awful lot but believe me these cadets run it off," says Maj. Jerry L. Hearn, officer in charge of the cadet mess.

When the day begins at 6 a.m. and includes a required athletic program in the afternoon, the calories go very fast. As the dietitians figure it, a cadet uses up 4 calories per pound of weight per hour of running; 4.5 calories, swimming; 1 calorie, typing and even .7 calories eating.

Cadets gain or lose as much as 20 pounds when they arrive as freshmen, but after about two months the weight-gaining evens out. They end up with an average gain of eight pounds for the entire four years.

'Immature Stomachs'

"Nutritionally, with 5,000 calories, you can't miss," said Capt. Bonnie Moscatelli, the chief of food services division at the academy's hospital and a member of the menu board. The real problem, she said, is pleasing the individual tastes of 3,200 cadets who have "immature stomachs."

Pizza and steak are their favorites, with asparagus, brussel sprouts and liver at the opposite end of the popularity scale.

A big event for the cadets is the traditional Wednesday steak night.

"If I didn't have steak on Wednesday night," said Hearn, "I'd have a riot on my hands."

Typical Menus

On a typical Wednesday the cadets begin the day with chilled apricot halves, assorted dry cereals with light cream, scrambled eggs, crisp bacon, hashed brown potatoes, hot raisin muffins, toast, butter, assorted jams and jellies, coffee and milk.

For lunch, they might be served pork chow mein with mushrooms and bean sprouts, steamed rice, fried noodles, cottage cheese, jubilee salad, bread, butter pineapple sheet cake with butter cream icing, iced orangeade and milk.

With their sirloin steak for dinner, they get french fried potatoes, buttered succotash, chef's salad bowl, garlic bread and butter, blueberry pie a la mode, coffee, iced tea and milk.

Humphrey Seen Big Beneficiary Of Kennedy's Defeat in Oregon

By JACK BELL

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Kennedys have finally lost an election in an Oregon Democratic presidential primary that rubbed the winning sheen off Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, an underdog, upset the New York senator in the first defeat ever handed to a member of the Kndy family in more than a score of primaries and general elections in which they have been engaged.

The ultimate winner in Kennedy's Oregon setback could be Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. He got only around 5 per cent of the vote by write-in

But he was an indirect beneficiary of McCarthy's derailing of the bandwagon Kennedy hopes to ride triumphantly into the party's Chicago nominating convention.

Status Restored

McCarthy restored his status as a top contender for the nomination. However, he faces another apparently uphill battle with Kennedy next Tuesday in California, where the signs are not as favorable for the Minnesota senator.

The irony of the situation, however, was that while Kennedy and McCarthy were struggling over Oregon's 35 convention votes, Humphrey won 53 of 63 Florida votes. A ticket headed by Sen. George Smathers, a Humphrey supporter, swamped a slate pledged to McCarthy.

Humphrey thus continued to pile up a delegate total he had enriched previously in states where conventions name the slats while his opponents battle each other in the primaries.

Kennedy's chief hope of overcoming this lead had been to sweep the primaries and thus storm into the convention as a demonstrated winner.

In Oregon the Kennedy name and touch failed to rouse the crowds to ecstatic heights as they had in Indiana, Nebraska and in California campaigning.

McCarthy combined his soft sell approach with the best organization and the heaviest financing he has been able to mount in any of the primaries.

The results indicated that Kennedy would be handicapped in areas where the Negro and ethnic minority vote is small as it was in Oregon.

Nixon Wins Early

In the Republican division of the primary, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon swamped two threatening contenders.

By taking more than 70 per cent of the vote he deflated the possibility that a combination of Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Ronald Reagan of California could stop him at the Miami Beach, Fla., party convention.

Reagan, who said he isn't a presidential candidate, got around 22 per cent of the vote with his name on the ballot after an expensive and lengthy television campaign. A write-in campaign for Rockefeller, an active candidate who won the 1964 Oregon primary, produced about 5 per cent.

Nixon said that the GOP nomination was almost within his grasp. He said the Oregon vote had "pretty well eliminated" the chances that he will be derailed.

Embarking on an intense campaign in nonprimary states, Nixon said he thinks leaders in those areas may decide that "now is the time to get on the train before it leaves the station."

150 Arrested, 15 Hurt In Louisville Violence

By F. RICHARD CICCONE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — More than 150 persons were arrested and 15 others were injured Tuesday night as the second night of racial violence in Louisville was marked by hit-and-run tactics of brick throwers and sporadic sniper fire.

National Guardsmen aided police in the city's West End, a predominantly Negro section where rioting erupted Monday night and resumed Tuesday afternoon and night.

Three persons hit by gunfire during Tuesday night's disorders were reported in serious condition. A policeman was also hit by a gunshot. He was reported in good condition. Three firemen and three guardsmen were admitted to the hospital. One fireman suffered from smoke inhalation. The others were struck by thrown glass and rocks.

Twenty persons were injured Monday night, including four gunshot victims.

More Intense

Police Chief C. J. Hyde said Tuesday's violence was more intense than Monday "from a standpoint of hit-and-run tactics." He said the 8 p.m. curfew imposed Tuesday by Mayor Kenneth Schmied increased the number of arrests. Hyde said police policy was "to arrest all violators of any kind."

"By this method and a show of force at an early stage, we have been able to control the situation to the extent that there was no large gathering," he added.

A decision on whether to impose a curfew tonight on this city of 400,000 was to be made today by Schmied.

Lt. Col. Bert Hawkins, Hyde's assistant, said the heaviest instance of sniper fire was encountered by police protecting firemen. "Snipers opened up on the firemen and the policemen with them. The police weren't able to pinpoint the location of the snipers but a car sped away shortly after the firing stopped."

Keep Firemen Busy

Firemen were constantly active Tuesday night as dozens of real and false alarms were reported. All off-duty firemen were recalled Monday night. Louisville's 578-man police force is working 12-hour shifts with days off canceled.

Some 1,200 National Guardsmen, mobilized by Gov. Louie B. Nunn, and 150 state troopers remained in Louisville today. An initial detail of 700 guardsmen arrived in Louisville Monday and additional units were called out Tuesday afternoon when the violence renewed.

Several young gangs ventured into the downtown area, 20 blocks from the West End where some 50,000 of the city's 86,000 Negroes reside. The vandals smashed shop windows and caused authorities to close Louisville's main business artery to vehicle traffic.

Man Sought, Is Charged With Murder

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP) — A nationwide search was underway Tuesday for Thomas Hussak, 28, of Phoenix, a former New Yorker, charged with killing his estranged wife and gunning down his mother-in-law along the highway near here Monday night.

Mrs. Mary Hussak, 20, of Arkota Mine Site, a mining camp, was killed. Her mother, Mrs. Ruby Weeks, 46, was wounded in the neck, chest and shoulder.

Pinal County Sheriff Coy Dearman said Hussak forced the women's car off the highway about 11 miles south of Florence and shot them with a .38-caliber pistol.

Hussak then returned to his apartment in Phoenix, the sheriff said, changed clothes and fled in his 1961 blue Pontiac convertible.

Justice of the Peace Roy Nowlin signed a warrant charging Hussak with slaying his wife.

Authorities said Hussak has another former wife, Pauline, and two small children, at Corning, N.Y. They said he was on probation in New York for nonsupport.

P-TO Panel, Election Set

The Parent-Teacher Organization of the Port Ewen School will meet at the auditorium Thursday, June 4, at 8 p.m. for election and panel discussion.

School Housing will be the topic. Panel members are Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, superintendent of Kingston City Schools consolidated; Arthur Withall, president of the board of education and Robert Graves, principal of Port Ewen school.

School shirts will be on sale at the meeting.

Bell to Open Marlboro Base Memorial Day

Joseph Russo, Southern Ulster Co-ordinator, together with Brian White and Frank Ferro, co-chairmen of the Town of Marlboro Republicans for Bell Committee announced today that the headquarters will open Thursday, May 30 following the Memorial Day ceremonies. There will be refreshments served at the headquarters on Western Avenue in Marlboro.

In making the announcement, the chairmen said, "all area residents are most cordially invited to attend the opening, since Clark and his wife, Joy will be spending the day in Marlboro, we though it would be a wonderful opportunity for the people to meet and talk with them about his candidacy for Assemblyman in the forthcoming GOP primary on June 18.

Serving as hostesses for the event will be Mrs. Louise Brown, Miss Brenda Dall Vecchia, Mrs. Nancy Galante, Mrs. Curtis Perkins, Jr., Mrs. Joseph Russo, Mrs. Pearl Smith and Mrs. Brian White.

Government Rests Case, Dr. Spock's Turn in Court

BY WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON

BOSTON (AP) — Defense lawyers outline their case today on behalf of Dr. Benjamin Spock and four others accused of conspiring to counsel young men to avoid the draft.

The government rested its case Tuesday against the five defendants after 30 prosecution witnesses testifed in the seven-day-old trial.

With the conclusion of the government's case, the defense offered motions for dismissal of the charges or a directed verdict of acquittal. Attorneys said these were denied by U.S. District Judge Francis J. W. Ford in a conference in his chambers.

The 65-year-old pediatrician is on trial with Yale Chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr., 43; Mitchell Goodman, 44, a New York writer and teacher; Marcus Raskin, 33, a Washington research director; and Michael Ferber, 23, a graduate student at Harvard.

If convicted, they face five-year prison terms and $10,000 fines.

Two on Stand

Their lawyers indicated that at least two of the defendants would take the witness stand, and it was considered likely in that event that all five including Spock would testify.

As the government wound up its case, a youthful draft resister was brought face to face with the all-male jury.

Mrs. June Harmon, executive secretary of Draft Board 6 in Burlington, N.J., had been called to the witness stand to identify a charred draft card which the prosecution said was burned during an antidraft rally Oct. 16, at Arlington Street Unitarian-Universalist Church in Boston.

The rally, at which Coffin and Ferber were present, is one of several incidents upon which the government bases its indictments. The prosecution said the cards burned that day were among those turned in four days later at a rally at the Justice Department in Washington. All five defendants were present at the second rally.

Makes Identification

Mrs. Harmon, a trim brunette, identified the card as belonging to Stanley N. Griffith, a registrant of the board. She also identified him as the youth whom a photograph showed holding a card in the direction of a lighted candle at the church.

Suddenly, Asst. U.S. Atty. John Wall motioned to a marshal standing at the courtroom door. A neatly dressed youth entered the room and was escorted to the edge of the jury box.

"Do you know this man?" asked Judge Ford.

"Yes," Mrs. Harmon said.

"Who is he?"

"Stanley Griffith," she replied.

Griffith was whisked from the courtroom as quickly as he was brought in.

Police Probe Death Of Alice's Son, 5

NEW YORK (UPI) — Alice Crimmins, in a state of shock after her first degree manslaughter conviction in the death of her young daughter, rested in a hospital today while police sought to solve the murder of her son.

The 29-year old former cocktail waitress was reported in satisfactory condition in a hospital prison ward. A court physician said she went into a state of "complete hysteria" two hours after the verdict was read early Tuesday when attendants came to take her to New York City's notoriously grim Women's House of Detention.

The physician ordered her to Elmhurst General Hospital for 72 hours observation.

Queens Dist. Atty. Thomas J. Mackell said meanwhile a search was continuing for the murderer of the Crimmins boy and for an unidentified man whom the state said was with the redhaired Mrs. Crimmins the night the children were slain.

Mrs. Crimmins was convicted only for the death of her 4-year old daughter, Alice Marie, the night of July 13, 1968. The badly decomposed body of her 5-year old son, Edmund Jr., was found five days later and the cause of his death never determined.

In Oregon the Kennedy name and touch failed to rouse the crowds to ecstatic heights as they had in Indiana, Nebraska and in California campaigning.

McCarthy combined his soft sell approach with the best organization and the heaviest financing he has been able to mount in any of the primaries.

The results indicated that Kennedy would be handicapped in areas where the Negro and ethnic minority vote is small as it was in Oregon.

Nixon Wins Early

In the Republican division of the primary, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon swamped two threatening contenders.

By taking more than 70 per cent of the vote he deflated the possibility that a combination of Govs. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and Ronald Reagan of California could stop him at the Miami Beach, Fla., party convention.

Reagan, who said he isn't a presidential candidate, got around 22 per cent of the vote with his name on the ballot after an expensive and lengthy television campaign. A write-in campaign for Rockefeller, an active candidate who won the 1964 Oregon primary, produced about 5 per cent.

Nixon said that the GOP nomination was almost within his grasp. He said the Oregon vote had "pretty well eliminated" the chances that he will be derailed.

Embarking on an intense campaign in nonprimary states, Nixon said he thinks leaders in those areas may decide that "now is the time to get on the train before it leaves the station."

150 Arrested, 15 Hurt In Louisville Violence

By F. RICHARD CICCONE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — More than 150 persons were arrested and 15 others were injured Tuesday night as the second night of racial violence in Louisville was marked by hit-and-run tactics of brick throwers and sporadic sniper fire.

National Guardsmen aided police in the city's West End, a predominantly Negro section where rioting erupted Monday night and resumed Tuesday afternoon and night.

Three persons hit by gunfire during Tuesday night's disorders were reported in serious condition. A policeman was also hit by a gunshot. He was reported in good condition. Three firemen and three guardsmen were admitted to the hospital. One fireman suffered from smoke inhalation. The others were struck by thrown glass and rocks.

Twenty persons were injured Monday night, including four gunshot victims.

More Intense

Police Chief C. J. Hyde said Tuesday's violence was more intense than Monday "from a standpoint of hit-and-run tactics." He said the 8 p.m. curfew imposed Tuesday by Mayor Kenneth Schmied increased the number of arrests. Hyde said police policy was "to arrest all violators of any kind."

"By this method and a show of force at an early stage, we have been able to control the situation to the extent that there was no large gathering," he added.

A decision on whether to impose a curfew tonight on this city of 400,000 was to be made today by Schmied.

Lt. Col. Bert Hawkins, Hyde's assistant, said the heaviest instance of sniper fire was encountered by police protecting firemen. "Snipers opened up on the firemen and the policemen with them. The police weren't able to pinpoint the location of the snipers but a car sped away shortly after the firing stopped."

Keep Firemen Busy

Firemen were constantly active Tuesday night as dozens of real and false alarms were reported. All off-duty firemen were recalled Monday night. Louisville's 578-man police force is working 12-hour shifts with days off canceled.

Some 1,200 National Guardsmen, mobilized by Gov. Louie B. Nunn, and 150 state troopers remained in Louisville today. An initial detail of 700 guardsmen arrived in Louisville Monday and additional units were called out Tuesday afternoon when the violence renewed.

Several young gangs ventured into the downtown area, 20 blocks from the West End where some 50,000 of the city's 86,000 Negroes reside. The vandals smashed shop windows and caused authorities to close Louisville's main business artery to vehicle traffic.

Man Sought, Is Charged With Murder

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP) — A nationwide search was underway Tuesday for Thomas Hussak, 28, of Phoenix, a former New Yorker, charged with killing his estranged wife and gunning down his mother-in-law along the highway near here Monday night.

Mrs. Mary Hussak, 20, of Arkota Mine Site, a mining camp, was killed. Her mother, Mrs. Ruby Weeks, 46, was wounded in the neck, chest and shoulder.

Pinal County Sheriff Coy Dearman said Hussak forced the women's car off the highway about 11 miles south of Florence and shot them with a .38-caliber pistol.

Hussak then returned to his apartment in Phoenix, the sheriff said, changed clothes and fled in his 1961 blue Pontiac convertible.

Justice of the Peace Roy Nowlin signed a warrant charging Hussak with slaying his wife.

Authorities said Hussak has another former wife, Pauline, and two small children, at Corning, N.Y. They said he was on probation in New York for nonsupport.

Bell to Open Marlboro Base Memorial Day

Joseph Russo, Southern Ulster Co-ordinator, together with Brian White and Frank Ferro, co-chairmen of the Town of Marlboro Republicans for Bell Committee announced today that the headquarters will open Thursday, May 30 following the Memorial Day ceremonies. There will be refreshments served at the headquarters on Western Avenue in Marlboro.

In making the announcement, the chairmen said, "all area residents are most cordially invited to attend the opening, since Clark and his wife, Joy will be spending the day in Marlboro, we though it would be a wonderful opportunity for the people to meet and talk with them about his candidacy for Assemblyman in the forthcoming GOP primary on June 18.

Serving as hostesses for the event will be Mrs. Louise Brown, Miss Brenda Dall Vecchia, Mrs. Nancy Galante, Mrs. Curtis Perkins, Jr., Mrs. Joseph Russo, Mrs. Pearl Smith and Mrs. Brian White.

Government Rests Case, Dr. Spock's Turn in Court

BY WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON

BOSTON (AP) — Defense lawyers outline their case today on behalf of Dr. Benjamin Spock and four others accused of conspiring to counsel young men to avoid the draft.

The government rested its case Tuesday against the five defendants after 30 prosecution witnesses testifed in the seven-day-old trial.

With the conclusion of the government's case, the defense offered motions for dismissal of the charges or a directed verdict of acquittal. Attorneys said these were denied by U.S. District Judge Francis J. W. Ford in a conference in his chambers.

The 65-year-old pediatrician is on trial with Yale Chaplain William Sloane Coffin Jr., 43; Mitchell Goodman, 44, a New York writer and teacher; Marcus Raskin, 33, a Washington research director; and Michael Ferber, 23, a graduate student at Harvard.

If convicted, they face five-year prison terms and $10,000 fines.

Two on Stand

Their lawyers indicated that at least two of the defendants would take the witness stand, and it was considered likely in that event that all five including Spock would testify.

As the government wound up its case, a youthful draft resister was brought face to face with the all-male jury.

Mrs. June Harmon, executive secretary of Draft Board 6 in Burlington, N.J., had been called to the witness stand to identify a charred draft card which the prosecution said was burned during an antidraft rally Oct. 16, at Arlington Street Unitarian-Universalist Church in Boston.

The rally, at which Coffin and Ferber were present, is one of several incidents upon which the government bases its indictments. The prosecution said the cards burned that day were among those turned in four days later at a rally at the Justice Department in Washington. All five defendants were present at the second rally.

Makes Identification

Mrs. Harmon, a trim brunette, identified the card as belonging to Stanley N. Griffith, a registrant of the board. She also identified him as the youth whom a photograph showed holding a card in the direction of a lighted candle at the church.

Suddenly, Asst. U.S. Atty. John Wall motioned to a marshal standing at the courtroom door. A neatly dressed youth entered the room and was escorted to the edge of the jury box.

"Do you know this man?" asked Judge Ford.

"Yes," Mrs. Harmon said.

"Who is he?"

"Stanley Griffith," she replied.

Griffith was whisked from the courtroom as quickly as he was brought in.

Police Probe Death Of Alice's Son, 5

NEW YORK (UPI) — Alice Crimmins, in a state of shock after her first degree manslaughter conviction in the death of her young daughter, rested in a hospital today while police sought to solve the murder of her son.

The 29-year old former cocktail waitress was reported in satisfactory condition in a hospital prison ward. A court physician said she went into a state of "complete hysteria" two hours after the verdict was read early Tuesday when attendants came to take her to New York City's notoriously grim Women's House of Detention.

The physician ordered her to Elmhurst General Hospital for 72 hours observation.

Queens Dist. Atty. Thomas J. Mackell said meanwhile a search was continuing for the murderer of the Crimmins boy and for an unidentified man whom the state said was with the redhaired Mrs. Crimmins the night the children were slain.

Mrs. Crimmins was convicted only for the death of her 4-year old daughter, Alice Marie, the night of July 13, 1968. The badly decomposed body of her 5-year old son, Edmund Jr., was found five days later and the cause of his death never determined.

Why aggravate yourself? Road Test magazine just did a 68-page comparison of the top 10 economy imports, including the bug. They named Renault 10 "most for the money" for the second year in a row. One reason they gave was the Renault 10 automatic transmission, which gives you 34.8 miles to the gallon.* The VW gives you 23.5.* If you want more reasons, come in for your free copy of Road Test. KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 29, 1968

The Kingston Daily Freeman will not publish Thursday, May 30 in observance of the Memorial Day holiday.

Memorial Day

The observance of Memorial Day tomorrow reaches the century mark. In 1868 John A. Logan, commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, directed that all G.A.R. posts set aside the 30th of May "for the purpose of strewing with flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country during the late rebellion."

At first, and for long afterwards, called Decoration Day, the name was later changed to Memorial Day and came to be a day on which to honor the dead of all wars, not just those of the Civil War.

In the 100 years since the first Memorial Day, five more wars have called America's sons to fight in places far from home. And today thousands of our country's young men are dying on the battlefields of far-off Vietnam.

Tomorrow, local residents again will honor their dead in the midst of war. Appropriate ceremonies will be held at Academy Green followed by a seven-division parade. Services also will be held in local cemeteries.

Many of our young people filled with patriotism and zeal to serve will participate in the memorial exercises, take part in the parade or pay their respects from the sidelines.

What promise can we hold forth for these and succeeding generations that one day the last soldier's grave will be filled and that nation shall not lift up sword against nation?

On this day dedicated to the soldier dead, it is well for us to pause and give thought to Memorial Day's ultimate promise.

If House Decides

In the present House of Representatives, in Congress, the Democrats control 29 state delegations, the Republicans control 18 and three are split evenly. Should George C. Wallace of Alabama carry enough states of the Old Confederacy to deny any candidate from getting a majority of the electoral college, the election would be thrown into the House for decision. As of today, a Democrat would win because each state delegation votes as a unit and each state has one vote.

Wallace has made no secret of his plan to play the role of spoiler, since he has little chance of winning the election itself. So the election of members of Congress indirectly could determine the next President if the general election is snarled.

Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, points out that the Democratic majority in 11 states is down to one or two members. A swing of one or two seats in these states would give the Republicans a clear majority of the state delegations and it would elect a Republican President if the House is called on to decide the issue.

Wilson's sleuths show that the Democrats are slipping in 97 Congressional districts. A gain of 31 seats would give the Republicans control of the House. Wilson expects a gain of 50 seats to be safe. But more importantly, if they are in the right states, they could control a majority of the state delegations, and the election of the President, if it comes to that.

Expanding Welfare Rights

Two criteria used by various states have limited welfare grants. Nineteen states and the District of Columbia deny aid to dependent children of promiscuous mothers. Forty states and the District of Columbia deny aid to children of recent arrivals. These criteria have been held unconstitutional in Federal trial courts and the Supreme Court is about to make final decisions regarding them. They would affect all the states.

Anticipating confirmation of the lower court decisions, Federal welfare officials have made estimates of the cost both to the Federal government and to the states in that case. The residency ruling would add 300,000 to 400,000 to the welfare rolls and the "man in the house" ruling between 200,000 and 400,000.

The additional Federal cost would be $100 million the first year and $160 million successive years. The states would spend $75 million more the first year and $120 million more in successive years. At present, the Federal welfare budget is $3.052 billion. The additional cost to the Federal Treasury would be about three per cent. State costs vary, but on the whole they contribute 42 per cent of the total.

These criteria have been used to pare down welfare payments. If they are barred, states with the largest welfare payments will attract a migration of welfare recipients. This will pile up local cost in the most generous states, and increase the congestion that creates slums and ghettoes. Such results cannot be an unmixed blessing even for the children.

Destruction of Draft Cards Criminal Act

WASHINGTON — Many students in the Colleges and other persons who engage in riots and disturbances have mistakenly been led to believe that "demonstrations" of almost any kind are lawful under the right of "free speech." The Supreme Court of the United States, however, by a 7-to-1 decision, has just ruled that the law which forbids the mutilation or destruction of draft cards is constitutional and must be obeyed.

Official reports show that more than 600 persons in 46 states have illegally disposed of draft cards.

The high court proclaims that Congress has the right to pass laws protecting the selective service system, because the Constitution says Congress is empowered to make all laws necessary "to raise and support armies."

The Supreme Court declares also it cannot accept the view that "an apparently limitless variety of conduct can be labelled 'speech' whenever the person engaging in the conduct intends thereby to express an idea." The court intends thereby to express an idea." The court comments further:

"A law prohibiting destruction of selective service certificates no more abridges free speech on its face than a motor vehicle law prohibiting the destruction of drivers' licenses, or a tax law prohibiting the destruction of books and records."

The latest decision, moreover, may serve as a warning to those who have been trying to interfere with recruiting by the armed services on the campuses of many colleges. No case of this kind has as yet reached the high court, but the Monday pronouncement makes it clear the constitutional power of Congress to maintain armies is "broad and sweeping."

This week's decision, which affirmed a prison sentence for the young man who burned his draft card, had only one dissent—the opinion by Justice William O. Douglas. He said that the court should rule on the constitutionality of a peacetime draft, since the Congress has not "declared war" in Vietnam. He expressed doubt whether "conscription is permissible in the absence of a declaration of war." If taken literally, this might mean that large armies couldn't be trained in preperation for war.

Congress — in a joint resolution passed by both Houses after the Gulf of Tonkin incident in 1964 — authorized the use of the armed forces of the United States to take whatever action the President deemed necessary in Southeast Asia to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

The Korean War was fought without a "declaration of war." This was because the Senate previously had ratified the charter of the United Nations, under which the collective action of individual members is authorized. Similarly, the United States now has joined with other nations — Australia, New Zealand, South Korea, Thailand and the Philippines — in a collective defense of South Vietnam. This is based on the Southeast Asia collective defense treaty, which was also ratified by the United States Senate.

The Supreme Court in its ruling this week ignored Justice Douglas' contention with respect to a declaration of war in Vietnam and took the position that the argument was not germane to the case.

If the President of the United States could not use the armed services to protect the interests of this country without a declaration of war, incalculable losses could be inflicted. Thus, if nuclear bombs were suddenly dropped on cities in the United States without warning and Congress was not in session, Justice Douglas' theory could mean that no measures to intercept such an attack could be lawfully taken until Congress passed a "declaration of war."

The high court's concept that interference with draft regulations is a criminal offense and that the destruction of draft cards is an injury to the Selective Service System has for many years been supported by legal officers of the government. But the "demonstrations" which have advertised the belief that, under "freedom of speech," it is permissible to burn draft cards have wrongly encouraged many students throughout the country to defy the law. Hence the widest dissemination needs to be given to the latest decision of the Supreme Court of the United States so that the public will no longer be misinformed.

French Debacle Warning to U.S.

President Charles deGaulle's French debacle shouts the warning. The eruption there has its equivalent here in Moscow's plans. And God help us if we fail to see the whole sad monolith of the affair in terms of the United States.

The crux is the double-level of Soviet operations.

No major country in the free world even approaches the "good relations" between France and the U.S.S.R. — at the government level. In fact, in this entente deGaulle has created a de facto Paris-Moscow-Peking axis.

French Ambassador Olivier Wormser is cock o the walk in Moscow. Soviet Ambassador Valerian Zorin receives elaborate deferences from deGaulle in Paris and uniquely at his Colombey-le-Deux-Eglise country home.

Surely, President Johnson and our government could hardly expect to equal such an entente. But it wouldn't mean any more than it means in France. Officially, the Soviet government consists of the usual ministries — typified by Aleksei N. Kosygin as Premier, Andrei Gromyko as Foreign Secretary, etc. The government, however, is secondary to the Communist party structure, which has its place throughout the government and the true authority is in this party apparatus.

For example, take the dreaded KGB secret police and espionage arm. Listed as a government ministry, the KGB's true authority rests in the Communist party's Central Committee secretariat headed by General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, the actual top dog in the Soviet Union.

The effect is a double policy by which the Soviet government operates at one level and the Communist party at another.

Premier Kosygin whispers sweet nothings to deGaulle and mouths the need for an entente — as he did to President Johnson at Glassboro — While Communist party leader Brezhnev tears France apart.

Gromyko officially encourages an entente with West German Chancellor Kurt G. Kiesinger while Rudolf Dutschke ("Red Rudi") and other Kremlin tools manipulate student savagery and general terror in the Federal Republic.

Or take Brazil. The Soviet government did not attack the Brazilian government that overthrew the Red-oriented regime there. On the surface it maintained, and still maintains, an elaborate cordiality with Brazil's leadership that came out of the military takeover. But the Kremlin's Communist activity through the local party constantly increases its vicious undercover Putsch toward chaos and the fall of the government.

Hirotsu's report of developments is nearly identical with our F.B.I. Director J. Edgar Hoover's current report here.

Lenin added to the trick of national strife the trick of racial strife. We're supposed to believe that much of this is not organized? A telephone conversation between H. Rap Brown in New York City and a Castro official in Havana has been broadcast throughout Latin America by Radio Havana. Brown glidly announced: "Each American city with a large Negro population will have a rebellion."

Well, more than 90 American cities have burst into violence and, within a single week, more than 55,000 troops have had to be committed to quelling the violence.

How do you suppose it makes our fighting men in Vietnam feel to know that our National Guard units are so desperately needed against outbreaks, looting, riots, anarchy and city-burning that (for the first time in history) we dare not send National Guard equipment to help in a war abroad?

The Soviet has used its official entente with France to divert and brainwash the French. We are being no less systematically and dangerously brainwashed in the United States by the cat-bait prospect of Washington's entente at Moscow's government level. The Kremlin's great and growing potential rewards here are obvious in the French debacle.

France Faces Worse Days; Dem. Primaries Get Emotional

WASHINGTON—the bedlam of France today may be mild compared to the economic bedlam almost certain to break after July 1. On that date, the tariff barriers of the common market disappear, and for the first time German, Italian, Dutch and other common market partners will be able to flood France with their gods.

The result will be a tough blow to French industry.

In the first place Italians work harder and better. The Germans are more efficient and more modern. The Dutch have been specializing on certain products, such as stoves.

In addition, French wages have just been hiked. The French work-week is forty hours instead of forty-eight. And French factories are not up-to-date. In this situation De Gaulle's gold reserve is certain to vanish. He will have to spend the gold that he is hoarding to support the franc.

Already there is heavy traffic across the Swiss border by Frenchmen who want to put their money in Swiss francs for safekeeping. It's sure to increase. Simultaneously American tourist trade has come to a full stop. It will not increase.

The danger is that the next French left-of-center government will not be table to cope with this. And after that could come a tough rightist dictatorship by the French army.

Political Emotion

Feeling between Democrats during the Kennedy-McCarthy-Humphrey internecine warfare has become so emotional that it may be difficult to heal the wounds after the Chicago convention. Things are especially emotional around Bobby.

When former Gov. Edmund G. "Pat" Brown of California came out for Vice President Humphery, it caused a bitter rupture with an old friend. Brown toyed with the idea of supporting Sen. Eugene McCarthy, whom he admires, because his son is working hard for McCarthy. In the end he concluded that Humphrey, with his long experience as Mayor of Minneapolis, Senator from Minnesota and as Vice President, was the most experienced candidate.

Brown's son took the decision in stride. Not so Fred Dutton who had been Pat's assistant in Sacramento and who was appointed assistant secretary of state and later a regent to the University of California on Brown's recommendation.

"You can tell Pat Brown for me that he's an ingrate," Dutton exploded to Humphrey worker Joe Cerrell, apparently forgetting that gratitude is a two-way street.

Later Dutton got hold of Brown personally.

"You doublecrossed us," he wailed. "Just for you we stripped Jess Unruh of his power. Then you turned against us."

Dutton referred to the fact that Unruh, speaker of the California House and Democratic opponent of Brown's inside the Democratic party had been demoted by the Kennedy forces—not to please Brown — but chiefly because he wasn't getting across with young voters.

Exit de Gaulle

It's almost certain that June 16 will see the political end of Charles deGaulle. The referendum to be held on that date will see an overwhelming vote rejecting his undefined reform proposals, following which, if he carries out his treat and/or pledge, he will bow out.

Fololwing this, France will be governed by a consolidation of left-wing parties under Francios Mitterand, head of what is called "Confederation of the Left". This includes the Communists and Socialists and all parties except the Gaullists and the right.

Significantly the Catholic church, which in France is far removed from the conservative Catholicism laid down by the late Cardinal Spellman, is working with the leftist parties.

Trouble has been smouldering France for a long time. The University of the Sorbonne had leaped from a student body of 150,000 in 1956 to 500,000 without building a single new classroom. Teachers were instructing classes of 1500 without a system of grades. Teaching techniques had not changed in fifty years. The aristocrat who could afford to hire tutors for his son got a degree for him. The peasant's son who could not afford tutors flunked.

The French taxation system is as riddled with loopholes as the American tax laws. There was inflation, a high cost of living, high rents, low salaries, poor schools, an inept agricultural policy. This, coupled with the drop in the American tourist business, plus the loss in revenue from American NATO bases on French soil, plus the extravagance of the French nuclear effort, all came to a head at once. One factor was also dissatisfaction with deGaulle's policy of high-hatting the United States.

All these add up to: Exit Charles de Gaulle June 16.

Rightist Battle in California

The No. 2 Republican in the Senate, Tom Kuchel of California, is facing one of the bitterest battles in the nation from right-wing elements of his own Republican party. However, he is going to win.

Over a million dollars has been raised by right-wing California Republicans to put the skids under Kuchel, using Max Rafferty, California superintendent of schools, as his opponent. Rafferty is the megaphone of the far right, the darling of the John Birch Society and a spewer of more invective than heard in Joe McCarthy's era.

Kuchel, however, is accustomed to this. At the time of his last election, four right-wing propagandists spread a story about him so filthy that it cannot be repeated. His friends told Kuchel to ignore it, that suing would only increase the gossip.

The Senator did not follow their advice. He forced a showdown in court. They were convicted of criminal libel, one of the few successful cases in American history.

Right-wingers are opposing Kuchel because he's a moderate. He sometimes votes with the Democratic party. Nevertheless, and despite the million plus being spent by Rafferty, Kuchel will win.

Debate Over Spending Cut Viewed as Silly, Dangerous

By WILLIAM J. EATON
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON—The debate between President Johnson and Congress over $2 billion in spending reductions is of great symbolic and political importance. But viewed from an economist's standpoint it is silly and dangerous.

Strong-willed Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee seems ready to sit on the badly needed surtax unless Mr. Johnson agrees to reduce outlays by $6 billion in the year starting July 1.

The President said he can cut back $4 billion but the extra $2 billion slash approved by Senate and house negotiators would plunge the nation into "chaos" by cutting urban programs.

Meantime, the nation is suffering from the greatest dose of inflation since the Korean war and, even worse, the dollar is in great jeopardy. The stalemate could bring down the world monetary system that has helped stabilize the global economy for nearly a quarter of a century.

James S. Duesenberry, a member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, made this point in a little-noticed speech to the National Association of Purchasing Agents.

Listing the dangers of inaction, the former Harvard economist declared: "A strong program of fiscal restraint—even one that goes a little too far—will do us a great deal of good."

Applying the brakes will slow the price spiral, bring down interest rates, preserve high employment and stave off another credit squeeze like the one that choked the housing industry in 1966.

If Congress fails to act, he said, the Federal Reserve would keep tightening the supply of money and credit. This would risk a serious recession—the worst slump in nearly eight years.

"The question is not whether we should slow down the economy—but how we should do it," Duesenberry said.

There are many arguments against a $6 billion reduction in federal spending. Liberals are convinced it will undercut private efforts to provide jobs and services for the poor in the explosive central cities. Mr. Johnson's advisers contend that the budget already has been stripped of fat.

Yet the President is not without resources to act during the 12-month period starting July 1—and a new President would have even more influence with Congress during a honeymoon period.

The House and Senate may change their mind about cutbacks when they see where the White House applies the axe.

For all these reasons, it seems far wiser for Mr. Johnson to accept the $6 billion cut to get his tax [illegible]. This would avert a do[illegible] risis, check inflation, and still not foreclose the possibility of restoring part of the $2 billion reduction that he finds so objectionable.

Goldberg Looks Beyond Viet

By MORTON KONDRACKE

WASHINGTON—When the Vietnam war is over, United Nations Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said yesterday, the United States should pursue a "detente" with Russia and her East European allies and seek a "modus vivendi" with Communist China.

Detente is a situation of relaxed tensions between nations; a modus vivendi is a temporary agreement between countries before substantive issues between them have been resolved.

Goldberg said he was speaking "as a private citizen" and that he would continue to do so after he steps down from his UN post.

Asked whether he would run for office himself or endorse a Presidential candidate, Goldberg said "I do not intend under any circumstances to re-enter politics."

"As we look beyond Vietnam," he said, "we should begin by rejecting the illusion of isolation in a "fortress America," and the opposite illusion of an America that is all-powerful and all-wise. We must follow a course that lies between isolationism and interventionism.

"My own appraisal leads me to the conviction that the course of policy promising the greatest benefits in the near future both for our national interests and for the peace of the world would be to pursue a detente with the Soviet Union and its eastern European allies, and to begin to seek a modus vivendi with mainland China.

Goldberg said he does not favor joint U.S.-Russian policing of world peace as a long-run objective. He said the world and the American people would not accept a "Pax American-Sovietica."

Long range, he said, "I profoundly believe that nations, including our own will never know real security until they acknowledge some impartial and effective international agency designed to keep the peace, control national armaments, negotiate peaceful settlements, advance human rights and facilitate social and economic progress." The UN is not now such an organization, he said.

He suggested these actions as leading to the shorter-range aim of detente:

—American acceptance of the Nuclear Non Proliferation Treaty, jointly drafted by the United States and Russia and now being debated in the U.N.

—The United States should seek "sensible and practical mutual reductions of troop levels and armaments deployed in Europe" by the United States and NATO and by Russia and her Warsaw Pact allies. Also, he said, the United States should seek to eliminate restrictions on travel, trade and investment with Eastern Europe.

—In the Middle East, he said, the United States and Russia should agree to limit arms and jointly affirm that only middle eastern countries can settle the crisis of the region.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 29, 1968

The Kingston Daily Freeman will not publish Thursday, May 30 in observance of the Memorial Day holiday.

Memorial Day

The observance of Memorial Day tomorrow reaches the century mark. In 1868 John A. Logan, commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, directed that all G.A.R. posts set aside the 30th of May "for the purpose of strewing with flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country during the late rebellion."

At first, and for long afterwards, called Decoration Day, the name was later changed to Memorial Day and came to be a day on which to honor the dead of all wars, not just those of the Civil War.

In the 100 years since the first Memorial Day, five more wars have called America's sons to fight in places far from home. And today thousands of our country's young men are dying on the battlefields of far-off Vietnam.

Tomorrow, local residents again will honor their dead in the midst of war. Appropriate ceremonies will be held at Academy Green followed by a seven-division parade. Services also will be held in local cemeteries.

Many of our young people filled with patriotism and zeal to serve will participate in the memorial exercises, take part in the parade or pay their respects from the sidelines.

What promise can we hold forth for these and succeeding generations that one day the last soldier's grave will be filled and that nation shall not lift up sword against nation?

On this day dedicated to the soldier dead, it is well for us to pause and give thought to Memorial Day's ultimate promise.

If House Decides

In the present House of Representatives, in Congress, the Democrats control 29 state delegations, the Republicans control 18 and three are split evenly. Should George C. Wallace of Alabama carry enough states of the Old Confederacy to deny any candidate from getting a majority of the electoral college, the election would be thrown into the House for decision. As of today, a Democrat would win because each state delegation votes as a unit and each state has one vote.

Wallace has made no secret of his plan to play the role of spoiler, since he has little chance of winning the election itself. So the election of members of Congress indirectly could determine the next President if the general election is snarled.

Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, points out that the Democratic majority in 11 states is down to one or two members. A swing of one or two seats in these states would give the Republicans a clear majority of the state delegations and it would elect a Republican President if the House is called on to decide the issue.

Wilson's sleuths show that the Democrats are slipping in 97 Congressional districts. A gain of 31 seats would give the Republicans control of the House. Wilson expects a gain of 50 seats to be safe. But more importantly, if they are in the right states, they could control a majority of the state delegations, and the election of the President, if it comes to that.

Expanding Welfare Rights

Two criteria used by various states have limited welfare grants. Nineteen states and the District of Columbia deny aid to dependent children of promiscuous mothers. Forty states and the District of Columbia deny aid to children of recent arrivals. These criteria have been held unconstitutional in Federal trial courts and the Supreme Court is about to make final decisions regarding them. They would affect all the states.

Anticipating confirmation of the lower court decisions, Federal welfare officials have made estimates of the cost both to the Federal government and to the states in that case. The residency ruling would add 300,000 to 400,000 to the welfare rolls and the "man in the house" ruling between 200,000 and 400,000.

The additional Federal cost would be $100 million the first year and $160 million successive years. The states would spend $75 million more the first year and $120 million more in successive years. At present, the Federal welfare budget is $3.052 billion. The additional cost to the Federal Treasury would be about three per cent. State costs vary, but on the whole they contribute 42 per cent of the total.

These criteria have been used to pare down welfare payments. If they are barred, states with the largest welfare payments will attract a migration of welfare recipients. This will pile up local cost in the most generous states, and increase the congestion that creates slums and ghettoes. Such results cannot be an unmixed blessing even for the children.

Destruction of Draft Cards Criminal Act

WASHINGTON — Many students in the Colleges and other persons who engage in riots and disturbances have mistakenly been led to believe that "demonstrations" of almost any kind are lawful under the right of "free speech." The Supreme Court of the United States, however, by a 7-to-1 decision, has just ruled that the law which forbids the mutilation or destruction of draft cards is constitutional and must be obeyed.

Official reports show that more than 600 persons in 46 states have illegally disposed of draft cards.

The high court proclaims that Congress has the right to pass laws protecting the selective service system, because the Constitution says Congress is empowered to make all laws necessary "to raise and support armies."

The Supreme Court declares also it cannot accept the view that "an apparently limitless varity of conduct can be labelled 'speech' whenever the person engaging in the conduct intends thereby to express an idea." The court intends thereby to express an idea," The court comments further:

"A law prohibiting destruction of selective service certificates no more abridges free speech on its face than a motor vehicle law prohibiting the destruction of drivers' licenses, or a tax law prohibiting the destruction of books and records."

The latest decision, moreover, may serve as a warning to those who have been trying to interfere with recruiting by the armed services on the campuses of many colleges. No case of this kind has as yet reached the high court, but the Monday pronouncement makes it clear the constitutional power of Congress to maintain armies is "broad and sweeping."

This week's decision, which affirmed a prison sentence for the young man who burned his draft card, had only one dissent—the opinion by Justice William O. Douglas. He said that the court should rule on the constitutionality of a peacetime draft, since the Congress has not "declared war" in Vietnam. He expressed doubt whether "conscription is permissible in the absence of a declaration of war." If taken literally, this might mean that large armies couldn't be trained in preperation for war.

Congress — in a joint resolution passed by both Houses after the Gulf of Tonkin incident in 1964 — authorized the use of the armed forces of the United States to take whatever action the President deemed necessary in Southeast Asia "to repel any armed attack against the forces of the United States and to prevent further aggression."

The Korean War was fought without a "declaration of war." This was because the Senate previously had ratified the charter of the United Nations, under which the collective action of individual members is authorized. Similarly, the United States now has joined with other nations — Australia, New Zealand, South Korea, Thailand and the Philippines — in a collective defense of South Vietnam. This is based on the Southeast Asia collective defense treaty, which was also ratified by the United States Senate.

The Supreme Court in its ruling this week ignored Justice Douglas' contention with respect to a declaration of war in Vietnam and took the position that the argument was not germane to the case.

If the President of the United States could not use the armed services to protect the interests of this country without a declaration of war, incalculable losses could be inflicted. Thus, if nuclear bombs were suddenly dropped on cities in the United States without warning and Congress was not in session, Justice Douglas' theory could mean that no measures to intercept such an attack could be lawfully taken until Congress passed a "declaration of war."

The high court's concept that interference with draft regulations is a criminal offense and that the destruction of draft cards is an injury to the Selective Service System has for many years been supported by legal officers of the government. But the "demonstrations" which have advertised the belief that, under "freedom of speech," it is permissible to burn draft cards have wrongly encouraged many students throughout the country to defy the law. Hence the widest dissemination needs to be given to the latest decision of the Supreme Court so that the public will no longer be misinformed.

French Debacle Warning to U.S.

President Charles deGaulle's French debacle shouts the warning. The eruption there has its equivalent here in Moscow's plans. And God help us if we fail to see the whole sad monolith of the affair in terms of the United States.

The crux is the double-level of Soviet operations.

No major country in the free world even approaches the "good relations" between France and the U.S.S.R. — at the government level. In fact, in this entente deGaulle has created a de facto Paris-Moscow-Peking axis.

French Ambassador Olivier Wormser is cock o the walk in Moscow. Soviet Ambassador Valerian Zorin receives elaborate deferences from deGaulle in Paris and uniquely at his Colombey-le-Deux-Eglise country home.

Surely, President Johnson and our government could hardly expect to equal such an entente. But it wouldn't mean any more than it means in France. Officially, the Soviet government consists of the usual ministries — typified by Aleksei N. Kosygin as Premier, Andrei Gromyko as Foreign Secretary, etc. The government, however, is secondary to the Communist party structure, which has its place throughout the government and the true authority is in this party apparatus.

For example, take the dreaded KGB secret police and espionage arm. Listed as a government ministry, the KGB's true authority rests in the Communist party's Central Committee secretariat headed by General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, the actual top dog in the Soviet Union.

The effect is a double policy by which the Soviet government operates at one level and the Communist party at another.

Premier Kosygin whispers sweet nothings to deGaulle and mouths the need for an entente — as he did to President Johnson at Glassboro — While Communist party leader Brezhnev tears France apart.

Gromyko officially encourages an entente with West German Chancellor Kurt G. Kiesinger while Rudolf Dutschke ("Red Rudi") and other Kremlin tools manipulate student savagery and general terror in the Federal Republic.

Or take Brazil. The Soviet government did not attack the Brazilian government that overthrew the Red-oriented regime there. On the surface it maintained, and still maintains, an elaborate cordiality with Brazil's leadership that came out of the military takeover. But the Kremlin's Communist activity through the local party constantly increases its vicious undercover Putsch toward chaos and the fall of the government.

Hirotsu's report of developments is nearly identical with our F.B.I. Director J. Edgar Hoover's current report here.

Lenin added to the trick of national strife the trick of racial strife. We're supposed to believe that much of this is not organized? A telephone conversation between H. Rap Brown in New York City and a Castro official in Havana has been broadcast throughout Latin America by Radio Havana. Brown glidly announced: "Each American city with a large Negro population will have a rebellion."

Well, more than 90 American cities have burst into violence and, within a single week, more than 55,000 troops have had to be committed to quelling the violence.

How do you suppose it makes our fighting men in Vietnam feel to know that our National Guard units are so desperately needed against outbreaks, looting, riots, anarchy, and city-burning that (for the first time in history) we dare not send National Guard equipment to help in a war abroad?

The Soviet has used its official entente with France to divert and brainwash the French. We are being no less systematically and dangerously brainwashed in the United States by the cat-bait prospect of Washington's entente at Moscow's government level. The Kremlin's great and growing potential rewards here are obvious in the French debacle.

France Faces Worse Days; Dem. Primaries Get Emotional

WASHINGTON—the bedlam of France today may be mild compared to the economic bedlam almost certain to break after July 1. On that date, the tariff barriers of the common market disappear, and for the first time German, Italian, Dutch and other common market partners will be able to flood France with their gods.

The result will be a tough blow to French industry.

In the first place Italians work harder and better. The Germans are more efficient and more modern. The Dutch have been specializing on certain products, such as stoves.

In addition, French wages have just been hiked. The French work-week is forty hours instead of forty-eight. And French factories are not up-to-date. In this situation De Gaulle's gold reserve is certain to vanish. He will have to spend the gold that he is hoarding to support the franc.

Already there is heavy traffic across the Swiss border by Frenchmen who want to put their money in Swiss francs for safekeeping. It's sure to increase. Simultaneously American tourist trade has come to a full stop. It will not increase.

The danger is that the next French left-of-center government will not be table to cope with this. And after that could come a tough rightist dictatorship by the French army.

Political Emotion

Feeling between Democrats during the Kennedy-McCarthy-Humphrey internecine warfare has become so emotional that it may be difficult to heal the wounds after the Chicago convention. Things are especially emotional around Bobby.

When former Gov. Edmund G. "Pat" Brown of California came out for Vice President Humphery, it caused a bitter rupture with an old friend. Brown toyed with the idea of supporting Sen. Eugene McCarthy, whom he admires, because his son is working hard for McCarthy. In the end he concluded that Humphrey, with his long experience as Mayor of Minneapolis, Senator from Minnesota and as Vice President, was the most experienced candidate.

Brown's son took the decision in stride. Not so Fred Dutton who had been Pat's assistant in Sacramento and who was appointed assistant secretary of state and later a regent to the University of California on Brown's recommendation.

"You can tell Pat Brown for me that he's an ingrate," Dutton exploded to Humphrey worker Joe Cerrell, apparently forgetting that gratitude is a two-way street.

Later Dutton got hold of Brown personally.

"You doublecrossed us," he wailed. "Just for you we stripped Jess Unruh of his power. Then you turned against us."

Dutton referred to the fact that Unruh, speaker of the California House and Democratic opponent of Brown's inside the Democratic party had been demoted by the Kennedy forces—not to please Brown — but chiefly because he wasn't getting across with young voters.

Exit de Gaulle

It's almost certain that June 16 will see the political end of Charles deGaulle. The referendum to be held on that date will see an overwhelming vote rejecting his undefined reform proposals, following which, if he carries out his treat and/or pledge, he will bow out.

Fololwing this, France will be governed by a consolidation of left-wing parties under Francios Mitterand, head of what is called "Confederation of the Left". This includes the Communists and Socialists and all parties except the Gaullists and the right.

Significantly the Catholic church, which in France is far removed from the conservative Catholicism laid down by the late Cardinal Spellman, is working with the leftist parties.

Trouble has been smouldering France for a long time. The University of the Sorbonne had leaped from a student body of 150,000 in 1956 to 500,000 without building a single new classroom. Teachers were instructing classes of 1500 without a system of grades. Teaching techniques had not changed in fifty years. The aristocrat who could afford to hire tutors for his son got a degree for him. The peasant's son who could not afford tutors flunked.

The French taxation system is as riddled with loopholes as the American tax laws. There was inflation, a high cost of living, high rents, low salaries, poor schools, an inept agricultural policy. This, coupled with the drop in the American tourist business, plus the loss in revenue from American NATO bases on French soil, plus the extravagance of the French nuclear effort, all came to a head at once. One factor was also dissatisfaction with deGaulle's policy of high-hatting the United States.

All these add up to: Exit Charles de Gaulle June 16.

Rightist Battle in California

The No. 2 Republican in the Senate, Tom Kuchel of California, is facing one of the bitterest battles in the nation from right-wing elements of his own Republican party. However, he is going to win.

Over a million dollars has been raised by right-wing California Republicans to put the skids under Kuchel, using Max Rafferty, California superintendent of schools, as his opponent. Rafferty is the megaphone of the far right, the darling of the John Birch Society and a spewer of more invective than heard in Joe McCarthy's era.

Kuchel, however, is accustomed to this. At the time of his last election, four right wing propagandists spread a story about him so filthy that it cannot be repeated. His friends told Kuchel to ignore it, that suing would only increase the gossip.

The Senator did not follow their advice. He forced a showdown in court. They were convicted of criminal libel, one of the few successful cases in American history.

Right-wingers are opposing Kuchel because he's a moderate. He sometimes votes with the Democratic party. Nevertheless, and despite the million plus being spent by Rafferty, Kuchel will win.

Debate Over Spending Cut Viewed as Silly, Dangerous

By WILLIAM J. EATON
Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON—The debate between President Johnson and Congress over $2 billion in spending reductions is of great symbolic and political importance. But viewed from an economist's standpoint it is silly and dangerous.

Strong-willed Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee seems ready to sit on the badly needed surtax unless Mr. Johnson agrees to reduce outlays by $6 billion in the year starting July 1.

The President said he can cut back $4 billion but the extra $2 billion slash approved by Senate and house negotiators would plunge the nation into "chaos" by cutting urban programs.

Meantime, the nation is suffering from the greatest dose of inflation since the Korean war and, even worse, the dollar is in great jeopardy. The stalemate could bring down the world monetary system that has helped stabilize the global economy for nearly a quarter of a century.

James S. Duesenberry, a member of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, made this point in a little-noticed speech to the National Association of Purchasing Agents.

Listing the dangers of inaction, the former Harvard economist declared: "A strong program of fiscal restraint—even one that goes a little too far—will do us a great deal of good."

Applying the brakes will slow the price spiral, bring down interest rates, preserve high employment and stave off another credit squeeze like the one that choked the housing industry in 1966.

If Congress fails to act, he said, the Federal Reserve would keep tightening the supply of money and credit. This would risk a serious recession—the worst slump in nearly eight years.

"The question is not whether we should slow down the economy—but how we should do it," Duesenberry said.

There are many arguments against a $6 billion reduction in federal spending. Liberals are convinced it will undercut private efforts to provide jobs and services for the poor in the explosive central cities. Mr. Johnson's advisers contend that the budget already has been stripped of fat.

Yet the President is not without resources to act during the 12-month period starting July 1—and a new President would have even more influence with Congress during a honeymoon period.

The House and Senate may change their mind about cutbacks when they see where the White House applies the axe.

For all these reasons, it seems far wiser for Mr. Johnson to accept the $6 billion cut to get his tax i e. This would avert a do' ri sis, check inflation, an still not foreclose the possibility of restoring part of the $2 billion reduction that he finds so objectionable.

BRASS TACKS

By LYNN MULVANEY
Freeman Political Reporter

If there is any one good thing to come out of the Savago-Bell battle for the GOP assembly nomination it is probably the fact that there won't be any hurry-up efforts on the part of local Republicans to select a candidate for one of the two new supreme court judgeships to which the Third Judicial District is entitled.

Last week's last-minute state legislation created 125 new posts around the state.

Some other counties put forth candidates within hours of the passing of the law creating the $25,000-a-year jobs.

But not Ulster Republicans, and the answer may hinge on the Savago-Bell battle.

Simply, if the GOP is split on its choice of a judge as it is for the assembly candidate, they can kiss the judgeship goodbye, for Ulster is only one of six counties vying for the two judges' posts allocated them.

Does Ulster stand a chance against Albany, Columbia, Schoharie, Greene, Sullivan and Rensselaer?

Yes. And the reason is a simple matter of reciprocity.

Last year Ulster helped Albany County (with the largest block of delegate votes) put its candidate, Judge Edward T. Conway in office. Now it may be Albany's opportunity to return the favor.

And, Albany's 20 votes plus Ulster's eight would give them a plurality with the 28 votes needed to carry.

On the other hand, there are those who feel strongly that any optimism on Ulster's part would be foolish and that if Albany teams up with anyone, it will be Rensselaer.

So far as we know there has been no agreement within the party as to whom the candidate will be, and it seems fairly easy to understand why when one glances at the list of eight judical convention delegates: Howard C. St. John, David Corwin, N. LeVan Haver, Frank Campochiaro, Francis X. Tucker, Harry Gold, Charles Kaiser and Michael Catalinotto.

Obviously some are clearly in the Savago camp, some are Bell ringers and some simply hold a "let's wait and see attitude." Even the alternates are a divided group.

And, the wait and see attitude seems to be to most everyone's liking for the June 18 primary will be long gone before the September Judicial Convention and the November election in which the candidates for supreme court must compete.

Then too, no matter what the GOP does, it would need the endorsement of the Democratic party.

Speaking of the November election . . . Should City Judge Raymond Mino, long known to long for the supreme court robes, become a candidate, would that not catapult District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca into the running for County Judge?—in time for November balloting.

Mino isn't the only one considered however. Lawyer Vincent G. Connelly presents a formidable contestant. then, too, there is Family Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn and Attorney Louis Francello of Saugerties.

As expected Saugerties Democratic Chairman Frank Costello brought charges against his tenth district committeeman, John Fitzgerald, at last night's meeting of the county committee.

Costello wants the committeeman removed from the organization because he is miffed over Fitzgerald's "Letter to the Editor" charging him with "false" statements in connection with the Saugerties committee's endorsement of Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick.

Costello says the endorsement was unanimous.

Fitzgerald, an avowed Kennedy supporter, says it was not.

What actually happened was all committeemen present voted for the endorsement and one abstained—Fitzgerald.

Costello says this constitutes a unanimous vote according to Robert's Rules and he takes exception to being lambasted publicly for making "false" statements.

Another bone of contention though, is the fact that Saugerties Democratic Club president, Robert Gardner, came out in support of Kennedy recently.

Costello has been extremely careful to point out that it is a personal form of support, not that of the club or the committee.

Sen. Jay P. Rolison tells a story of eight bus loads of students and faculty members descending on the capitol and legislator's offices during the closing weeks of the 1968 session.

They were asking that the SEEK program (Search for Education and Knowledge) for college students be increased by over 100 per cent.

Ironically, he says, none of the group which visited his office had any idea of what bill or bills they were interested in.

Big City Residents Are Divided On Question of Shooting Looters

By GEORGE GALLUP

Copyright, 1968, American Institute of Public Opinion. All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with written consent of the copyright holders.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 28 —Residents of the nation's big cities are sharply divided on the question of whether police should shoot looters during riots or whether a less drastic approach should be taken.

The issue was joined when Mayor Richard J. Daly of Chicago ordered his police officers to shoot anyone caught looting during riots, while others—notably Mayor John Lindsay of New York—criticized this approach.

Those interviewed who believe the police should shoot looters argue that "nothing else has worked" and that people would be discouraged from looting if they were threatened with this sort of punishment.

"Let's face it," said a middle-aged Los Angeles resident, "the soft approach hasn't worked and looting has to be stopped. If a couple of them were shot while looting stores, you can bet others wouuld be reluctant to get involved."

Those who take the opposite view argue that human life is more important than personal property, although many in this group nevertheless call for stern measures.

"Shooting looters would be useless manslaughter," said a young New York City woman, "These people are caught up in mass hysteria. One has to take this into consideration. I think we can sacrifice a bit of property for a few lives."

The following question was put to a carefully designed sample of 460 persons of both races living in cities of 500,000 and over (from a total sample of 1507 for the nation as a whole). The survey is based on personal interviews and was conducted in early May, following the extensive rioting in April.

"As you may know, the mayor of a large city has ordered the police to shoot on sight anyone found looting stores during race riots. How do you feel about this—do you think this is the best way to deal with this problem, or do you think there is a better way?"

The results based on the big-city sample::

Is Shooting Best Way?
(Views of Big City Residents)

Shooting is the best way..47%
There's a better way....49
No opinion 4

Men are far more inclined to favor shooting than are women. Persons with college training are more inclined to oppose shooting by a 6-to-1 ratio.

Mayors Taking New Steps Against Riots

A special survey of the mayors of the nation's largest cities reveals that most are taking new steps this year to deal with racial problems and lawlessness, with particular emphasis on citizen participation.

Cited most frequently as plans to combat crime and lawlessness by the 59 mayors (or chief executives) reached in this mail survey were: (1) increasing the strength of the police force; (2) improved or new communications and field reporting systems (including the use of computers); (3) greater training for police; (4) crime prevention programs for the community.

Other measures include: Increased patrol in high crime areas, particularly during hours most crimes occur; community relations programs between the police and the public; better street lighting; use of police dogs; and pooling of all metropolitan police agencies to provide mutual manpower and technical seryice assistance.

As ways to deal with specifically racial problems, these plans are being put into effect: (1) Broader social programs to reach the roots of crime, such as more jobs, better housing and education; (2) summer youth programs; (3) improved recreation facilities.

Mayors Plan to Call Upon Citizens

The overwhelming proportion of Mayors—53 out of 59 interviewed—indicated plans to call upon citizens to take part in anti-crime operations, a relatively new approach in dealing with crime.

Most frequently cited are these programs: the Neighborhood Watch Program, Operation Crime Stop, Operation Crime Alert, Operation Radio Watch, Chec-Mate, Buddy Program, Block Mother Program and Signal Ten.

Other areas involve the general education of the community in crime prevention through news media, seminars, conferences and the like; community relations programs; advisory commissions on crime made up of officials and citizens; civilian police reserves; special education programs on police work and crime in the schools.

The mayors of these large cities are likely to find considerable cooperation from citizens. Nearly 9 persons in 10 in a recent nationwide Gallup survey say they would be willing to help local police in community anti-crime operations—an indication of the great concern over lawlessness in this country today.

Questions for the Judge

210 Harwick Street
Kingston, New York
May 27, 1968

Editor, The Freeman:

As a concerned parent of two teen-age future drivers I am dismayed about the disregard for the law as evidenced by a recent incident.

Friday, May 17 at approximately 7:20 p.m., the gates at the railroad crossing on Foxhall Avenue were down. A certain judge, accompanied by a youngster, proceeded from behind a long line of waiting cars and drove around the barriers.

How does the judge answer some of the questions my children raised? Would a policeman arrest a judge? Would another judge be severe and impartial with him? What would happen if I should be brought before this judge on this same offense? If judges and policemen break the law, how can they arrest or judge a citizen? When and how does a person become above the law? He must have answered these for his child.

How can I teach my children love and respect for the obedience of law, when those who are supposed to uphold and enforce it nullify my efforts?

"We adults must be conscious of our duties to teach by example. Even more so when we hold positions of honor and responsibility." A quote from a lecture on safety by a renowned lawyer.

Sincerely,
MARY S. WINCHELL.

U.S. Field Commanders Told To Win War in Three Months

By KEYES BEECH
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

SAIGON—A top secret directive has gone out to all field commanders in South Vietnam telling them to win the war within the next three months.

The timing of the bluntly worded directive indicated the U. S. objective was to break the current military stalemate and give the Americans a decisive voice at the Paris peace conference.

The Communists are clearly seeking a similar military breakthrough for the same reason.

Thus it seems certain that far from reducing the level of violence, the Paris talks will produce some of the bloodiest fighting of the war in the weeks and months ahead.

Neither side is going to give up at the conference table what it isn't forced to yield on the battlefield. This, in essence, is what "fighting-while-negotiating" means.

The renewed intensity of the fighting is reflected in American casualty figures. American dead for the two weeks ending May 18 numbered 1,111 — the highest figure of the war, with both sides going at one another hammer-and-tongs, these figures may climb even higher.

Fragmentary evidence of the existence of a secret directive exhorting American combat forces to exert a greater effort has cropped up in several places about the country during the last two weeks.

The directive was believed to have been issued May 6. It went out under the name of Gen. William C. Westmoreland, outgoing commander of U. S. forces in Vietnam. But it originated with Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, Westmoreland's cigar-chomping successor.

Abrams does not formally succeed Westmoreland until July 2, when the latter is scheduled to become chief of staff. But in fact Abrams took charge of the war this week when Westmoreland began a series of farewell calls which will take him to South Korea next week and from there to Washington for congressional hearings on confirmation of his appointment as chief of staff.

With Abrams in the driver's seat, U. S. military men predicted a more aggressive war. While there will be no change in basic strategy, these sources said, U. S. tactics will reflect Abrams' aggressive personality.

The secret directive has already done that. In the strongest possible language, as much an exhortation as order, the directive told unit commanders that they have the assets and the resources to win. They also have the experience accumulated during three years of fighting the directive stated.

"More of the same" will not be enough, the directive said. A change in "mental attitude" is required. Routine reaction to intelligence on enemy whereabouts is not enough, the directive went on.

"They want us to go in there with bells ringing and lights flashing," one officer said after reading the directive.

To lose contact with the enemy once it has been established will be considered a tactical defeat, the directive said. One officer said the directive closed with the stern admonition that "you will hound and harass the enemy until his influence is driven from the land."

By LYNN MULVANEY
Freeman Political Reporter

If there is any one good thing to come out of the Savago-Bell battle for the GOP assembly nomination it is probably the fact that there won't be any hurry-up efforts on the part of local Republicans to select a candidate for one of the two new supreme court judgeships to which the Third Judicial District is entitled.

Last week's last-minute state legislation created 125 new posts around the state.

Some other counties put forth candidates within hours of the passing of the law creating the $25,000-a-year jobs.

But not Ulster Republicans, and the answer may hinge on the Savago-Bell battle.

Simply, if the GOP is split on its choice of a judge as it is for the assembly candidate, they can kiss the judgeship goodbye, for Ulster is only one of six counties vying for the two judges' posts allocated them.

Does Ulster stand a chance against Albany, Columbia, Schoharie, Greene, Sullivan and Rensselaer?

Yes. And the reason is a simple matter of reciprocity.

Last year Ulster helped Albany County (with the largest block of delegate votes) put its candidate, Judge Edward T. Conway in office. Now it may be Albany's opportunity to return the favor.

And, Albany's 20 votes plus Ulster's eight would give them a plurality with the 28 votes needed to carry.

On the other hand, there are those who feel strongly that any optimism on Ulster's part would be foolish and that if Albany teams up with anyone, it will be Rensselaer.

So far as we know there has been no agreement within the party as to whom the candidate will be, and it seems fairly easy to understand why when one glances at the list of eight judical convention delegates: Howard C. St. John, David Corwin, N. LeVan Haver, Frank Campochiaro, Francis X. Tucker, Harry Gold, Charles Kaiser and Michael Catalinotto.

Obviously some are clearly in the Savago camp, some are Bell ringers and some simply hold a "let's wait and see attitude." Even the alternates are a divided group.

And, the wait and see attitude seems to be to most everyone's liking for the June 18 primary will be long gone before the September Judicial Convention and the November election in which the candidates for supreme court must compete.

Then too, no matter what the GOP does, it would need the endorsement of the Democratic party.

Speaking of the November election . . . Should City Judge Raymond Mino, long known to long for the supreme court robes, become a candidate, would that not catapult District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca into the running for County Judge?—in time for November balloting.

Mino isn't the only one considered however. Lawyer Vincent G. Connelly presents a formidable contestant. then, too, there is Family Court Judge Hugh R. Elwyn and Attorney Louis Francello of Saugerties.

* * * * * * * * *

As expected Saugerties Democratic Chairman Frank Costello brought charges against his tenth district committeeman, John Fitzgerald, at last night's meeting of the county committee.

Costello wants the committeeman removed from the organization because he is miffed over Fitzgerald's "Letter to the Editor" charging him with "false" statements in connection with the Saugerties committee's endorsement of Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick.

Costello says the endorsement was unanimous.

Fitzgerald, an avowed Kennedy supporter, says it was not.

What actually happened was all committeemen present voted for the endorsement and one abstained—Fitzgerald.

Costello says this constitutes a unanimous vote according to Robert's Rules and he takes exception to being lambasted publicly for making "false" statements.

Another bone of contention though, is the fact that Saugerties Democratic Club president, Robert Gardner, came out in support of Kennedy recently.

Costello has been extremely careful to point out that it is a personal form of support, not that of the club or the committee.

Sen. Jay P. Rolison tells a story of eight bus loads of students and faculty members descending on the capitol and legislator's offices during the closing weeks of the 1968 session.

They were asking that the SEEK program (Search for Education and Knowledge) for college students be increased by over 100 per cent.

Ironically, he says, none of the group which visited his office had any idea of what bill or bills they were interested in.

Big City Residents Are Divided On Question of Shooting Looters

By GEORGE GALLUP

Copyright, 1968, American Institute of Public Opinion. All rights reserved. Reproduction in whole or part strictly prohibited, except with written consent of the copyright holders.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 28—Residents of the nation's big cities are sharply divided on the question of whether police should shoot looters during riots or whether a less drastic approach should be taken.

The issue was joined when Mayor Richard J. Daly of Chicago ordered his police officers to shoot anyone caught looting during riots, while others—notably Mayor John Lindsay of New York—criticized this approach.

Those interviewed who believe the police should shoot looters argue that "nothing else has worked" and that people would be discouraged from looting if they were threatened with this sort of punishment.

"Let's face it," said a middle-aged Los Angeles resident, "the soft approach hasn't worked and looting has to be stopped. If a couple of them were shot while looting stores, you can bet others wouuld be reluctant to get involved."

Those who take the opposite view argue that human life is more important than personal property, although many in this group nevertheless call for stern measures.

"Shooting looters would be useless manslaughter," said a young New York City woman, "These people are caught up in mass hysteria. One has to take this into consideration. I think we can sacrifice a bit of property for a few lives."

The following question was put to a carefully designed sample of 460 persons of both races living in cities of 500,000 and over (from a total sample of 1507 for the nation as a whole). The survey is based on personal interviews and was conducted in early May, following the extensive rioting in April.

"As you may know, the mayor of a large city has ordered the police to shoot on sight anyone found looting stores during race riots. How do you feel about this—do you think this is the best way to deal with this problem, or do you think there is a better way?"

The results based on the big-city sample::

Is Shooting Best Way?
(Views of Big City Residents)

Shooting is the best way..47%
There's a better way....49
No opinion 4

Men are far more inclined to favor shooting than are women. Persons with college training are more inclined to oppose shooting by a 6-to-1 ratio.

3 In 10 Predict 'Long Hot Summer'

Three persons in every ten among residents of large cities (500,000 and over) predict, serious racial trouble during the next six months, as seen in the results to the following question:

"Do you think there is likely to be any serious racial troubles in this community in the next six months?"

Is Racial Trouble Likely?

YMCA Sets Open House

The Kingston and Ulster County YMCA Day Camp will hold open house for family picnics on Memorial Day with the main office on Broadway and Pine Grove Avenue closed for the holiday.

If the rain continues throughout Memorial Day, however, the new picnic day for all families in the county will be on Sunday starting at 12 noon.

Swimming, boating, hiking, and fishing will be available and picnic tables and fire places are provided for area residents.

The camp director and staff will be available for camp tours and to answer questions about the Day Camp program which opens on Monday, June 24, for nine weeks.

Special youth programs have been scheduled for Friday in place of the regular Friday schedule. All boys in the third to ninth grades will have outdoor games available to them in the new ball field behind the Broadway "Y" building. Games will start at 9 a. m. with emphasis on softball.

The outdoor games will be followed with a recreation swim from 11 a. m. to 12 noon.

Girls in the third to ninth grades will have a similar outdoor program, starting at 1 p. m. and concluding with a recreational swim from 3 to 4 p. m.

The day camp is located at Peck Road in Shokan.

Charge Woman With Assault

A 38-year-old woman farm worker was arrested Tuesday night on a charge of second degree assault after she allegedly stabbed a man during an argument on a Town of Gardiner farm where they were employed.

State Police Sergeant Stanley Kowalik and Trooper J. F. Czaplicki of Highland made the arrest after they investigated a complaint that Charles Cooper had been stabbed on the right thigh. He was treated at the New Paltz Medical Center and released.

The woman was arraigned before Town Justice John O. Beaver who adjourned the hearing until a later date.

Local MD Group Elects Slate; Plans Meeting

Lawrence Machione, Bloomington, was elected president of the Ulster Area Chapter of Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc. at a meeting at the home of John Collins, Saugerties, last week.

Other elected officers for the coming year are John Collins, Philip Mikesh, Margaret Traver, vice presidents; Hugh Greer, secretary; Kenneth Osterhoudt, treasurer; Joyce Mikesh, corresponding secretary; Joan Machione, public relations; Verna Collins, patient service coordinator.

The newly appointed board of directors includes Charles O'Hearn, Earnest Fick, Edward Haines, Louis Tanske.

The next meeting will be held at the Civic Room in the Governor Clinton Hotel, Kingston, June 12, at 7:30 p. m. Joseph Belz, district director, will be abailable to discuss the importance of community activity through which local patients may receive aid. All interested persons are invited to attend the meeting.

More than 200,000 Americans, the large majority of them children suffer from MD, a mysterious disease which wastes the muscles of the body. Victims eventually become completely helpless, and may succumb to some minor ailment. The cause of the disease is obscure, and there is as yet no known cure or effective treatment.

Two Runaways Are Caught

A search by state police and Town of Esopus constables for two juvenile runaways from the Highland Training School ended after 8 p. m. Tuesday when the boys were apprehended in a wooded area south of Kingston.

The boys, who were reported missing before 10 a. m. were involved in house burglaries in Town of Esopus area during which they allegedly stole money and firearms. The hunt for the pair intensified after one of the runaways reportedly fired a shotgun at Town Constable Clarence Bowman, but did not hit him.

State Police Lieut. A. F. Van Blarcum directed the search with town constables and a detail of uniformed troopers and BCI investigators.

After questioning in connection with the house burglaries, the 12 and 13-year-old boys were returned to the state school in Highland.

YMCA Sets Open House

The Kingston and Ulster County YMCA Day Camp will hold open house for family picnics on Memorial Day with the main office on Broadway and Pine Grove Avenue closed for the holiday.

If the rain continues throughout Memorial Day, however, the new picnic day for all families in the county will be on Sunday starting at 12 noon.

Swimming, boating, hiking, and fishing will be available and picnic tables and fire places are provided for area residents.

The camp director and staff will be available for camp tours and to answer questions about the Day Camp program which opens on Monday, June 24, for nine weeks.

Special youth programs have been scheduled for Friday in place of the regular Friday schedule. All boys in the third to ninth grades will have outdoor games available to them in the new ball field behind the Broadway "Y" building. Games will start at 9 a. m. with emphasis on softball.

The outdoor games will be followed with a recreation swim from 11 a. m. to 12 noon.

Girls in the third to ninth grades will have a similar outdoor program, starting at 1 p. m. and concluding with a recreational swim from 3 to 4 p. m.

The day camp is located at Peck Road in Shokan.

Charge Woman With Assault

A 38-year-old woman farm worker was arrested Tuesday night on a charge of second degree assault after she allegedly stabbed a man during an argument on a Town of Gardiner farm where they were employed.

State Police Sergeant Stanley Kowalik and Trooper J. F. Czaplicki of Highland made the arrest after they investigated a complaint that Charles Cooper had been stabbed on the right thigh. He was treated at the New Paltz Medical Center and released.

The woman was arraigned before Town Justice John O. Beaver who adjourned the hearing until a later date.

Confirmation for 120 Sunday at St. Mary's

On Sunday, June 2 at 4 p.m., the Most Rev. James E. McManus, CSsR, DD, episcopal vicar for Ulster and Sullivan Counties, will confer the sacrament of confirmation on 120 parishoners at the Church of St. Mary of the Snow in Saugerties, it was announced today by Rev. Charles J. Kaufmann, pastor.

The children have been prepared for the reception of the sacrament by the Sisters of Charity who staff the parochial school.

Sister M. Leo, Sister M. Anita Rosaire, Sister M. Susan and Sister M. Elaine and Mrs. Charles S. Johnson were particularly involved.

The sponsors for the childdren will be Fred Seither, president of the Holy Name Society, Mrs. Agnes Altenau, president of the Rosary Society, Charles W. Meiswinkel, president of the Parent-Teacher Association and Mrs. Joseph Buser, president of the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Attending and assisting at the ceremony will be Rt. Rev. Austin V. Carey, pastor of St. John's Church, West Hurley; Rt. Rev. James J. McNally, pastor of the Church of St. Catherine Labouree, Lake Katrine; Rt. Rev. John J. Reardon, pastor of the Church of St. John, Veteran; Rev. John E. Ward, pastor of the Church of St. Colman, East Kingston; Rev. William B. Drew, pastor of the Church of St. Mary's and St. Andrew's, Ellenville; Rev. Francis P. Brennan, pastor of the Church of St. Peter, Kingston; Rev. John E. Downs, pastor of the Church of St. Annastasia, Harriman; Rev. John G. Russell, pastor of the Church of the Holy Name of Jesus, Kingston; Rev. Michael V. Bell, pastor of the Church of St. Margaret, Pearl River; and Father Joseph F. Hamilton, assistant pastor, Church of St. Mary of the Snow, Saugerties.

American Legion Memorial Day Plans Revealed

Lamouree Hackett Post 72, American Legion, has announced plans for the Memorial Day observance in Saugerties Thursday.

American Legion Auxiliary will hold its annual service at 9:30 a. m., when a wreath is placed at the monument on the legion grounds.

The parade will form on John Street at 9:45 a. m. with all participating units lining up by 9:30.

Services at the school grounds will have Robert Moser as master of ceremonies. Legion Commander Orville Whitaker and VFW Commander Max Benson will raise the flag. Colors will be played by bugler, Michael Greco.

Boy Scout Timothy Voerg will lead the pledge of allegience to the flag and the National Anthem will be played by the Saugerties High School Band under the direction of Robert Cing-Mars. Donald Fellows will lead the anthem.

The Legion prayer will be offered by Post Chaplain Thomas Vaclavick and a tribute to departed comrades will be made by Peter Williams.

The memorial address will be given by Harry Thayer.

A volley by the rifle squad will be heard with Arthur F. Simmons commanding and taps will be played by Michael Greco.

The Rev. Joseph Rainear will offer benediction.

Methodist Pastor Being Transferred to Armonk

The Rev. Joseph H. Rainear, who has been pastor of the Saugerties Methodist Church for the last eight years, will be appointed by Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke of the N. Y. Annual Conference to Armonk at the conference session beginning June 18 at the University of Bridgeport, Conn.

During his pastorate the church and Sunday School membership have grown, two new properties have been purchased, and just recently an architect has been selected for a new educational building to be erected next year.

The Rev. Mr. Rainear has been past president of the Saugerties Area Council of Churches and has taken an active part in community activities. Last summer his congregation gave him and his wife a surprise 25th wedding anniversary celebration and on May 2 he returned from an 18-day trip which included Rome, Israel, Greece, London, North Wales, and Ireland.

The Rev. William H. Baudendistel, from Armonk, will be appointed to Saugerties at the conference session. He has served at Island Park, Uniondale, and was an associate at Port Washington before coming to Armonk, all in the N. Y. Conference.

He and his wife have three children, two boys and a girl. The Rev. Mr. Baudendistel has a keen interest in audio-visuals and has charge of this department at the conference sessions. He has been active in youth work and ecumenical programs in his community.

Honor Anna Minkler

Fourteen Ulster Rebekahs attended the Rebekah Assembly Convention at Syracuse, May 19-23.

Anna Minkler of Saugerties received the honor of Color Bearer for the State Secretarial Association.

Rebekahs from all parts of the states attended.

Malden-West Camp Fire District Voters to Polls

Malden-West Camp Fire District taxpayers will go to the polls at Malden Firehouse Friday from 6 to 10 p.m. to vote on the purchase of a new $28,000 fire truck.

The new equipment proposed by the district is a 750-gallon-per-minute pumper truck, cab over type. If the purchase of the truck is approved by the taxpayers, the district commissioners will review bids and consumate the deal. It is expected that the new truck would be ready for fall delivery.

Franklin P. Clum Sr., president of M-WC Fire Company and chairman of the board of fire commissioners said the district will have $18,000 at the time of delivery to pay most of the cost and the remainder would be paid with a bank loan to be paid off from current income and without an increase in the fire tax rate.

The new pumper, according to specifications, would carry a 1,500 gallon storage tank and will replace the tank truck, a 1937 Reo, stationed at West Camp Fire Station.

Aside from the emergency vehicle housed at Malden, this is the first major purchase of new equipment in the district since its formation in 1954.

The fire company has 1,000-gallon pumpers in each of the two fire stations. The tank truck is housed in West Camp.

Local Notes

Mrs. Julia Cox has returned to Golden Hill Nursing Home from Benedictine Hospital.

Mrs. Edith Schaffer and Mrs. Catherine Van Gaasbeek, members of Lamouree Hackett Post 72 attended the American Legion Auxiliary Department Third District Spring Conference and luncheon recently. One hundred and 24 women attended at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Members of the Legion Auxiliary will meet Memorial Day at 9 a. m. at the Legion Home for services at the monument on the Legion grounds. Gold Star mothers are invited to ride in the parade.

P-TA Meeting At Mt. Marion

There will be a meeting of the Saugerties PTA at the Mt. Marion School, May 28, at 8 p. m.

It will be the final meeting of the year and the reorganization plan will be submitted for approval after a period of discussion. Nomination, election and installation of officers will also take place.

Need Leaders For Campfire Girl Groups

The Saugerties Camp Fire Council met at the home of Mrs. Richard Overbaugh recently. President Robert Schnell presided.

A report was given on the fund drive now being carried on by letter. The drive will be conducted through June 15. This is the first fund request which the Camp Fire Council has asked for in the last four years. Any interested citizen wishing to help the young women of this community through the Camp Fire Girls may send a contribution to David Halpert, Washington Avenue, Saugerties.

Plans are being formulated to have window displays throughout the business district of Saugerties, showing the different projects the Camp Fire Troops have been doing this past year. They will be on display for Memorial Day holidays.

A survey is being carried on at the Blue Mountain School for grade one to see what girls might be interested in joining the Blue Bird Troop of Blue Mountain. This troop is called the Busy Blue Birds. At this time the council is also looking for a woman who would be interested in being an assistant leader. There are more and more girls interested in the Blue Birds and Camp Fire groups, but new groups cannot be formed without adult assistance. Training workshops will be held in the fall for all new leaders and assistants. If there is anyone interested in taking an active part in the Camp Fire program contact Mrs. Richard Overbaugh.

The next meeting of the council will be held Monday, June 10 at the home of Mrs. Richard Overbaugh.

Lions Members Attend Confab

Five members of the Saugerties Lions Club participated in the annual New York State Lions Club convention at South Fallsburg, recently. This was the first Saugerties delegation to appear at a State Convention in many years, and the club, under the leadership of Lion President Kenneth Harder, was composed of vice president, William Farrell; treasurer, Wellington Hunter; and past presidents, Hugo Knauert and William D. Brinnier.

Harder has announced that the Lions Club annual merit scholarship award committee will be composed this year of Lions Bernard Rinaldi, Dr. Irving Dreishpoon, and Andrew Vozdick. Plans have also been announced for the annual installation of officers to be held in July, with the program being under the chairmanship of first vice president, Frank Greco.

Fish, Speaker For Republican Dinner-Dance

The annual spring dinner-dance sponsored by the Town of Saugerties Republican Club, Inc. will be held on June 1, at the Flamingo, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

George A. Terpening Jr., chairman of the event has advised that he anticipates a capacity crowd based on the early returns from ticket sales.

Host "Sparky" Greco, has prepared a menu to please everyone. Music for dancing will be provided by Vince Edwards and his band.

Guest speaker for the evening will be Hamilton Fish Jr. of Millbrook who is seeking the Republican nomination for Congress from the 28th District which includes Ulster County.

Committee members assisting Terpening with the event are: Robert McConekey, Anthony Francello, Clifford Snyder, Frank Naccarato, Richard Buono and Paul Pavlovich.

Blanket Drive Covers Area

The committee of the Jayncee Blanket Drive urges residents of the Town of Saugerties to search their closets and attics for good used blankets which they could donate for Project Concern Hospital in Da Npao, South Vietnam.

The drive will run until May 31. Anyone wishing to donate blankets may deposit them at Curry Brothers Gulf Station, Route 9W, Barclay Heights. If unable to deliver the blankets, contact Mrs. Theodore Corea or Mrs. James Davis.

The committee urges merchants as well as residents to donate blankets to the cause.

Centerville Homemaker Unit Elects

Centerville Homemakers Club meeting recently at the Saugerties Savings Bank Building, elected officers as follows: chairlady, Katherine Helm; vice chairlady, Jane Simon; secretary, Mazie Kuster; treasurer, Helen Walbroehl; publicity, Ethel A. Jehle; sunshine committee, Margaret McColl, Lillian Compitello, and refreshments chairlady, Margaret Marburger.

Eleanor Burton brought in various designs of aprons and Madeline O'Niell several three-dimensional pictures, a few were made from tapestry and some from toweling.

On June 19 a luncheon will be held at Leherbs at 12:30 p.m. Those who cannot attend the meeting and wish to go to the luncheon, please contact Lillian Compitello or Margaret Marburger.

President Signs Protection Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signs into law today the Truth in Lending Act—a major consumer-protection bill requiring more precise disclosure of the interest cost on $100 billion worth of annual loans and purchases.

The bill, sent to the President a week ago after eight years of battling in Congress, also protects workers in debt against full attachment of their wages and hits at loan sharks.

Sponsors of the legislation said it could save Americans millions of dollars in lower interest costs by encouraging price competition.

The measure requires two key disclosures by stores that extend consumer credit and financial institutions that make consumer loans:

—The annual interest rate figured on the declining balance of the obligation.

—The total cost of the credit in dollars and cents over its full life.

These disclosures will have to be made in advertising by the stores and lending institutions and in the contract signed by the customer.

The bill exempts from the interest rate requirement purchases of $75 or less so long as the credit charge does not exceed $5 and larger purchases where the charge is not more than $7.50. The total cost of borrowing will not have to be listed for first mortgages used to buy homes.

Administrator At Columbia Is Rejected

NEW YORK (AP) — Militant student protesters have rejected Columbia University's appointment of a fulltime administrator for student affairs, calling it "the equivalent of establishing a company union."

Stuart Gedell, a spokesman for the student Strike Coordinating Committee which has led the protests since April 23, rejected the appointment of Assistant Dean Irving DeKoff soon after it was announced Tuesday.

Gedell said the militant demonstrators would not be satisfied with anything short of "student power over decisions affecting students and joint studenty-faculty power over academic affairs."

On Saturday, DeKoff, 44, will assume the post of director of student interests, according to the university's announcement, serving as a kind of ombudsman for students.

Dr. Grayson Kirk, university president, said DeKoff "will have university-wide responsibilities to facilitate a fruitful exchange of views among students groups and all segments of the university administration.

For several years Columbia has had a director of student interests who also held other administrative responsibilities. The appointment of a fulltime director was recommended in a report to Kirk last August.

Columbia said DeKoff will advise the administration on "all issues regarding the interests of students and on the appropriateness and method of obtaining student consultation and participation" in university affairs.

Gedell said in his reply from the strike committee that "students must be represented, not on a consultative basis, but as policy makers."

The Columbia demonstrations began in protest over the university's planned construction of a gymnasium in Morningside Park and its ties to the Institute for Defense Analyses.

Later the focus was shifted to demands for restructuring the university so that students and faculty would have a greater voice in the policy-making process.

Corps Makes Debut

Kingston's newly organized Young Marine Corps will participate in the Memorial Day parade Thursday, making their first public appearance, according to Commander Gilbert E. Gray. Last year a contingent of Young Marines took part in the parade here, coming to the city from upstate.

Radar Nabs 18

The Boulevard was a bad spot for motorists to exceed the city's 30-mile speed limit Tuesday afternoon. Patrolmen Kenneth Radel and Edward Coughlin were on radar assignment on that highway and recorded 18 speeders, who were summoned to appear before City Judge Hubert A. Richter.

11 Are Injured In Pre-Holiday Accidents

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.

Pre-holiday traffic accidents investigated by area state police resulted in injuries to 11 persons and the arrest of three motorists for vehicle and traffic violations. A spectacular truck mishap occurred on the Thruway and the driver narrowly escaped death when the vehicle toppled down a steep incline.

Four members of a Saugerties family were injured when their car went out of cotrol on Route 9W at the intersection of Route 199 in the Town of Ulster. A two-car collision on Lucas Avenue Extension injured four persons and a Loudonville motorist suffered injuries in a mishap on Rout 209 involving a truck.

A 31-year-old New Jersey truck driver was seriously injured shortly before 2 p. m. Tuesday when the tractor-trailer he was driving went out of control after a tire blew on the Thruway about 10 miles south of Kingston and plunged down a steep embankment.

State Police Sergeant H. H. Ganss of Troop T said the truck driver, Donald Patchunka, 31, of Belleville, suffered compound fractures of the legs, multiple lacerations and contusion and other injuries. He was rushed to Kingston Hospital by Doctors Ambulance after first aid was administered at the scene of the spectacular mishap.

Ejected From Cab

The trailer loaded with a cargo of plastic material was being hauled north by the tractor when the right front tire blew out, causing the driver to lose control. Sergeant Ganss estimate the damage would run between $25,000 and $30,000. It was reported that Patchunka was ejected from the cab of the tractor as it toppled down an embankment estimated between 40 and 50 feet before coming to rest.

Tow trucks were dispatched to the scene but were unable to remove the vehicle. Troopers said tow trucks and a large crane were to be usd today in recovery efforts. Preliminary investigation of the accident was conducted by Trooper Jerry Pine of the Thruway detail.

Shortly before 5:45 p. m. Tuesday, Frederick Smith Jr., 49, of R.D. 3, Box 350, North Drive, Saugerties, was driving north on Route 9W at the intersection of Route 199 when his car was forced off the highway by an unidentified vehicle. Smith's automobile went off the left shoulder, spun around and hit guard rails.

Smith and his wife, Pearl, 37, were admitted to Kingston Hospital after treatment. Mrs. Smith sustained bruises of the legs and shoulder and chest injuries. Smith's injuries were not immediately determined. Michale Smith, 10, was treated for a bump on the head and his brother, Douglas, 12, received bruises of the ankle. They were all taken to the hospital by Doctors Ambulance.

Trooper R. O. Rieseberg of Kingston State Police investigated.

Lucas Ave. Mishap

Car operated by S. G. Giovanniello, 21, of 33 North Main Street, Ellenville, and Joseph Decker, 24, of 289 Washington Avenue, Kingston, were involved in a mishap on Lucas Avenue Extension at Cottekill Road shortly before 5:30 p. m. yesterday. Giovanniello was driving north and the Decker car entered Lucas Avenue Extension from Cottekil Road and hit the right side of the other vehicle, troopers said.

Decker was cited by Trooper Richard Dempsey for passing a stop sign. Giovanniello was taken to Kingston Hospital and treated for back and leg injuries. Passengers in his car were identified as Evelyn Skeen, 40, who received a cracked fracture of the right clavicle; Mabel Skeen, 38, neck and shoulder injuries, and Linda Skeen, 16, abrasions of the right leg. The Skeens reside in Napanoch.

James Allio, 41, of 446 Loudonville Road, Loudonville, was injured at 6:30 p. m. when his car was in collision with a tractor-trailer operaed by Kenneth Hughes, 37, of Benton, Pa. The mishap ocured on Route 209 about six miles south of Route 28, according to a report of Trooper Dempsey.

Hughes was driving the truck owned by H.L.H. Products of Bloomburg, Pa., south and attempted to pass an unidentified vehicle which would not let him pass, troopers said, and Allio was traveling north when his car came in contact with the left rear wheel of the truck causing him to lose control and crash into guard rails on the east shoulder.

Allio was taken to Kingston Hospital and treated for chest and back injuries.

Paul Dragan, 30, of Route 5, Box 36, Saugerties, was injured at 9:45 p. m. when his motorcycle was in collision with a car driven by Dasie Sanderl, 35, of Lake Katrine, who was cited by Trooper Craig Bremer for failure to yield the right of way. The summons is returnable before Ulster Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly.

Dragan was cited for being an unlicensed operator. He was treated at Kingston Hospital for injuries of the right foot.

According to troopers, the Sanderl car came out of a driveway onto Route 9W near Leggs Mills Road and was in collision with the southbound motorcycle operated by the Saugerties man.

Olive Tops Last Year's Cancer Drive

Mrs. Zenia Davis of Olivebridge, chairman of the Town of Olive Cancer Crusade, reported that a total of $863.15 has been collected by volunteers in the neighbor-to-neighbor campaign of the American Cancer Society, surpassing last year's amount.

Mrs. Davis expressed appreciation and thanks to all who worked on the drive, as well as those who contributed financially. She said that if anyone had not yet made their contribution, they may do so by mailing it directly to the ACS headquarters at 400 Broadway, Kingston.

Funds raised in the annual Cancer Crusade are used for research, education and service, to the cancer patient.

Mrs. Davis listed the workers as follows:

Julia Logan, Samsonville; Leona Burgher, Krumville; Mrs. Jacobsen, Brown Station; the Mmes Belle Wood, Norma Barringer, Carol Roberts, Jarnes Wilson, and Freda John, all of West Shokan; Mrs. Grace Wolff and Mrs. Catherine Scherrer of Boiceville; Lynn Swenson, Mrs. Donald Latoff, Mrs. Krous, Mrs. Ray Gallagher, Mrs. Elsie Davis, Paul Beesimer, Beatrice Snyder and Leona Werner, all of Olive Bridge.

Also, the Mmes. Merrihew, A. Gribbins, James Thomas, Mary Every, G. Mabee, H. Chapman, G. Reffelt, Lee Denman, and Dorothy Denman, all of Shokan.

President Signs Protection Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signs into law today the Truth in Lending Act—a major consumer-protection bill requiring more precise disclosure of the interest cost on $100 billion worth of annual loans and purchases.

The bill, sent to the President a week ago after eight years of battling in Congress, also protects workers in debt against full attachment of their wages and hits at loan sharks.

Sponsors of the legislation said it could save Americans millions of dollars in lower interest costs by encouraging price competition.

The measure requires two key disclosures by stores that extend consumer credit and financial institutions that make consumer loans:

—The annual interest rate figured on the declining balance of the obligation.

—The total cost of the credit in dollars and cents over its full life.

These disclosures will have to be made in advertising by the stores and lending institutions and in the contract signed by the customer.

The bill exempts from the interest rate requirement purchases of $75 or less so long as the credit charge does not exceed $5 and larger purchases where the charge is not more than $7.50. The total cost of borrowing will not have to be listed for first mortgages used to buy homes.

Administrator At Columbia Is Rejected

NEW YORK (AP) — Militant student protesters have rejected Columbia University's appointment of a fulltime administrator for student affairs, calling it "the equivalent of establishing a company union."

Stuart Gedell, a spokesman for the student Strike Coordinating Committee which has led the protests since April 23, rejected the appointment of Assistant Dean Irving DeKoff soon after it was announced Tuesday.

Gedell said the militant demonstrators would not be satisfied with anything short of "student power over decisions affecting students and joint studenty-faculty power over academic affairs."

On Saturday, DeKoff, 44, will assume the post of director of student interests, according to the university's announcement, serving as a kind of ombudsman for students.

Dr. Grayson Kirk, university president, said DeKoff "will have university-wide responsibilities to facilitate a fruitful exchange of views among students groups and all segments of the university administration.

For several years Columbia has had a director of student interests who also held other administrative responsibilities. The appointment of a fulltime director was recommended in a report to Kirk last August.

Columbia said DeKoff will advise the administration on "all issues regarding the interests of students and on the appropriateness and method of obtaining student consultation and participation" in university affairs.

Gedell said in his reply from the strike committee that "students must be represented, not on a consultative basis, but as policy makers."

The Columbia demonstrations began in protest over the university's planned construction of a gymnasium in Morningside Park and its ties to the Institute for Defense Analyses.

Later the focus was shifted to demands for restructuring the university so that students and faculty would have a greater voice in the policy-making process.

Statement Due Next Week on Perrine Fate

Announcement on the fate of Perrine's Bridge will be forthcoming early next week, according to William G. Tyrrell, chief of historic site management for the New York State Historic Trust.

The state department met Tuesday in Albany to consider funding for preservation of the covered bridge over the Wallkill River at Rifton.

The span has been the object of preservation efforts for the decade and is in a severe state of disrepair at the present time.

Doctor Wins Bronze Star in Viet

Captain David M. Cohen of 15 Janet Street, was awarded the Bronze Star, the nation's fourth highest award, while serving at the U.S. Army Field Hospital in Saigon. Capt. Cohen, who has since returned home, is shown on the right in the accompanying photograph.

He was commanding officer of the Renal Unit in Saigon, the only one in Southeast Asia for the treatment of kidney failure in critically wounded soldiers.

He will spend the summer with his wife, the former Angela Weiss, and their son, Paul, before beginning a practice in internal medicine in the fall.

Bielinski in School

Lt. Charles (Randy) Bielinsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bielinski of 4 Park Circle, Mt. Marion, is undergoing flight training at Fort Stewart, Ga. He is expected to graduate as a helicopter pilot July 30. He will continue his studies at the University of California at Los Angeles after a leave at home. Lt. Bielinski resides in Georgia with his wife, the former Cheryl Kellogg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kellogg of Saugerties.

In the SERVICE

ROBERT WADE JR.—son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Wade Sr. of 17 Livingston Street, Saugerties, is now serving in Vietnam with the Army Engineers. Wade, 20, is a 1967 graduate of Saugerties High School. He joined the Army in November of last year, took basic at Fort Dix, N. J. and engineer training at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo.

VanKleeck in Viet

Marine Private First Class Michael J. VanKleeck, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. VanKleeck of 120 South Manor Avenue, and husband of the former Miss Lynn M. Tynan of 16 Birchwood Drive, Saugerties, is serving with Headquarters Battalion of the First Marine Division in Vietnam.

As a member of the Battalion he helps exercise control of and provide administrative support to units of the division. He helps provide communication facilities and religious and security services to the Division.

Promoted

Sgt. Gary Ballou, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ballou Jr. of 202 West Chestnut Street, was recently promoted to his present rank while serving with the Army in Vietnam. Sgt. Ballou joined the Army in February of 1967 and took his basic training at Fort Gordon, Ga. A 1965 graduate of Kingston High School, he also attended Ulster County Community College before enlisting.

Decorate Levine At Colorado Base

Air Force Captain Norman R. Levine, son of Mrs. Pearl Levine of 6331 S.W. 18th Street, Miami, Fla., has been decorated with the Bronze Star Medal at Ent AFB, Colo. His wife, Allyn, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lenny Levine of 55 Church Street, Ellenville.

Captain Levine, a supply officer, was decorated for meritorious service while engaged in military operations against Viet Cong forces. He is a member of the Aerospace Defense Command.

The captain, a graduate of Southwest High School, received a BBA degree from the University of Miami, where he was commissioned in 1964 upon completion of the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program.

Van Aken Cited

Airman First Class Richard L. Van Aken, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Van Aken of Route 208, New Paltz, is a member of a unit that has earned the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award. Airman Van Aken, a construction equipment repairman in the 835th Combat Support Group at McConnell AFB, Kan., will wear the distinctive service ribbon to mark his affiliation with the unit. The unit was cited for meritorious achievement from September 1965 through February 1967. During this period the 835th was responsible for the logistical and administrative support of an entire tactical fighter wing which was being deployed to an overseas station. The airman is a graduate of New Paltz Central High School.

Cole Home on Leave

Marine Corps Lance Corporal Raymond Cole, husband of Carol A. Cole of 5 Spruce Street, is presently home on a leave after completing a year of duty with the Marines in South Vietnam. On completion of his leave he will report to Camp Lejeune, N. C. and will reside with his wife in on-base housing. Prior to enlistment Cole attended Kingston High School.

Paltz Prof Talks On Student Protest

Dr. Kenneth T. Skelton, professor of sociology at State University College, New Paltz, last week was guest speaker at a Convocation of Norwalk, Conn., Community College. His subject was The Sociological Roots of Protest: Model 1960's.

In his address, Dr. Skelton related present varieties of protest to historical origins. He said the sociological element of anarchy common to urban riots, students movements, LSD cults, and hippie happenings had its historical model in the last decade of the 19th century in France. During that period ideas and concepts advanced by poets, philosophers, psychologists, and historians foreshadowed today's events.

The New Paltz professor teaches social theory and stratification and world social thought. He received his doctorate in his specialty from The Graduate Faculty of the New School for Social Research, studying with a European exile faculty, concentrating on German, French, and Italian social thought.

30 Columbia Seniors Facing A Choice

NEW YORK (UPI)—About 30 Columbia University seniors who took part in last month's campus disorders are faced with a choice of probation or suspension.

At an informal meeting with Dean Alexander B. Platt Monday, the students were told that if they appeared for disciplinary hearings the most severe punishment they would receive would be disciplinary probation.

He said anyone on probation would still be eligible to receive a diploma June 4.

Should they fail to appear, however, they will automatically be suspended and will not receive their diplomas until June 1969, he said.

The seniors who met with Platt were among 33 who had rejected an order to meet with university officials last week.

Rather than suspend the students the university withdrew the order and scheduled the informal meeting which lasted about 45 minutes.

Platt also indicated that the university was softening its position in regard to the students arrested in the most recent campus sit - in and riot last week.

The students occupying Hamilton Hall had been told to leave or face automatic suspension.

Rochester GOP To Hear Savago

The June meeting of the Rochester Republican Club will be held at the Alligerville Firehouse 8 p. m. June 4.

Guest speaker will be Peter J. Savago, candiate for the Republican nomination for assemblyman. He is chairman of the Ulster County Legislature.

CHURCH LEADERS—Newly elected officers of the Saugerties Area Council of Churches assume office at installation dinner ceremonies Monday night in the Flatbush Reformed Church. The Rev. Orville Jay Hine, (L), pastor of Saugerties Reformed Church is incoming president; the Rev. Alfred Liberatore, Malden-Quarryville Methodist pastor, outgoing president; Robert F. Myer, Blue Mountain Reformed Church layman, secretary; the Rev. Robert A. Hess, host pastor, first vice president and R. Earle Haley, First Congregational Church layman, treasurer. Guest speaker was Mello Pesce, director of the junior high project for Ulster County. He is conducting a special study of 30 seventh and eighth grade students who are judged slow learners, emotionally disturbed or economically disadvantaged. The federally funded study is conducted in cooperation with the Board of Cooperative Educational Services and is considered one of the most extensive ever undertaken in this field. Gaynor in Ellenville:

Urban Plan for All State

ELLENVILLE, N.Y. (UPI)—State Housing Commissioner James W. Gaynor said Monday the newly formed urban development program would benefit the state as a whole and not just New York City.

Speaking at the annual spring conference of the State Association of Urban Renewal Officials, Gaynor said:

"The corporation was never intended solely for New York City and our belief is that, just as the state has contributed more to urban renewal upstate than in New York City, the corporation may be able to do more for upstate municipalities than for New York City."

The commissioner sought to dispel other "myths" about the state program.

He called false claims that the corporation would become a substitute for the present federal - state - local urban renewal programs; that the program would be able to "bail out" any renewal area which was unable to get a redeveloper and that the corporation's undertakings would involve no local financing.

Gaynor said the corporation was a public benefit organization which would develop hard core ghetto properties for low rent and middle income housing projects, as well as industrial and commercial facilities.

He said the corporation then would seek out private parties who were unwilling to develop the properties because of the problems surrounding government - aided projects, but were willing to buy the already developed projects.

CFMA Earns Honor Rating

An honor unit rating has been awarded to the Junior ROTC Unit at Cardinal Farley Military Academy by the First United States Army.

Announcement of the honor was made by Major General John C. F. Tillson III, deputy commanding general at Fort Meade, Maryland.

The award is given to those units which have attained an exceptionally high degree of proficiency in military training and discipline.

Gen. Tillson said the achievement reflects great credit not only on the cadet corps but also the school faculty, the administrators and members of the ROTC instructor group.

As a result of the award the academy will be eligible to select honor graduates for appointment to each of the three military academies: the U.S. Air Force Academy, the U.S. Naval Academy and the U.S. Military Academy.

The Rev. Brother Paul K. Hennessy is principal of the academy and C/Lt. William M. Kelly is plans and training officer.

Thruway Heeds Thayer, Erects Seatbelt Signs

A suggestion by Radio Station WGHQ President Harry M. Thayer to further safety on the New York State Thruway has been adopted by the Thruway Authority.

Thayer suggested that signs be erected at all toll booths advising drivers to fasten their seat belts. Recently, Thayer received a letter from F. William Davidson, dirctor of information for the authority, which notified Thayer that signs would be placed at all entrance areas of the Thruway and at exits of service areas and rest areas.

Thayer reportedly wrote the state authority after seeing similar signs on the New Jersey and Pennsylvania Turnpikes.

HS Orientation Set at Onteora

A series of orientation meetings for students entering seventh grade at the high school in Boiceville will be held June 3, 4 and 5.

The program for sixth grade students from the Bennett and Phoenicia Elementary Schools will be held Monday, June 3; West Hurley School, Tuesday, June 4 and the Woodstock School, Wednesday, June 5. Students will be addressed by Carl Brown, principal; William Yeaple, guidance director and other members of the secondary staff.

The purpose of this program is to aquaint the students with the layout of the high school building and to introduce them to some aspects of the program in which they will be involved for the coming year. Each student will be a seventh grade student who is presently following a school program similar to the one they will follow in the coming year.

Brown is planning a meeting with the parents of the new seventh grade. Tentatively the plan is to meet sometime during the last two weeks in August. Details about the meeting will be announced.

Honor War Dead

Parades, Ceremonies for Memorial Day Planned in Area

By WALTER S. CLARK JR.

Colorful parades and fitting ceremonies are planned for Memorial Day in Kingston and many communities in the mid-Hudson Valley as Thursday is observed as a legal holiday in commemoration of the war dead.

Thousands of marchers representing veterans organizations and others will step off at specified times for the annual parades that are expected to attract huge crowds of spectators.

Pre-parade ceremonies will begin at 2 p. m. at Academy Green in uptown Kingston opposite the Governor Clinton Hotel. The line of march will move immediately after the holiday program, will be on Albany Avenue to Broadway, down Broadway to Delaware Avenue, left into Delaware where recovery will be accomplished upon reaching Hasbrouck Avenue.

John F. Weigert Jr., winner of the Silver Star in Vietnam, will be the grand marshal for the 7-division Kingston parade. The Kingston Veteran's Association is the sponsoring organization for the city's event with Sidney Lane as chairman. Everett Emmick of American Legion Post 150 of Kingston is parade chairman.

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan will be the speaker at the pre-parade ceremonies. He will be introduced by Dan H. Allen, principal of Kingston High School. Thomas Hughes of Joyce-Schirick VFW Post 1386 is the director of the color guard. Post 1386 also will provide the firing squad.

Charles W. Green will present the Michael Santoroski Memorial Scholarship Award, and wreaths will be presented by Sidney Lane.

Music will be presented by AFM Local 215, Kingston Marching Band, at the pre-parade ceremonies. They will play America, the Beautiful.

Myron Rossi and Frank Ferraro from the AFM Band will play taps. The Rev. John G. Russell, pastor of the Holy Name Church and chaplain of Post 150, American Legion, will offer the opening prayer. Benediction will be given by the Rev. William A. Studwell, pastor of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church.

The new local law regulating business activities on Memorial Day will stand its first test tomorrow. Penalties for violation will not exceed $1,000 and may also include imprisonment.

Residents throughout the area are urged by leaders of veterans organizations and city officials to display the American flag, and merchants have been asked to place the flag in proper places along the sidewalk.

Matthews to Speak

S. James Matthews, Kingston attorney and former Constitutional Convention delegate, will be guest speaker at Port Ewen ceremonies. Milton G. Tsitsera will be the grand marshal for the Port Ewen American Legion Post 1298's 23rd annual Memorial Day parade, which will form at 9:30 a.m. in the Grand Union Parking lot off Route 9W.

The marchers will step off at 10 a.m. and move down Broadway to the Port Ewen Riverview Cemetery. Participating clergy include Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport of Congregation Agudas Achim, the Rev. Cecil McFarland, post chaplain and pastor of the Port Ewen Methodist Church, and Bishop James E. McManus, pastor of the Church of the Presentation and Episcopal vicar of Ulster and Sullivan Counties.

Frederick Morgan and Howard Galbreath are co-chairmen of the parade committee. The Pacers Drum and Bugle Corps of Poughkeepsie and Port Ewen school children who have formed a 100-piece band, will provide the music. The reviewing stand will be at the Port Ewen firehouse. Guests will include Supervisor George Freer of the Town of Esopus and Legislators Roger Mabie, Stirling Potter and Irving Maurer.

Hurley residents will attend an outstanding program, to be featured by the guest speaker, Sidney Friar, grand senior warden of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar. The annual Memorial Day services and parade sponsored by Hurley Grange will get under way at 11 a.m. at the historic Hurley Cemetery off Main Street. The parade will form at Hurley School at 10:15 a.m. The opening prayer will be offered by Mrs. Walter Pilz, chaplain of Hurley Grange. A recitation of The Flag will be presented by Arthur Jansen, past commander of Rondout Commandery. The pledge of allegiance will precede selections by the Hurley School Band, Joseph A. LaRusso, director.

IN PARADE—Officers of Kingston Indians Drum and Bugle Corps model new uniforms members will be wearing in Kingston's annual Memorial Day parade Thursday. The Corps' little brothers, the Troop 12 BSA Indians also will march.

Placing of flowers will be by Mrs. Claude Palen, past juvenile deputy. Salute to the graves by the American Legion Post 150 of Kingston will be followed by taps by Paul Stauble and Jeff Whitaker.

The guest speaker, Sidney Friar, is a lieutenant colonel, U.S. Army Reserve. Benediction will be given by the Rev. Harold Schadewald. Mrs. Walter Stauble is chairman of the committee for the Hurley observance.

Marbletown Parade

The Memorial Day parade sponsored by the Marbletown Post 1512 will line up at 9 a.m. tomorrow at the intersection of Route 209 and Cottekill Road. The marchers will step off at 9:30 a.m. and proceed up Route 209 to the Town Hall and return to the Legion Hall.

Ross K. Osterhoudt, well known Marbletown community leader, will be the guest speaker. All veterans are invited to participate in the parade and the annual service.

The Town of Olive Memorial Day parade will start at 10:30 a.m. in West Shokan. Organizations planning to march will assemble at 10 a.m. at the Davis General Store, Route 28A, West Shokan, and proceed to the town monument on Peekamoose Road for memorial services. The Onteora Junior High School marching band will provide music for the parade, which is sponsored by Olive Memorial Post 1627, American Legion, which also has arranged the service.

The "50" Club will sponsor the first Memorial Day service in more than 25 years tomorrow at the Cornell Park tablet, a bluestone monument constructed by residents of the old 7th Ward. Each Memorial Day a group from the club provides flowers and the necessary maintenance to make the tablet a fitting memorial for the men who have made the supreme sacrifice.

All "50" Club members are asked to report at 11 a.m. Thursday at the club rooms. Thomas F. Coughlin, who served as chairman of the original committee which erected the tablet, and Frank C. Sass are co-chairmen of the committee for the observance. A march from the club rooms at 97 Abeel Street to Cornell Park is planned.

The service at Cornell Park will be brief and will include the pledge of allegiance by a group of children, the recitation of the Gettysburg address by Pat Vedder and remarks by Alderman Edward Norton and Tibor Tomshaw, president of the sponsoring club.

A member of the clergy will offer prayer and Richard Scherer and Betty Sass will sing the Star-Spangled Banner. Other committee members are James Longendyke, Ralph Donnelly and George White. The public is invited to participate in the march and attend the fitting exercises.

Highland Route

John Rizzo, chairman for the Highland Memorial Day parade has announced the parade will not use Route 9W due to construction. The marchers will proceed over Van Wagner Road and Milton Avenue to Highland Cemetery instead of using Tillson Avenue and Route 9W. A memorial service is planned for 8:30 a.m. at St. Augustine's Church.

Memorial Day ceremonies for members of the Saugerties Memorial Post 5034, VFW and its ladies auxiliary will begin with attendance of the Gold Star Mother's Mass offered at 8 a.m. in St. Joseph's Church, Glasco, followed by the wreath laying rites at their monument on Livingston Street and at the American Legion monument on John Street.

Uniformed members will then join with the Legion at its annual parade ending with a wreath laying at the Main Street School. At the conclusion of the Memorial Day address, the VFW will proceed to Malden-on-Hudson to lay a wreath at the Maine monument honoring deceased veterans of the Spanish-American War.

Commander Max Benson and Mrs. Janice Dengler, president of the ladies auxiliary, urge full participation by all members in the day's ceremonies and parade.

IRS Schedule

All Internal Revenue Service offices will be closed on Memorial Day, Thursday, May 30, Donald T. Hartley, Albany District Director of Internal Revenue which services Northeastern New York State, said today, as it is a legal holiday for all U. S. Government offices.

'LISTENS TO NEW HEART': Britain's first heart transplant patient Frederick West, 45, listens to his new heart in his special suite at the National Heart hospital in London. (UPI CABLEPHOTO DIRECT FROM LONDON).

Planned by Ulster Academy

Environmental Learning in Region

Ulster Academy's Headmaster Raymond A. Nelson discussed today the planning stages of what he described as "environmental learning exercises" for the Humanities Curriculum that Kingston's new Academy will offer. He quoted Professor Marshal MacLuhan, "the classroom is not where the action is."

Too often, Nelson said, both teachers and students regard the classroom and its activities as ends in themselves. The classroom and the subject matter don't have any direct relationship with the outside world, the world of affairs, the world of real people and real problems. When this happens, the goal of the classroom activity is simply "getting good grades" on the part of the student and "covering the material" on the part of the teacher, regardless of whether the student really understands at all what a particular subject has to do with the outside world or with himself as a growing person. "On the contrary," Nelson said, "a lively education should continually introduce, enter and probe the real environment, so that learning and life are kept in touch with each other and influence each other.

In many cases, this means getting out of the classroom into the environment; in others, it means introducing models or episodes of the environment into class analysis, the so-called "case study method" used extensively in problem solving at graduate schools and in business. For example, how many generations of middle-class children have read Dickens without any personal contact with an urban ghetto? You can't take students to London, but other models are right at hand. How many hear about ancient Rome's marvelous road systems but don't ever get taken out to a heavy-flow intersection with a traffic engineer to study transit patterns and their effect on community development. Students read about immigration and Americanization in history, but rarely make personal contact with ethnically diverse and interesting people who could "tell it like it is." We want a multi-media but also a multi-personal approach to learning.

What better exercise in linguistics and communication, for example, than equip small groups of students with portable tape recorders to take a "talking tour" of neighborhoods, comparing and analyzing in the classroom what they find in the street. What more fascinating model for the study of historical and social change than the Rondout area from colonial times to the present.

In order to plan opportunities of this kind, Nelson has had a series of what he calls "preliminary planning conversations" with representatives of the community, most recently with Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, Human Relations Director Irving Bell and Community Action Director Stanley Leyden. Earlier conversations with David Loecks, executive director of Patterns for Progress, explored the concept of "environmental studies" as a way of bringing together many different learning areas — the physical sciences, social and managerial and humane sciences focusing on common problems.

The faculty of the Academy, Nelson said, will be encouraged to design and carry out "environmental learning exercises" of many different sorts utilizing the resources of the region, its people, its natural features and its history — to keep learning and living bound together.

Priest Refuses Army Induction Faces Charges

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Rev. David W. Connor, 31, a Roman Catholic chaplain at Cornell University, refused to be inducted into the Army at the induction center here Tuesday.

Connor said he had originally been given a clergyman's draft rating of 4D. This was changed to 1A after he turned in his draft card following an anti-war march in Ithaca last fall, he said.

Supported by about 150 anti-war demonstrators, the priest showed up five hours after 30 other draftees. Once inside the center, he refused to take physical and mental tests, laid his induction papers on a desk and walked out.

He said about 80 or 90 of the demonstrators were Cornell students and faculty members.

"As far as we are concerned, Father Connor failed to report for induction," Lt. Dennis W. Johnson, an induction center spokesman, said.

Johnson said Connor's draft board in Geneseo would be notified of the priest's action. A board spokesman said they would turn the case over to the U.S. Attorney's office.

At a meeting in Plymouth Methodist Church, Connor told the group his refusal to enter service was the action of a "man who loves his country and the principles it stands for."

He is the second Cornell chaplain who has refused to enter military service. The other is the Rev. Paul Gibbons, 34, a United Ministry clergyman.

County Pageant Orientation Due

Arrangements for an orientation session within the next few weeks for prospective Miss Ulster County Pageant contestants in the New Paltz area were announced this week by Jeffrey A. Buchle, entries committee chairman.

The time and place will be announced as soon as sufficient applications have been received. This year's pageant will be held Sept. 14 at Saugerties High School auditorium to find a successor to Janis C. Johnson of West Hurley, current titleholder.

The winner will share in $1,000 worth of scholarships and other valuable gifts, and qualifies to compete in the Miss New York State Pageant in July 1969. The local contest is a preliminary to the Miss America Pageant held in Atlantic City, N. J.

To be eligible an entrant must reside or attend school in Ulster County and must be between 18 and 27 by the date of the State Pageant in July of that year. She must be a high school graduate by the same date and never have been married.

Applications forms are available wherever the Miss Ulster County Pageant poster is displayed in Kingston and the various towns and villages of the county.

Stone Ridge Library Fair Set June 29

The Stone Ridge Library Fair, to be held this year on Saturday, June 29, will once again feature a sale of books, from classics to today's best sellers.

Dr. Othman Abu-Gheida, book chairman, reports that because of the unusually large number of books sold last year, he would appreciate book donors contacting him as soon as possible so that books can be picked up, marked, and sorted before the fair.

Donors may contact the Stone Ridge Library, Dr. Abu-Gheida, or Robert S. Diamond if they wish to have books picked up. The committee welcomes all books, including paperbacks, as well as records, tapes, or maps that anyone wishes to donate.

New Area Chamber Leaders Named

DR. JEREMIAH SACHS

DEAN M. KINTNER

Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce officers for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1968, were elected at a recent meeting of that organization's board of directors.

Dr. Jeremiah Sachs, Kingston dentist, was elected president. Dean M. Kintner of IBM and V. James Andretta Jr., vice-president of Colony Liquor Distributors, were reelected to positions as vice-presidents, while Francis C. Skelly of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation has been newly elected to the position of vice-president. William E. Belser of the firm, Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company was elected to his second term as treasurer.

Elected directors for a three year term by vote of the membership were: Frank H. Delaney, general manager of IBM Corp.; Dr. C. J. Goffredi, Kingston dentist; Frank H. Kelts, State of New York National Bank; David W. Mountford, manager, Montgomery Ward and Company; Harold W. O'Connor, partner, O'Connor & Fox real estate; Richard D. Rochford manager, King-Chrysler Corp., and Francis C. Skelly, industrial and commercial sales supervisor, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company.

Dr. Sachs is a graduate of New York University College of Dentistry and maintains practices in Kingston and in the Village of New Paltz. He is a past president and director of Temple Emanuel and a member of the Kingston Lions Club. He is chairman of the Dental Societies Flouridation Committee for the City of Kingston and a member of the board of directors of the Ulster County Chapter of the Heart Association. He is also a past president of the Third District New York State Dental Society. He resides with his wife Renne and their two children, on Valentine Court.

Kintner was elected to the Chamber's board of directors in April, 1967, at which time he was also elected a vice-president. Kintner, who is manufacturing manager of IBM, Kingston, has been with that firm since graduating from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy in 1943 with a BS in mechanical engineering. He is a member of the Benedictine Hospital Advisory Board and the Ulster County Girl Scouts Camp Development Committee. Married and the father of two children, he resides in West Hurley.

Andretta, who was elected to the board of directors in April, 1967, was appointed to the vice-presidency in August of that year. A graduate of Princeton University, Andretta has been active in a number of local civic affairs and currently serves on the board of directors of the Rip Van Winkle Council Boy Scouts of America. He resides with his family on Pearl Street in Kingston.

Skelly, a native of Beacon, is a 19533 graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute with a BS in electrical engineering. Skelly has been employed by Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. and the Ellenville Electric Corp. since 1955. He is presently industrial and commercial sales supervisor for the Upper Hudson Division of that company. He resides with his wife and seven children in Catskill and serves as a member of the Village of Catskill Planning Board and Charter Revision Committee. He is also a director of the Boys Club of Catskill and secretary-treasurer of the Greene County Board of Electrical Engineers.

Belser, a native of Plainfield, N.J., was a 1946 graduate of Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pa. Belser was elected to the Chamber's board of directors in April 1967 and was elected the organization's treasurer in May of that year. He is a past officer and director of the Mid-Hudson Chapter of the National Association of Accountants, a past director of the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants, Mid-Hudson Chapter, and currently serves on the executive board of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America. Belser, his wife Joan, and their five children reside in Kingston.

14 Carry-Overs

The new officers and directors will join 14 current directors when they take office July 1, 1968. The carry-over directors include Paul F. Coon, August Foerschler, Mrs. Alan L. Hanstein, Clifford A. Henze and S. James Matthews, current president. Also Anthony Pizzarelli, Frank H. Reis, Bevier H. Sleight, Roy Stoothoff and Richard L. Treat.

Federal Board Launches Probe On Stock Costs

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission has launched a full-scale inquiry into the cost of buying and selling stocks and suggested an interim cut in charges by the New York Stock Exchange by Sept. 15.

Although aimed primarily at reducing charges paid by mutual funds which buy and sell thousands of shares of stock at a time, the SEC's drive to reduce costs also could save money for the small buyer.

An interim schedule the agency suggested to the New York Stock Exchange would cut costs on purchases of as little as 100 shares. As an option, the NYSE could choose to permit discounts on purchases and sales exceeding $50,000.

There was no immediate reaction from NYSE officials and SEC spokesmen said they had no idea which option—if either—the exchange would choose.

Under existing law, the SEC could order its interim schedule into effect if the exchange balked. But the exchange could appeal any such order to the federal courts.

The SEC scheduled a hearing beginning July 1 on its inquiry of commissions that brokers collect on stock transactions. The NYSE fixes minimum commissions.

One purpose of the hearing, the SEC said, will be to decide whether a minimum commission structure is needed. The Justice Department has challenged the system which permits the exchanges to fix minimum charges.

Also to be considered is the question of fee-splitting among broker-dealer firms.

The SEC opposes fee-splitting and contends any savings in large volume purchases of stocks by mutual funds should be passed on to investors. Some brokers are willing to transact business for a mutual fund for as little as 30 to 40 per cent of the minimum fee, the SEC has said.

The 13 selectees chosen by faculty members of their respective schoolse will be honored guests at the 22nd annual testimonial reception and dinner Thursday, June 20 at 7 p.m., at The Hedges, Route 9W, West Park.

In addition to Legion officials and representatives of sponsoring Legion posts, parents, school principals and guidance directors are also invited to attend. Tickets are available from Boys State chairmen in any of the sponsoring Legion posts.

The program of the dinner will include indoctrination for the selectees and arrangements will be announced for transportation to the college.

The Boys State program teaches government in action. More than 1,000 Boys State selectees from all parts of the state will participat in the formation of ficticious municipalities. Municipal officials will be elected and delegates to a mock gubernatoral convention will be named. A highlight of the session will be the election of state officials.

The selectees will travel to Morrisville by special buses with Boy Staters from Orange, Dutchess and Putnam Counties.

Student Quits College Panel

The 10-member faculty-student commission, created to give students a more effective voice in the hiring and retaining of professors, met at the New Paltz State University College yesterday to consider a workable formula but, before the meeting was over, one of the five students on the commission resigned.

Ira Fish, a senior from Brooklyn, one of the two appointed members to the student side of the commission, quit the panel and questioned the speed of its progress.

Fish, a member of the radical Free Student Government, organized to push for students having the final word in the retaining of professors and instructors, had been appointed because of the controversy surrounding recent student government elections.

The other appointed member is Patricia Ryan, a junior from Floral Park, vice-president for academic affairs of the legally-elected Student Government Association.

Even with Fish's resignation, however, the commission agreed on several points, one of them being that an effective method of student evaluation of professors be set up. A full faculty meeting, to be held late today, will vote on that principle.

Acting president, Dr. John H. Jacobson, apparently paved the way for administration backing of the proposal when he said recently that students "are obviously in a position to judge how capable a teacher is in his classroom presentation of material."

There was no move in the case of area studies instructor Roger Knapp, who went on a hunger strike and locked himself in the administration building conference to protest the lack of student participation in administration decisions.

New Area Chamber Leaders Named

DR. JEREMIAH SACHS

DEAN M. KINTNER

Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce officers for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1968, were elected at a recent meeting of that organization's board of directors.

Dr. Jeremiah Sachs, Kingston dentist, was elected president, Dean M. Kintner of IBM and V. James Andretta Jr., vice-president of Colony Liquor Distributors, were reelected to positions as vice-presidents, while Francis C. Skelly of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation has been newly elected to the position of vice-president. William E. Belser of the firm, Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company was elected to his second term as treasurer.

Elected directors for a three year term by vote of the membership were: Frank H. Delaney, general manager of IBM Corp.; Dr. C. J. Goffredi, Kingston dentist; Frank H. Kolls, State of New York National Bank; David W. Mountford, manager, Montgomery Ward and Company; Harold W. O'Connor, partner, O'Connor & Fox real estate; Richard D. Rochford manager, King-Chrysler Corp., and Francis C. Skelly, industrial and commercial sales supervisor, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company.

Dr. Sachs is a graduate of New York University College of Dentistry and maintains practices in Kingston and in the Village of New Paltz. He is a past president and director of Temple Emanuel and a member of the Kingston Lions Club. He is chairman of the Dental Societies Flouridation Committee for the City of Kingston and a member of the board of directors of the Ulster County Chapter of the Heart Association. He is also a past president of the Third District New York State Dental Society. He resides with his wife Renne and their two children, on Valentine Court.

Kintner was elected to the Chamber's board of directors in April, 1967, at which time he was also elected a vice-president. Kintner, who is manufacturing manager of IBM, Kingston, has been with that firm since graduating from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy in 1943 with a BS in mechanical engineering. He is a member of the Benedictine Hospital Advisory Board and the Ulster County Girl Scouts Camp Development Committee. Married and the father of two children, he resides in West Hurley.

Andretta, who was elected to the board of directors in April, 1967, was appointed to the vice-presidency in August of that year. A graduate of Princeton University, Andretta has been active in a number of local civic affairs and currently serves on the board of directors of the Rip Van Winkle Council Boy Scouts of America. He resides with his family on Pearl Street in Kingston.

Skelly, a native of Beacon, is a 19533 graduate of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute with a BS in electrical engineering. Skelly has been employed by Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. and the Ellenville Electric Corp. since 1955. He is presently industrial and commercial sales supervisor for the Upper Hudson Division of that company. He resides with his wife and seven children in Catskill and serves as a member of the Village of Catskill Planning Board and Charter Revision Committee. He is also a director of the Boys Club of Catskill and secretary-treasurer of the Greene County Board of Electrical Engineers.

Belser, a native of Plainfield, N.J., was a 1946 graduate of Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pa. Belser was elected to the Chamber's board of directors in April 1967 and was elected the organization's treasurer in May of that year. He is a past officer and director of the Mid-Hudson Chapter of the National Association of Accountants, a past director of the New York State Society of Certified Public Accountants, Mid-Hudson Chapter, and currently serves on the executive board of the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America. Belser, his wife Joan, and their five children reside in Kingston.

14 Carry-Overs

Federal Board Launches Probe On Stock Costs

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission has launched a full-scale inquiry into the cost of buying and selling stocks and suggested an interim cut in charges by the New York Stock Exchange by Sept. 15.

Although aimed primarily at reducing charges paid by mutual funds which buy and sell thousands of shares of stock at a time, the SEC's drive to reduce costs also could save money for the small buyer.

An interim schedule the agency suggested to the New York Stock Exchange would cut costs on purchases of as little as 100 shares. As an option, the NYSE could choose to permit discounts on purchases and sales exceeding $50,000.

There was no immediate reaction from NYSE officials and SEC spokesmen said they had no idea which option—if either—the exchange would choose.

Under existing law, the SEC could order its interim schedule into effect if the exchange balked. But the exchange could appeal any such order to the federal courts.

The SEC scheduled a hearing beginning July 1 on its inquiry of commissions that brokers collect on stock transactions. The NYSE fixes minimum commissions.

One purpose of the hearing, the SEC said, will be to decide whether a minimum commission structure is needed. The Justice Department has challenged the system which permits the exchanges to fix minimum charges.

Also to be considered is the question of fee-splitting among broker-dealer firms.

The SEC opposes fee-splitting and contends any savings in large volume purchases of stocks by mutual funds should be passed on to investors. Some brokers are willing to transact business for a mutual fund for as little as 30 to 40 per cent of the minimum fee, the SEC has said.

Haslam-Bechtold Wedding Told

Miss Bonnie Lee Haslam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor V. Haslam of Mt. Marion, was married Sunday, May 12, at 1 p.m. to Frederick W. Bechtold Jr., son of Mrs. Dorothy McElrath, 594 Broadway, Kingston, at the Dutch Reformed Church in Mt. Marion.

The Rev. John A. Needham Jr. officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. Estella Flicker played traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white A-line floor length, lace gown, styled with a band of yellow satin around an empire waist line. Her double tier, silk illusion veil was shirred to a petal cap headpiece of satin rosebuds, edged with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and yellow pompons, accented with white stephanotis.

Mrs. John L. Brink, Lake Katrine, was matron of honor. She wore a yellow A-line floor length gown of satin, styled with an embroidered waist. Her headpiece was a yellow satin bow attached to a nylon veil, and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow carnations and lavender pompons.

Walter Dirks of Kingston was best man.

After the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The bridegroom is employed by Morania Oil Company in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Bechtold will reside at Wellington Apartments, 9-W, Kingston.

Murray Rivette Elected Coach House President

At the annual meeting of Coach House Players on Monday, May 27, Murray Rivette was elected to the presidency. Serving with him during the next year will be Harry Sommer, vice president; Thomas Rieley, treasurer; Betty Lindsay, recording secretary; and Doris Kopf, corresponding secretary.

Elected to the Board of Directors for three-year terms were June Boyle, Thomas Rieley and Mr. Rivette. Retiring board members are Mary Becker and Victor Fletcher. The appointment of Harry Sommer to serve on the board for one year was ratified. The membership heard annual reports and enjoyed a program of entertainment provided by the eighth grade girls of St. Mary's School in Saugerties. They gave a repeat performance of "The Miracle Worker."

Refreshments were served by June Boyle and Lyn DePaola.

Memorial Day Ceremony Held By Local DAR

The annual Memorial Sunday service held by Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, honoring the veterans of all the wars took place on May 26 at the Fair Street Reformed Church. The Honor Guard of Troop IV Boy Scouts of America led the Processional carrying the Flag of the United States of America and the Wiltwyck Chapter Banner, followed by the Regent Mrs. Floyd N. Ellsworth, Vice Regent Mrs. George F. Dingee and chapter members.

The Rev. Edwin C. Coon's sermon, "John Jay: Christian," portrayed this great American patriot in his true light, a lifetime of service for his country always with the assistance of his God. Statesman, jurist and first Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, President of Continental Congress, he also drew up the Constitution of the State of New York. His favorite books were the Bible and Cicero.

Mrs. Daniel Barnhart, Wiltwyck Chapter Flag Chairman, and her children Ruthann, Katherine and James placed flags on the Revolutionary War soldiers' graves in the Old Dutch Churchyard and the wreath at the grave of Governor George Clinton.

Sticky Mess

NESS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Somehow someone turned on a pump at the co-op feed mill. The machine, unattended, squirted nearly 2,000 gallons of molasses into a grain mixer pit and on the feed mill floor. An official described the cleanup as "sticky and stupendous."

MRS. GARY BEST

Miss Alice Theresa Tonge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Tonge, 999 Washington Avenue, Rensselaer, and Gary Best, son of Mrs. Thelma Best, 148 Bayard Street, Port Ewen, and the late Ernest Best, were married May 18, at St. Joseph's Church, Rensselaer. The Rev. James Halpin officiated.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white gown of venice lace with a chapel train. She wore a double tier veil and a pillbox headpiece of daisies. She carried a missal with roses, stephenotis and ivy.

The bride's attendants wore gowns of lime green crepe under royal blue chiffon. Miss Pinky VanDerhyden, Menands, was maid of honor. She carried a cascade of white daisies. Miss Jane Woodard, New York City, and Miss Maureen Fatone, Green Island, were bridesmaids. Jack Cleary and Michael Cleary, the bride's nephews, were ringbearers.

Gregg Best, Port Ewen, the bridegroom's brother was best man. Ronald Schmitz and Dennis Bart were ushers.

Glasco Gun Club Auxiliary Meets

Dr. Herbert Zaccheo was guest speaker at the May meeting of the Glasco Gun Club. He gave a lecture on "Signs of Cancer" and augmented his talk with a topical film. More than 50 members and friends attended the session. Club President Joan Isgro and Eva Carpino, chairman, introduced the speaker.

Arrangements for the meeting were completed by the chairman and her committee which consisted of Rosalyn Riccio, Terry McGroarty and Frances Resso.

Refreshments were served by Edith Kilburn, chairman, Marion Koniuk, Joan Isgro, Jenny Winters and Ruth Kime.

Club members will be getting together for their second annual Memorial Day outing at the club and the next regular meeting is scheduled for June 18. Program plans will be announced.

Glaze for Lamb

Add a little ground ginger and nutmeg to canned apricot nectar and use it to glaze shoulder of lamb, pre-carved then tied into shape by the meat dealer. At serving time, cut the string and the meat will fall into chop-like portions.

Extra Flavor

For extra flavor and spiciness, add a few drops of aromatic bitters to ginger ale, colas, limeade or orange juice.

MRS. JOHN J. LEWIS

(Bisesi Photo)

Suzanne Petrick Weds John J. Lewis

Miss Suzanne Petrick, daughter of Mrs. Alfred Petrick of 240 Garth Road, Scarsdale, N.Y., and the late Mr. Petrick, was married to John J. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Vedder of Kingston, N.Y., on Saturday, May 25, 1968. The Rev. Francis K. Wagschal performed the 4 p.m. double ring ceremony at Redeemer Lutheran Church, Scarsdale. Ronald J. Smith was soloist.

Given in marriage by her uncle, F. Gerard Kelly, the bride wore an ivory antique peau de soie gown and cathedral train appliqued with reembroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls. Her headpiece was a matching Alencon lace mantilla over a cathedral length illusion veil. She carried stephanotis and ivy with Georgianna orchids.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Paul F. (Donna) Kelly of Yonkers, N.Y., and Miss Patricia Vedder of Kingston, sister of the bridegroom, served as a bridesmaid. Attired in azelia pink organza empire gowns, their headpieces were matching Dior bows and full length pink illusion veils. They carried cascade bouquets of two shades of pink carnations.

Best man for his brother was Joseph Vedder of Kingston. Ushers were John Horvers of Kingston, Robert Vedder of Kingston and Paul F. Kelly of Yonkers.

A reception followed the ceremony at Scarsdale Inn, Scarsdale, N.Y.

Mrs. Lewis attended grade school in Yonkers and was graduated from Kingston High School. She is entering her senior year, majoring in political science, at Park College, Parkville, Mo., where she is a member of the Political Science Club and the International Relations Club. She is the granddaughter of V. O'Connor, well known veteran merchant of Yonkers, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. David Petrick of Mt. Vernon, N.Y. Mr. Petrick is a well known artist.

Mr. Lewis was educated at Kingston High School and Ulster Community College. He is on the staff of the Ulster County Savings Bank and the grandson of Mrs. T. Banks of Kingston.

Senior Citizens

The Mid-Hudson Senior Citizens, Social Club will hold its next meeting Tuesday at the First Methodist Church, Highland.

The recent luncheon in observance of Senior Citizens Month was well attended, with many members of the Kingston Golden Age Club represented. The Highland group attended a supper sponsored by the Kingston group last week.

Haslam-Bechtold Wedding Told

Miss Bonnie Lee Haslam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor V. Haslam of Mt. Marion, was married Sunday, May 12, at 1 p.m. to Frederick W. Bechtold Jr., son of Mrs. Dorothy McElrath, 594 Broadway, Kingston, at the Dutch Reformed Church in Mt. Marion.

The Rev. John A. Needham Jr. officiated at the ceremony. Mrs. Estella Flicker played traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white A-line floor length, lace gown, styled with a band of yellow satin around an empire waist line. Her double tier, silk illusion veil was shirred to a petal cap headpiece of satin rosebuds, edged with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and yellow pompons, accented with white stephanotis.

Mrs. John L. Brink, Lake Katrine, was matron of honor. She wore a yellow A-line floor length gown of satin, styled with an embroidered waist. Her headpiece was a yellow satin bow attached to a nylon veil, and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow carnations and lavender pompons.

Walter Dirks of Kingston was best man.

After the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

The bridegroom is employed by Morania Oil Company in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Bechtold will reside at Wellington Apartments, 9-W, Kingston.

Murray Rivette Elected Coach House President

At the annual meeting of Coach House Players on Monday, May 27, Murray Rivette was elected to the presidency. Serving with him during the next year will be Harry Sommer, vice president; Thomas Rieley, treasurer; Betty Lindsay, recording secretary; and Doris Kopf, corresponding secretary.

Elected to the Board of Directors for three-year terms were June Boyle, Thomas Rieley and Mr. Rivette. Retiring board members are Mary Becker and Victor Fletcher. The appointment of Harry Sommer to serve on the board for one year was ratified. The membership heard annual reports and enjoyed a program of entertainment provided by the eighth grade girls of St. Mary's School in Saugerties. They gave a repeat performance of "The Miracle Worker."

Refreshments were served by June Boyle and Lyn DePaola.

Memorial Day Ceremony Held By Local DAR

The annual Memorial Sunday service held by Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, honoring the veterans of all the wars took place on May 26 at the Fair Street Reformed Church. The Honor Guard of Troop IV Boy Scouts of America led the Processional carrying the Flag of the United States of America and the Wiltwyck Chapter Banner, followed by the Regent Mrs. Floyd N. Ellsworth, Vice Regent Mrs. George F. Dingee and chapter members.

The Rev. Edwin C. Coon's sermon, "John Jay: Christian," portrayed this great American patriot in his true light, a lifetime of service for his country always with the assistance of his God. Statesman, jurist and first Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, President of Continental Congress, he also drew up the Constitution of the State of New York. His favorite books were the Bible and Cicero.

Mrs. Daniel Barnhart, Wiltwyck Chapter Flag Chairman, and her children Ruthann, Katherine and James placed flags on the Revolutionary War soldiers' graves in the Old Dutch Churchyard and the wreath at the grave of Governor George Clinton.

Sticky Mess

NESS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Somehow someone turned on a pump at the co-op feed mill. The machine, unattended, squirted nearly 2,000 gallons of molasses into a grain mixer pit and on the feed mill floor. An official described the cleanup as "sticky and stupendous."

Tonge-Best Nuptials

Miss Alice Theresa Tonge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Tonge, 999 Washington Avenue, Rensselaer, and Gary Best, son of Mrs. Thelma Best, 148 Bayard Street, Port Ewen, and the late Ernest Best, were married May 18, at St. Joseph's Church, Rensselaer. The Rev. James Halpin officiated.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a white gown of venice lace with a chapel train. She wore a double tier veil and a pillbox headpiece of daisies. She carried a missal with roses, stephenotis and ivy.

The bride's attendants wore gowns of lime green crepe under royal blue chiffon. Miss Pinky VanDerhyden, Menands, was maid of honor. She carried a cascade of white daisies. Miss Jane Woodard, New York City, and Miss Maureen Fatone, Green Island, were bridesmaids. Jack Cleary and Michael Cleary, the bride's nephews, were ringbearers.

Gregg Best, Port Ewen, the bridegroom's brother was best man. Ronald Schmitz and Dennis Bart were ushers.

Glasco Gun Club Auxiliary Meets

Dr. Herbert Zaccheo was guest speaker at the May meeting of the Glasco Gun Club. He gave a lecture on "Signs of Cancer" and augmented his talk with a topical film. More than 50 members and friends attended the session. Club President Joan Isgro and Eva Carpino, chairman, introduced the speaker.

Arrangements for the meeting were completed by the chairman and her committee which consisted of Rosalyn Riccio, Terry McGroarty and Frances Resso.

Refreshments were served by Edith Kilburn, chairman, Marion Koniuk, Joan Isgro, Jenny Winters and Ruth Kime.

Club members will be getting together for their second annual Memorial Day outing at the club and the next regular meeting is scheduled for June 18. Program plans will be announced.

Glaze for Lamb

Add a little ground ginger and nutmeg to canned apricot nectar and use it to glaze shoulder of lamb, pre-carved then tied into shape by the meat dealer. At serving time, cut the string and the meat will fall into chop-like portions.

Extra Flavor

For extra flavor and spiciness, add a few drops of aromatic bitters to ginger ale, colas, limeade or orange juice.

MRS. JOHN J. LEWIS

(Bisesi Photo)

Suzanne Petrick Weds John J. Lewis

Miss Suzanne Petrick, daughter of Mrs. Alfred Petrick of 240 Garth Road, Scarsdale, N.Y., and the late Mr. Petrick, was married to John J. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Vedder of Kingston, N.Y., on Saturday, May 25, 1968. The Rev. Francis K. Wagschal performed the 4 p.m. double ring ceremony at Redeemer Lutheran Church, Scarsdale. Ronald J. Smith was soloist.

Given in marriage by her uncle, F. Gerard Kelly, the bride wore an ivory antique peau de soie gown and cathedral train appliqued with reembroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls. Her headpiece was a matching Alencon lace mantilla over a cathedral length illusion veil. She carried stephanotis and ivy with Georgianna orchids.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Paul F. (Donna) Kelly of Yonkers, N.Y., and Miss Patricia Vedder of Kingston, sister of the bridegroom, served as a bridesmaid. Attired in azelia pink organza empire gowns, their headpieces were matching Dior bows and full length pink illusion veils. They carried cascade bouquets of two shades of pink carnations.

Best man for his brother was Joseph Vedder of Kingston. Ushers were John Horvers of Kingston, Robert Vedder of Kingston and Paul F. Kelly of Yonkers.

A reception followed the ceremony at Scarsdale Inn, Scarsdale, N.Y.

Mrs. Lewis attended grade school in Yonkers and was graduated from Kingston High School. She is entering her senior year, majoring in political science, at Park College, Parkville, Mo., where she is a member of the Political Science Club and the International Relations Club. She is the granddaughter of V. O'Connor, well known veteran merchant of Yonkers, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. David Petrick of Mt. Vernon, N.Y. Mr. Petrick is a well known artist.

Mr. Lewis was educated at Kingston High School and Ulster Community College. He is on the staff of the Ulster County Savings Bank and the grandson of Mrs. T. Banks of Kingston.

Senior Citizens

The Mid-Hudson Senior Citizens, Social Club will hold its next meeting Tuesday at the First Methodist Church, Highland.

The recent luncheon in observance of Senior Citizens Month was well attended, with many members of the Kingston Golden Age Club represented. The Highland group attended a supper sponsored by the Kingston group last week.

Do You Have Best Dressed Home?

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Would your home rate as one of the 10 best dressed homes in America?

If you have good taste, you may be in the running, even if you live in an Alaskan igloo, says Raymond Kassar, who has put his company behind the idea. The youthful president of Burlington House, the home furnishing subsidiary of the largest textile mills in the world, says his company is planning to give awards to 10 fine homes at the beginning of next year.

Kassar thinks the time is ripe for industry to aid the consumer in planning his home. The philosophy will be "more taste than money," he says.

"You don't need to be a millionaire to have a beautiful home. Our idea is that people can apply to their own budget ideas observed in important homes," he explains.

A woman doesn't need to spend a mint to have a pretty home. If she has good taste, she can walk into a store and select a beautiful wine glass for only 39 cents. That's the kind of edu cating they hope to do.

Some clues to good decorating might be observed in bachelor Kassar's New York apartment. It is cozy, livable and handsomely furnished in eclectic fashion of new and old.

Living room walls and draperies are of brown velvet. There is a champagne-colored ribbed silk faille sofa, a tapestry draped table, Carmel leather-tufted sofa, and an animal skin fabric on a bench.

On the dining side there is a chandelier from a palace, a very old Spanish chest, and a 17th century table that has a history recorded in its drawer —it was used by Prince Charlie.

A Turkish room is the last word in a bachelor's retreat what with its Casbah-type decorations. Glide through the amber, turquoise and emerald beaded entrance and you are more or less enveloped in paisley burnt orange and turquoise. It is everywhere—on walls, at windows, on the ceiling and on sofas that seem to be everywhere too. The lamps are Turkish inspired.

Kassar's bedroom has walls of beige tweed with brown and black-striped borders. A large block molding about a foot out from the ceiling over the bed forms an interesting canopy. The same brown-black idea is carried out in the bathroom with a black cotton shower sheet that appears to be trimmed with a jute braid. Towels are brown.

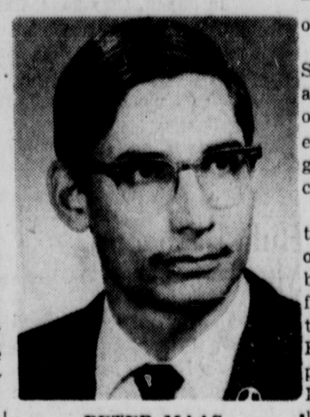

Another bath is brown velvet with silver-striped brown ceiling and walls.

Corridor walls adjacent to the kitchen and the kitchen walls itself are covered in a cool-looking green and white lattice pattern. At tne end of the long narrow kitchen, the space fans out and the lattice pattern is combined with two attractive mural panels. There is a cozy seating area, a round metal table with a half-inch glass on it and a tall, narrow window with plants everywhere—a delightful, tranquil setting for a breakfast room.

Toothpaste-Lipstick

Lipstick marks or hair dye stains on the bathroom ceramic tile floors, walls or wash basins are easily removed with a bit of ordinary toothpaste on a damp rag.

Fulbright Scholarship Winner

PETER MAAS

Peter Maas, an early secondary science major at State University College at Oneonta, who will graduate June 2 with a bachelor of arts degree, has been awarded a Fulbright Scholarship for a full year of study at the University of Wuerzburg, German, to begin in July, 1968.

Mr. Maas, a 1963 graduate of Kingston High School, is the son of Mrs. Nicoline Maas, Society of Brothers, Rifton, N. Y.

Valued at approximately $2500, the grant will enable Maas to participate in the study abroad program at Wuerzburg, which is administered jointly by State University College at Oneonta and the State University of New York at Albany. He will study geology as part of a Graduate Research Team.

Applications for Fulbright Scholarships are received from all over the United States with only some 800 students selected each year. The competition for graduate study in European countries is particularly keen.

The grant covers round-trip transportation, language and orientation courses, tuition, books and maintenance for the full academic year. Final selection is made by the Board of Foreign Scholarships under the provisions of the Fulbright-Hayes Act of 1961 after preliminary review and approval by a bi-national educational commission in the country where the student is to study.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:

For the family cooks who are faced with the dilemma of a person on a salt-free diet to cook for, try this:

Take your portion of unsalted, uncooked food and place in aluminum foil. Seal tightly.

Put this packet on top of the rest of the food to be cooked. You can season the rest of the family's food and your packet is cooked at the same time without seasoning.

It is also easy to place several of the aluminum packets in a large boiler with an inch or two of water in the bottom and steam them at the same time.

This always seems to delight small children. The unopened packets placed on their tray give them "surprise" meals.

Mother did this for 18 months for my sister and it worked just wonderfully.

Dear Heloise:

We live in an apartment area with no place to hide an extra key, and have to go to the main office to have someone let us in if we lose or forget our key.

So to be on the safe side, I put my extra key on a small key chain and hook it over my girdle supporter before fastening it. It slips under the top of my hose and I never know it is there.

What a comfortable feeling not to be . . .

My granny always told me there were good ways to do everything.

One day while waxing my car, the light flashed! I waxed my coppertone refrigerator with the same car wax. (The kind that cleans and waxes at the same time.) Great!

Now all it takes to clean and shine them is a paper towel and a quick wipe and they gleam. The wax job lasts for several months too.

Dear Heloise,

My lawnmower starts with a quick jerk of a nylon rope. But since we gals just don't have enough power in one arm. I have found a new way to crank the thing without being all in before I start mowing.

I drove a stake deep into the ground. Now I hook the mower on it just behind the front wheel and give a quick pull with both hands. It doesn't slide when I pull the starting rope.

Try it if you don't have a self-starting power and have to run that noisy thing around the yard.

Legion Auxiliary to Present Awards; Will March in Memorial Day Parade

Mrs. Estelle Ryan, Americanism Awards chairman, American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 150, will present awards to Miss Judith Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wright of Hurley, and Arnold Shienvold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shienvold of Kingston, for Americanism, awards given annually to the best students in government and citizenship.

Mrs. Less Wilson of East Chester Street, this city, was the recipient of the recent linen award.

Auxiliary members planning to join in the Memorial Parade are requested to be at the Post Home at 1 p.m. Gold Star mothers will also be represented and cars will be available. Miss Carol Van Dine, daughter of legionnaire and auixiliary member, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Dine Jr., will represent Post 150 in the parade as "poppy girl."

Mrs. George Heppner will preside at the next meeting on June 18 at the Post Home at 8 p.m. Further celebration will continue for life members and a June rummage sale will be discussed.

Dark bone in frozen chicken is the sign of a young chicken, says the National Broiler Council. The darkness is blood that remains in a young bird's bone marrow; it gradually disappears or calcifies as chickens get older.

Legion Auxiliary to Present Awards; Will March in Memorial Day Parade

Mrs. Estelle Ryan, Americanism Awards chairman, American Legion Auxiliary, Unit 150, will present awards to Miss Judith Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wright of Hurley, and Arnold Shienvold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Shienvold of Kingston, for Americanism, awards given annually to the best students in government and citizenship.

Mrs. Less Wilson of East Chester Street, this city, was the recipient of the recent linen award.

Auxiliary members planning to join in the Memorial Parade are requested to be at the Post Home at 1 p.m. Gold Star mothers will also be represented and cars will be available. Miss Carol Van Dine, daughter of legionnaire and auixiliary member, Mr. and Mrs. John Van Dine Jr., will represent Post 150 in the parade as "poppy girl."

Mrs. George Heppner will preside at the next meeting on June 18 at the Post Home at 8 p.m. Further celebration will continue for life members and a June rummage sale will be discussed.

Do You Have Best Dressed Home?

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Would your home rate as one of the 10 best dressed homes in America?

If you have good taste, you may be in the running, even if you live in an Alaskan igloo, says Raymond Kassar, who has put his company behind the idea. The youthful president of Burlington House, the home furnishing subsidiary of the largest textile mills in the world, says his company is planning to give awards to 10 fine homes at the beginning of next year.

Kassar thinks the time is ripe for industry to aid the consumer in planning his home. The philosophy will be "more taste than money," he says.

"You don't need to be a millionaire to have a beautiful home. Our idea is that people can apply to their own budget ideas observed in important homes," he explains.

A woman doesn't need to spend a mint to have a pretty home. If she has good taste, she can walk into a store and select a beautiful wine glass for only 39 cents. That's the kind of educating they hope to do.

Some clues to good decorating might be observed in bachelor Kassar's New York apartment. It is cozy, livable and handsomely furnished in eclectic fashion of new and old.

Living room walls and draperies are of brown velvet. There is a champagne-colored ribbed silk faille sofa, a tapestry draped table, Carmel leather-tufted sofa, and an animal skin fabric on a bench.

On the dining side there is a chandelier from a palace, a very old Spanish chest, and a 17th century table that has a history recorded in its drawer—it was used by Prince Charlie.

A Turkish room is the last word in a bachelor's retreat what with its Casbah-type decorations. Glide through the amber, turquoise and emerald beaded entrance and you are more or less enveloped in paisley burnt orange and turquoise. It is everywhere—on walls, at windows, on the ceiling and on sofas that seem to be everywhere too. The lamps are Turkish inspired.

Kassar's bedroom has walls of beige tweed with brown and black-striped borders. A large block molding about a foot out from the ceiling over the bed forms an interesting canopy. The same brown-black idea is carried out in the bathroom with a black cotton shower sheet that appears to be trimmed with a jute braid. Towels are brown.

Another bath is brown velvet with silver-striped brown ceiling and walls.

Corridor walls adjacent to the kitchen and the kitchen walls itself are covered in a cool-looking green and white lattice pattern. At the end of the long narrow kitchen, the space fans out and the lattice pattern is combined with two attractive mural panels. There is a cozy seating area, a round metal table with a half-inch glass on it and a tall, narrow window with plants everywhere—a delightful, tranquil setting for a breakfast room.

Toothpaste-Lipstick

Japanese Yakitori for Outdoor Cooking

Chicken breasts and livers broiled on skewers.

In Japan, they have a simple chicken breast and chicken liver combination which is perfect for the outdoor grill. Served with its special sauce of saki or radish or white turnip, plus dishes of perfectly cooked rice, it makes a delightful and satisfying dish for patio or lawn.

YAKITORI

3 whole or broiler-fryer chicken breasts
½ pound chicken livers, cut in half
Salad oil
⅓ cup soy sauce
⅓ cup saki or sherry
¼ cup sugar
Grated white radish or white turnip.

Bone chicken breasts; remove skin. Cut each breast half into 6 to 8 nuggets, 1-inch square. Cut livers in half. Alternate 2 nuggets of breast meat with 1 liver half on six skewers, using 6 to 8 nuggets and 3 pieces of liver for each skewer. Brush with oil. Grill or broil 4 inches from heat, 2 minutes for each side. Combine soy sauce, saki and sugar; brush over meat on skewers and grill 2 minutes longer or until done. Serve with remaining sauce mixture and grated white radish. Six servings.

Hula Barbecue Memorial Day

The Memorial Day weekend is usually the time when the man of the house puts on his chef's cap and takes over the outdoor grill for family and friends. Why not something different this year—luau spareribs with a tangy sauce for a real hula barbecue?

Make the luau barbecue sauce beforehand. It's easy to give it Hawaiian flavor with condensed tomato soup, pineapple juice and a few spicy seasonings. Be sure to start the charcoal burning early, so your chef will have hot, glowing coals in time for his performance. And give him a bulb syringe full of water to tame the flames that may rise from dripping fat.

Corn on the cob, hot French bread and fruit kabobs are great go-withs with luau barbecued spareribs. And so are paper napkins in a generous supply so the hula barbecue will be good, clean fun.

A luau for Memorial Day.

LUAU BARBECUE RIBS

Place 6 pounds of spareribs (cut into serving-sized pieces, if desired) in a large pot of boiling water. Cover; simmer 1 hour; drain. Prepare sauce as directed. Place ribs on grill about 6 inches above glowing coals. Brush with sauce; continue cooking 30 minutes or until done, brushing with sauce and turning every 5 minutes. Six servings.

LUAU TOMATO BARBECUE SAUCE

⅓ cup chopped onion
1 small clove garlic, minced
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed tomato soup
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 to 2 tablespoons Worcestershire
2 tablespoons brown sugar
¼ cup pineapple juice
Dash Tabasco sauce

In saucepan, cook onion, garlic in oil until tender. Add remaining ingredients. Cook over low heat 15 minutes, stirring now and then. Makes 1½ cups sauce.

'No More Skirts' Says Gernreich

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rudi Gernreich doesn't believe the midiskirt will catch on with women. After seeing his fall and winter collection of knits, you wonder if Gernreich believes in any skirt at all.

Matter of fact, he states, "I believe skirts are beginning to disappear."

In their stead, the fashion picture Gernreich paints is one of tights and bloomers and tunics and rarely a dirndl-gathered skirt, even shorter than kilts and most of today's miniskirts.

Of skirt lengths in general, Gernreich adds, "I believe clothes will remain short. I don't believe in the midi (midcalf)."

The West Coast-based designer (he of the topless bathing suit and naked looking dress fame) spoke of some of his fashion theories as he previewed his fall and winter collection designed for Harmon Knits, headquarters in New York.

"Women's clothes are getting away from insanity . . . although I've not always been the designer who fought it," said Gernreich with a laugh. And to say the least, the clothes from this Viennese-born designer always have been avant garde.

Many of the Gernreich knits dipped into traditional costume for inspiration, however. A group of tights with tunic tops and long, skinny sleeves were Amish inspired.

Plush Seats Take Woodstock Spotlight

Red plush theatre seats have come to the Woodstock Playhouse! They are old-fashioned, soft, deep, extra-wide and roomy, not to mention—elegant. At last the Playhouse has eliminated its greatest difficulty in offering the best in live theatre entertainment.

The summer stock season at the Woodstock Playhouse has always been unique — and praised—for its presentation of better plays. The Playhouse also houses the Hudson Valley Repertory Theatre, during the fall and spring, which has been unanimously acclaimed for the excellence of its productions. Now the Playhouse can offer greater comfort as well as greater theatre.

The bulk of the Playhouse's familiar bench-seats has been donated to the Maverick Concert Hall. However, at the request of local theatre-lovers, some have been retained, to be made available to the public at ten dollars a row. A wonderful opportunity to make a piece of Woodstock memorablia your own. These will be sold on Saturday, June 1 from 10-12 a.m.

Helmich Strikes Out 19 in 2-1 No-Hit Win Over Middies

Pete Helmich must have the magic number as far as Middletown High's baseball team is concerned.

Helmich, the bespectacled, blond righthander for the Kingston High diamond squad, yesterday pitched a nine inning no-hitter against the Middies, keeping Kingston's DUSO League title hopes alive with a 2-1 win.

Helmich, in the first go-round at Middletown, hurled a two-hitter, striking out 14. Yesterday, he was the complete master, whiffing an amazing total of 19 Middies against five walks in front of the Dietz Stadium audience.

The Middies, however, touched him for an unearned run in the third, and for a while, looked like that lone tally was going to stand up.

Helmich's counterpart, Paul Hughes, the loser in the first KHS-MHS battle, worked eight frames, giving up a run in the fifth that knotted the score. He looked impressive while in there, keeping the Maroon at bay with 15 strikeouts and three walks.

Kingston won it in the ninth off reliever Chuck Smith. Jerry Corrado, who scored the earlier tally, made it safely to first on an error, went to third on a wild throw of a sacrifice bunt by John Carter, and came home on Jeff Perry's long sacrifice fly to center.

Third League Win

For the Maroons, it was the third league win in five outings and kept them alive for a possible tie with Newburgh for the league crown. Newburgh is 4-0.

Newburgh and Kingston are scheduled to play today at Dietz, but the hard rain has forced a postponement for possibly Monday.

The Middies moved ahead in the third on a pair of KHS errors. Helmich made the first, allowing Hughes to make it safely to first base, as Hughes bunt rolled by him.

Hughes promptly stole second, and on an attempted pickoff by catcher Harry Lyons, went into third as the ball rolled out to center field.

He scored on Phil Sheremeta's attempted squeeze, sliding in against Lyons and knocking the ball out of Lyons' glove as the tag was applied.

KHS Ties It in Fifth

Kingston tied it in the fifth with the only earned run of the game. Corrado worked Hughes for a walk, then stole second, setting himself in good scoring position. A hig chopper off Carter's bat fell for a single, putting men on first and third, just one out. Ray Lindhorst, next up, beat out an infield hit that alowed Corrado to race home.

The Maroons loaded the sacks with one out in the sixth but couldn't score. In the eighth, John Schatzel tripled with one out, but KHS couldn't bring him home.

Helmich's no-hitter was saved by a sparkling defensive play in the last inning. Eddie Gorman, the KHS third sacker, picked up Dick Field's grounder on the dead run and fired to first to nip Field in a close play.

Middies Edge KHS, 3-2, for Title

Upsets were the order of the day yesterday as Kingston and Middletown, the top two tennis teams in Section Nine, battled for the DUSO League championship.

Middletown emerged the victor on dual meet wins, completing an undefeated 6-0 season with a narrow 3-2 win over the visiting 4-2 Maroons.

The first upset came in the opening singles match. Middletown's Neil Novesky, the section's reigning singles champ, was reversed in a hard-fought match by KHS' Dave Roberts, 6-2, 9-7.

Using an effective serve and spectacular net play, Roberts copped the first set in convincing fashion.

The second, however, wasn't quite so easy, going overtime. Novesky had set-point on three different occasions, but each time, Roberts came back to duece it, then finally taking it with a late surge.

The Maroons number two player, Bill Zeeh, had an easier time in downing the Middies Jim Holden, 6-3, 6-1, to put the Maroons ahead, 2-0.

Maroons Miss Chance

Kingston had a chance to wrap it up in the final singles match, pitting Roberts' double partner, Steve Lonergan against Middie freshman, Keith Kaback.

Lonergan had Kaback on the ropes, leading 3-1 in the first set. Kaback called for time to compose himself and it seemed to be the elixir the 6-0 Middies needed.

Kaback rallied strongly, forcing Lonergan overtime, then taking an 8-6 opening set victory. He bumped Lonergan, 6-1, in the second for MHS' first point.

The second upset came in the opening doubles. Roberts and Lonergan, the section champs, ran up against a stone wall in the Novesky-Alex Smith duo, losing by scores of 7-5 and 6-3, marking the second time the Novesky-Smith (also a freshman) tandem has beaten the KHS pair.

Most of the attention was focused on the final doubles match, the one that determined the outcome. In that, KHS mentor John Hunter, sent Zeeh and Jim Boyd against Kaback and Sam Markovits.

Tough Final Set

The Middie two-some copped the first, 6-3, but KHS, refusing to quit went to 16 games before evening things with a 9-7 victory. The third and final set was a turnabout with Kaback and Markovits breezing home, 6-0 for Middletown's 47th straight dual meet victory.

The Results

Dave Roberts (K) d. Neil Novesky, 6-2, 9-7.

Bill Zeeh (K) d. Jim Holden, 6-3, 6-1.

Keith Kaback (M) d. Steve Lonergan, 8-6, 6-1.

Novesky-Alex Smith (M) d. Roberts-Lonergan, 7-5, 6-3.

Kaback-Sam Markovits (M) d. Zeeh-Jim Boyd, 6-3, 7-9, 6-0.

Maloney's 1-Hitter Blanks Dodgers, 7-0

By HAL BOCK

Jim Maloney made the baseball do tricks and Gaylord Perry turned in some sleight of hand too. But the antics one of Dave Giusti's pitches went through topped them all.

Giusti sabotaged an otherwise strong job with a costly error that allowed one run to score and set up another in Atlanta's 3-1 victory over Houston Tuesday night.

Cincinnati's Maloney hurled a sharp one-hitter, blanking Los Angeles 7-0 and Perry of San Francisco finished with a two-hitter and a 3-1 victory over St. Louis.

The only other National League games scheduled—New York at Pittsburgh and Chicago at Philadelphia—both were rained out.

Maloney, who carried a 4.50 earned run average into the game against the Dodgers, was close to untouchable and the top of the Reds' batting order was just about unstoppable.

Maloney struck out 10 and permitted only a fifth inning single by Zoilo Versalles. The Reds, meanwhile, rapped 13 hits —12 of them by the first four batters in the order.

Leadoff man Pete Rose had four of the hits and raised his league leading batting average from .351 to .366. Tommy Helms and Alex Johnson had three hits each with Johnson driving in four runs and Helms two. Vada Pinson also had two hits and one RBI.

Bob Gibson sailed through San Francisco's first 15 batters but had his perfect game broken up by Dick Dietz' leadoff homer in the sixth.

One inning later, Ty Cline blooped a single and Willie Mays' unloaded his eighth homer of the year and the 572nd of his career and the Giants had the Cardinals beaten.

Perry allowed a leadoff double to Lou Brock and nothing more until the seventh when Tim McCarver opened with a triple and was stranded at third base.

The game was delayed one hour, 24 minutes at the start, 25 minutes in the seventh inning, and finally ended by rain after eight innings.

Marlboro Locks Up Tie for UCAL Title

Marlboro, behind the offensive power of Bill Giametta and the flawless relief pitching of Mike Pagano, yesterday nosed out visiting Wallkill, 6-5, in the UCAL and with the win clinched at least a tie for the league championship in baseball.

Giametta was a one-man show, taking part in five of the half-dozen runs the Iron Dukes scored. He chalked up three RBI's and scored twice himself, banging out a pair of singles in three trips to the plate.

Pagano, who caught when starter Dale Sutton, and reliefer Giametta were in, hurled the final inning — and two-thirds without allowing a single Wallkill baseman.

With one contest remaining, the Iron Dukes clinched at least a tie, compiling an 8-3 record with just a game at Pine Bush left for Friday.

The only teams with a chance to tie are New Paltz, idle yesterday, who holds a 7-4 record with just Highland remaining, and Highland, 6-4, with a pair of encounters to go. The Highlanders yesterday knocked out Onteora from the race with a 7-1 home victory, while Pine Bush battling for fifth, evened its record at 5-5, downing host Rondout (4-7) by a 7-5 score. Wallkill is firmly entrenched in the cellar with a 3-9 mark.

Take 5-1 Lead

Giametta sent the Dukes out front, 5-1, at the end of three. Wallkill bounced back with a pair of runs in both the fourth and fifth innings after an opening frame tally to knot the score at 5 all.

Marlboro took the win, and at least the share of the crown with a sixth inning run. Dan Pagano led off the stanza with a safety. He went out for pinch runner Rocky Lofaro, who moved to second on Tom Monahan's sacrifice. A single by John Mandia pushed Lofaro to third, from where he scored when Dan Passante hit a sacrifice fly to deep centerfield.

Highland, keeping its hopes alive, caught a cold OCS team and jammed all seven runs into the sixth inning, shelling pitcher Mike Patrick unmercifully.

The Highlanders had been the loop's early leader, faltered down the middle, but now seems to be picking up a second wind for the stretch drive. OCS held the league lead when Highland didn't, but the Indians have faltered the last two weeks.

For the Highlanders, Jim Galio chucked a nifty two-hitter past OCS, giving up singles to John Stoothoff and Allen Cocks.

A single, a balk, an error, an interference call on Stoothoff, the catcher, a pair of singles and a three-run homer by Gary Elia produced six of the runs. The final tally came on a bases loaded walk, forcing in the marker.

Pine Bush, one of the league's early favorites, has had its ups and downs, but yesterday managed to pull out the win with a four-run outburst in the sixth inning.

A quartet of singles, a steal, a sacrifice and an error gave the Bushmen the needed runs to post the triumph over the Ganders.

Maloney's 1-Hitter Blanks Dodgers, 7-0

The only other National League games scheduled—New York at Pittsburgh and Chicago at Philadelphia—both were rained out.

Maloney, who carried a 4.50 earned run average into the game against the Dodgers, was close to untouchable and the top of the Reds' batting order was just about unstoppable.

Maloney struck out 10 and permitted only a fifth inning single by Zoilo Versalles. The Reds, meanwhile, rapped 13 hits—12 of them by the first four batters in the order.

Leadoff man Pete Rose had four of the hits and raised his league leading batting average from .351 to .366. Tommy Helms and Alex Johnson had three hits each with Johnson driving in four runs and Helms two. Vada Pinson also had two hits and one RBI.

Bob Gibson sailed through San Francisco's first 15 batters but had his perfect game broken up by Dick Dietz' leadoff homer in the sixth.

One inning later, Ty Cline blooped a single and Willie Mays' unloaded his eighth homer of the year and the 572nd of his career and the Giants had the Cardinals beaten.

Perry allowed a leadoff double to Lou Brock and nothing more until the seventh when Tim McCarver opened with a triple and was stranded at third base.

Marlboro Locks Up Tie for UCAL Title

Marlboro, behind the offensive power of Bill Giametta and the flawless relief pitching of Mike Pagano, yesterday nosed out visiting Wallkill, 6-5, in the UCAL and with the win clinched at least a tie for the league championship in baseball.

Giametta was a one-man show, taking part in five of the half-dozen runs the Iron Dukes scored. He chalked up three RBI's and scored twice himself, banging out a pair of singles in three trips to the plate.

Pagano, who caught when starter Dale Sutton, and reliefer Giametta were in, hurled the final inning — and two-thirds without allowing a single Wallkill baseman.

With one contest remaining, the Iron Dukes clinched at least a tie, compiling an 8-3 record with just a game at Pine Bush left for Friday.

The only teams with a chance to tie are New Paltz, idle yesterday, who holds a 7-4 record with just Highland remaining, and Highland, 6-4, with a pair of encounters to go. The Highlanders yesterday knocked out Onteora from the race with a 7-1 home victory, while Pine Bush battling for fifth, evened its record at 5-5, downing host Rondout (4-7) by a 7-5 score. Wallkill is firmly entrenched in the cellar with a 3-9 mark.

Take 5-1 Lead

Giametta sent the Dukes out front, 5-1, at the end of three. Wallkill bounced back with a pair of runs in both the fourth and fifth innings after an opening frame tally to knot the score at 5 all.

Marlboro took the win, and at least the share of the crown with a sixth inning run. Dan Pagano led off the stanza with a safety. He went out for pinch runner Rocky Lofaro, who moved to second on Tom Monahan's sacrifice. A single by John Mandia pushed Lofaro to third, from where he scored when Dan Passante hit a sacrifice fly to deep centerfield.

Highland, keeping its hopes alive, caught a cold OCS team and jammed all seven runs into the sixth inning, shelling pitcher Mike Patrick unmercifully.

The Highlanders had been the loop's early leader, faltered down the middle, but now seems to be picking up a second wind for the stretch drive. OCS held the league lead when Highland didn't, but the Indians have faltered the last two weeks.

For the Highlanders, Jim Galio chucked a nifty two-hitter past OCS, giving up singles to John Stoothoff and Allen Cocks.

A single, a balk, an error, an interference call on Stoothoff, the catcher, a pair of singles and a three-run homer by Gary Elia produced six of the runs. The final tally came on a bases loaded walk, forcing in the marker.

Pine Bush, one of the league's early favorites, has had its ups and downs, but yesterday managed to pull out the win with a four-run outburst in the sixth inning.

A quartet of singles, a steal, a sacrifice and an error gave the Bushmen the needed runs to post the triumph over the Ganders.

The track of champions

Music to a hunter's ear is the baying of hounds as they pursue the cottontails and finally drive them into the sights of a hunter's gun.

However, an old sport is being revived in this area in the formation of beagle-hound field trials where the rabbit is pursued but never shot.

Saugerties Fish and Game Club is to be commended for its efforts in the establishment of a field trial course at the Brooks Farm near Asbury in the Town of Saugerties.

BEING A NEWCOMER to the sport, we were fortunate to have a local beagle expert fill us in on some of the rules and regulations. Some of the finer points are:

A sanctioned trial is a field trial competition where no championship points are awarded.

A licensed or member trial is a field trial where championship points may be awarded. All dogs must be AKC-registered beagles.

A field trial starts with the filing of entry forms and fees and dogs are all numbered by the host secretary. The numbers are then deposited in a drum and drawn. The first dog number drawn makes up the first brace, while the second one teams with number one. Each trial is run in braces of two dogs.

The rabbits are either kicked out or started by the dogs. Only judges are handlers are allowed to pursue the hunt. Owners must stay in the gallery and never are allowed to encourage their dogs.

POINTS ARE SCORED 0 to 100 based on positive accomplishments and are awarded one point for first, one-half for second, one-third for third and one-fourth for fourth.

Credit must be given in accuracy in trailing, proper use of voice, endurance, adaptability and for patience, intelligence and determination.

Demerit faults include pottering, swinging and skirting, babbling, leaving checks, racing, running hit or miss style and running a ghost trail. Quitting and back tracking are two of the most serious faults. Hounds are not demerited for trailing game other than rabbits and are not eliminated for losing game.

Classes are run in 13 and 15-inch divisions, with ribbons and trophies awarded by two judges, AKC-approved. Kennel mates may not run in first series. The second series is run with the first six or eight hounds participating.

In order for a beagle to become field champion, it must acquire 125 licensed points and have won a minimum of three trials.

TO STANLEY SINKEWITCH of Malden goes the honor of first place in the Brown trout division in the April segment of the Genessee Fishing Contest.

Fishing in a nearby Cementon quarry hole, Sinkevich lured the prize with the lowly garden hackle. The brownie tipped the scales at 11 lbs. 12-oz. and was taken in April. John Berlinski of Middletown won third spot with a 10-lb., 12-oz. fish taken from the Mongaup River near Monticello—on opening day.

As usual, the No. 1 fish in the rainbow division came from the famed Catherine Creek and was a 13-lb., 5-oz. beauty, taken by Daniel Aloi of Elmira.

Of interest to local anglers who frequent the Adirondacks, a 19-pound, 9½-oz. laker took top spot and was snagged by John Homer Jr. of Cassville from Blue Mountain Lake.

All fish are eligible for the annual award.

We welcome John Dittus Jr. and his fine family to the fishing fraternity. Starting the sporting way, too, fishing flies, no less. Joan Longendyke of the uptown office has her license and now we are looking forward to a pix with her prize catch . . . And John Burns after those big ones in the Eddyville section.

OLD RIP SEZ: Now for two weeks with Dot and Bob Gendreau at Indian Lake and some of the good mountain dew and air.

Hawk Batters Excel Despite Low Finish

New Paltz State's baseball team finished SUNYAC season with a 3-6 record, good for sixth place in the 10-team circuit, despite leading in four of the five individual batting departments.

The Hawks, who had players capture all batting statistics except average, were four-and-a-half games off the pennant winning pace of 9-2, set by Oneonta. NPS' overall record was 9-13.

The Hawks Mark Ascher copped the SUNYAC home run derby, smacking three to nose out runner-up, Don Cowen of Oswego, by one.

Angelo Druda took the triples and RBI titles with a pair of three-baggers in six contests for a .333 output. A trio of others hit three, but appeared in more games, thus a lower percentage.

In the RBI category, Druda was credited with nine runs driven in in 11 games, marking up a 1.17 per game output. Lynn Pattyson of Potsdam had 10 RBI's, but was in 12 games and had a .833 mark.

Ascher also copped the doubles championship with three in eight contests. However, he didn't make the top 15 in batting average. A quartet of teammates did.

Hurlers Paul Thaler and Hal Sachson were numbers 10 and 11 in ERA. Thaler at 3.60, Sachson 5.28.

New Paltz Takes 3-0 Shutout for Second In UCAL

Ray Zappone set down 14 men on strikes yesterday and gave up a pair of doubles as New Paltz overtook second place in the UCAL, beating the now third-place Onteora Indians, 3-0.

Zappone, the tall, lanky sophomore, was the master throughout, firing what some considered his finest game to date. He used a combination of fastballs and curves to keep OCS off balance, blanking them handily.

In all, he gave up two hits, both doubles, one each to Mickey Bush and Mike Patrick, while walking just five. His teammates played flawless ball in the field.

The loser, Bush, worked the full game, but fell victim to four errors by OCS. He gave up a pair of hits, both singles, but the errors proved his downfall.

New Paltz, now 6-4, trails Marlboro, 7-3, in the league. OCS stands third at 7-4 while Highland is 5-4.

New Paltz won it in the first when Ron Bonagura reached safely on the initial error. He made it to second on the overthrow. A steal of third set him in scoring position, and he came home with the run that Zappone needed when Bob Lynch singled.

Another pair came in during the third on a bunt single, an error, a walk, and a pair of sacrifice flies.

Rondout Gains Tie for Fifth on 4-2 UCAL Win

Rondout Valley came up with a pair of runs in the top of the fifth inning, using three of the four singles it got in the game, to hand homestanding Wallkill a 4-2 UCAL defeat.

The loss droppped Wallkill further into the basement of the UCAL standings. Rondout's triumph, it's fourth in 10 league outings, ties it with Pine Bush for fifth in the listings.

Bernie Schaeffer led off the inning with RV's second single of the game. He promptly stole second, giving an open base to John Carle, who worked losing pitcher, Tony Yurchuk for a walk. George Wallach then bunted safely to lead the sacks.

Tom Frazier came up and smacked a sacrifice fly that brought Schaeffer in and Gary Heinitz banged out the final Ganders' hit to score Carle with the insurance run.

RV's pitcher, Tommy Williams, gave the Blue Devils just three hits, all singles, while walking one and striking out seven.

Hillje Silences Statewide, 4-2

Staked to a four run lead, Ferroxcube pitcher Jack Hilje held off a belated seventh-inning rally by Statewide Upholstery, to give Ferroxcube a 4-2 victory in the Yankee Division of the Saugerties Softball League.

Hilje, who walked five and faned a pair, staved off the rally and cut it short at two runs in giving the Ferroxcube team a 10-hit victory.

Big blows were struck only by Statewide, with a trio of doubles. All of Ferroxcube's hits were singles.

Kayak, Wildwater Races at Phoenicia

Rotary Club of Phoenicia has announced it will sponsor the National Wildwater Championship race for canoes and kayaks, in addition to the Fifth Annual Esopus Slalom Race Saturday and Sunday, June 1-2.

The slalom will be run in two heats, the first on Saturday from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m., the second on Sunday at the same time.

The wildwater championship race will be held Saturday at 3 p.m.

Slalom course will be set in the "railroad rapids" of the Esopus, just below the old upper bridge in Phoenicia. The wildwater or downriver course will start near the aqueduct at Allaben and finish at the second old bridge in Phoenecia.

Good Observation Points

Spectators may find good observation posts along the banks of the Esopus at the Railroad Rapids and finish point.

A highlight of the 1968 white water racing season, the National championship attracts top canoeists and kayakists from all parts of the United States and Canada.

At least five of last year's champions are expected to defend their titles: Bill Bickham (Penn State Outing Club), men's single canoe title; Bill Heinzerling (Kayak and Canoe Club of New York), Rowan Osborne (Buck Ridge Ski Club, Philadelphia), holders of the men's double canoe title, and Gay Gruss and Mark Fawcett (Buck Ridge), mixed doubles canoe titlists.

Joint Sponsorship

Eastern top-ranking competitors in slalom include Tom Southworth (C-1 and C-2M); Nancy Southworth (C-2M); Les Bechdell (K-1 and C-2); Dave Kurts (C-2) and Terry Franz (K-1W).

The Kayak and Canoe Club of New York sponsors the two races jointly with the Phoenicia Rotary. Gene Gormley, Rotary race chairman, estimated the combined events would attract several thousand spectators and to 120 athletes.

Awards will be made to the champions at the Phoenicia school auditorium Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

500-Miler Thursday

Indianapolis Duel: Turbines vs. Pistons

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Thirty drivers of old fashioned piston-engine race cars wound up preliminaries today for Thursday's 52nd 500-mile auto race, by no means conceding the event to three other pilots of favored Lotus turbine cars.

Gordon Johncock of Hastings, Mich., one of the faster qualifiers in a conventional car, predicted a turbocharged Offenhauser would win the race. He has one.

A. J. Foyt Jr. of Houston, last year's winner who is shooting for an unprecedented fourth 500-mile victory, was on record as thinking the Pratt & Whitney powerplants were "a year away."

However, the consensus around Gasoline Alley was that the turbines of Joe Leonard, San Jose, Calif.; Graham Hill, London, England, and Art Pollard, Medford, Ore., couldn't be beaten if they held together and didn't run into extremely hot weather.

No heat wave, which could cripple turbine efficiency, was in sight.

Which turbine might finish first was a matter of heated opinion.

The situation was about the same as last year, except that Parnelli Jones had the single turbine car in the race. Foyt stayed in the same lap but couldn't catch him until a $6 bearing failed in the turbine's gearbox with 7½ miles to go and Foyt sailed past.

The '67 race also was unique in that five cars piled up just as Foyt approached the finish line and he was the only finisher.

Hill is riding a winning wave, with victories last Sunday in the Grand Prix of Monaco and two weeks earlier in the Spanish Grand Prix.

Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., sharing the front row Thursday with Leonard and Hill, has won the last three races on the U.S. Auto Club's championship circuit.

Ong Wins 4-Hitter

Red Whites Topple Club 99 Nine, 2-1

Tom King's single to left field drove in Tony Kilmer with the winning run, as Red Whites of Poughkeepsie edged Augie's Club 99 of Highland, 2-1, for their third straight win in the City Softball League last night.

The scheduled second game of the doubleheader at Block Park was rained out.

Cliff Ong limited Augie's to four hits and blanked them after yielding a run in the first inning. Artie Penfield tripled off the right center-field fence with one out in the first inning and scored Augie's run on Bob Constable's sacrifice fly to center. Ong fanned nine.

Music to a hunter's ear is the baying of hounds as they pursue the cottontails and finally drive them into the sights of a hunter's gun.

However, an old sport is being revived in this area in the formation of beagle-hound field trials where the rabbit is pursued but never shot.

Saugerties Fish and Game Club is to be commended for its efforts in the establishment of a field trial course at the Brooks Farm near Asbury in the Town of Saugerties.

BEING A NEWCOMER to the sport, we were fortunate to have a local beagle expert fill us in on some of the rules and regulations. Some of the finer points are:

A sanctioned trial is a field trial competition where no championship points are awarded.

A licensed or member trial is a field trial where championship points may be awarded. All dogs must be AKC-registered beagles.

A field trial starts with the filing of entry forms and fees and dogs are all numbered by the host secretary. The numbers are then deposited in a drum and drawn. The first dog number drawn makes up the first brace, while the second one teams with number one. Each trial is run in braces of two dogs.

The rabbits are either kicked out or started by the dogs. Only judges are handlers are allowed to pursue the hunt. Owners must stay in the gallery and never are allowed to encourage their dogs.

POINTS ARE SCORED 0 to 100 based on positive accomplishments and are awarded one point for first, one-half for second, one-third for third and one-fourth for fourth.

Credit must be given in accuracy in trailing, proper use of voice, endurance, adaptability and for patience, intelligence and determination.

Demerit faults include pottering, swinging and skirting, babbling, leaving checks, racing, running hit or miss style and running a ghost trail. Quitting and back tracking are two of the most serious faults. Hounds are not demerited for trailing game other than rabbits and are not eliminated for losing game.

Classes are run in 13 and 15-inch divisions, with ribbons and trophies awarded by two judges, AKC-approved. Kennel mates may not run in first series. The second series is run with the first six or eight hounds participating.

In order for a beagle to become field champion, it must acquire 125 licensed points and have won a minimum of three trials.

TO STANLEY SINKEWITCH of Malden goes the honor of first place in the Brown trout division in the April segment of the Genessee Fishing Contest.

Fishing in a nearby Cementon quarry hole, Sinkevich lured the prize with the lowly garden hackle. The brownie tipped the scales at 11 lbs. 12-oz. and was taken in April. John Berlinski of Middletown won third spot with a 10-lb., 12-oz. fish taken from the Mongaup River near Monticello—on opening day.

As usual, the No. 1 fish in the rainbow division came from the famed Catherine Creek and was a 13-lb., 5-oz. beauty, taken by Daniel Aloi of Elmira.

Of interest to local anglers who frequent the Adirondacks, a 19-pound, 9½-oz. laker took top spot and was snagged by John Homer Jr. of Cassville from Blue Mountain Lake.

All fish are eligible for the annual award.

We welcome John Dittus Jr. and his fine family to the fishing fraternity. Starting the sporting way, too, fishing flies, no less. Joan Longendyke of the uptown office has her license and now we are looking forward to a pix with her prize catch . . . And John Burns after those big ones in the Eddyville section.

OLD RIP SEZ: Now for two weeks with Dot and Bob Gendreau at Indian Lake and some of the good mountain dew and air.

Hawk Batters Excel Despite Low Finish

New Paltz State's baseball team finished SUNYAC season with a 3-6 record, good for sixth place in the 10-team circuit, despite leading in four of the five individual batting departments.

The Hawks, who had players capture all batting statistics except average, were four-and-a-half games off the pennant winning pace of 9-2, set by Oneonta, NPS' overall record was 9-13.

The Hawks Mark Ascher copped the SUNYAC home run derby, smacking three to nose out runner-up, Don Cowen of Oswego, by one.

Angelo Druda took the triples and RBI titles with a pair of three-baggers in six contests for a .333 output. A trio of others hit three, but appeared in more games, thus a lower percentage.

In the RBI category, Druda was credited with nine runs driven in in 11 games, marking up a 1.17 per game output. Lynn Pattyson of Potsdam had 10 RBI's, but was in 12 games and had a .833 mark.

Ascher also copped the doubles championship with three in eight contests. However, he didn't make the top 15 in batting average. A quartet of teammates did.

Hurlers Paul Thaler and Hal Sachson were numbers 10 and 11 in ERA. Thaler at 3.60, Sachson 5.28.

New Paltz Takes 3-0 Shutout for Second In UCAL

Ray Zappone set down 14 men on strikes yesterday and gave up a pair of doubles as New Paltz overtook second place in the UCAL, beating the now third-place Onteora Indians, 3-0.

Zappone, the tall, lanky sophomore, was the master throughout, firing what some considered his finest game to date. He used a combination of fastballs and curves to keep OCS off balance, blanking them handily.

In all, he gave up two hits, both doubles, one each to Mickey Bush and Mike Patrick, while walking just five. His teammates played flawless ball in the field.

The loser, Bush, worked the full game, but fell victim to four errors by OCS. He gave up a pair of hits, both singles, but the errors proved his downfall.

New Paltz, now 6-4, trails Marlboro, 7-3, in the league. OCS stands third at 7-4 while Highland is 5-4.

New Paltz won it in the first when Ron Bonagura reached safely on the initial error. He made it to second on the overthrow. A steal of third set him in scoring position, and he came home with the run that Zappone needed when Bob Lynch singled.

Another pair came in during the third on a bunt single, an error, a walk, and a pair of sacrifice flies.

Rondout Gains Tie for Fifth on 4-2 UCAL Win

Rondout Valley came up with a pair of runs in the top of the fifth inning, using three of the four singles it got in the game, to hand homestanding Wallkill a 4-2 UCAL defeat.

The loss droppped Wallkill further into the basement of the UCAL standings. Rondout's triumph, it's fourth in 10 league outings, ties it with Pine Bush for fifth in the listings.

Bernie Schaeffer led off the inning with RV's second single of the game. He promptly stole second, giving an open base to John Carle, who worked losing pitcher, Tony Yurchuk for a walk. George Wallach then bunted safely to lead the sacks.

Tom Frazier came up and smacked a sacrifice fly that brought Schaeffer in and Gary Heinitz banged out the final Ganders' hit to score Carle with the insurance run.

RV's pitcher, Tommy Williams, gave the Blue Devils just three hits, all singles, while walking one and striking out seven.

Hillje Silences Statewide, 4-2

Staked to a four run lead, Ferroxcube pitcher Jack Hilje held off a belated seventh-inning rally by Statewide Upholstery, to give Ferroxcube a 4-2 victory in the Yankee Division of the Saugerties Softball League.

Hilje, who walked five and faned a pair, staved off the rally and cut it short at two runs in giving the Ferroxcube team a 10-hit victory.

Big blows were struck only by Statewide, with a trio of doubles. All of Ferroxcube's hits were singles.

Kayak, Wildwater Races at Phoenicia

Rotary Club of Phoenicia has announced it will sponsor the National Wildwater Championship race for canoes and kayaks, in addition to the Fifth Annual Esopus Slalom Race Saturday and Sunday, June 1-2.

The slalom will be run in two heats, the first on Saturday from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m., the second on Sunday at the same time.

The wildwater championship race will be held Saturday at 3 p.m.

Slalom course will be set in the "railroad rapids" of the Esopus, just below the old upper bridge in Phoenicia. The wildwater or downriver course will start near the aqueduct at Allaben and finish at the second old bridge in Phoenecia.

Good Observation Points

Spectators may find good observation posts along the banks of the Esopus at the Railroad Rapids and finish point.

A highlight of the 1968 white water racing season, the National championship attracts top canoeists and kayakists from all parts of the United States and Canada.

At least five of last year's champions are expected to defend their titles: Bill Bickham (Penn State Outing Club), men's single canoe title; Bill Heinzerling (Kayak and Canoe Club of New York), Rowan Osborne (Buck Ridge Ski Club, Philadelphia), holders of the men's double canoe title, and Gay Gruss and Mark Fawcett (Buck Ridge), mixed doubles canoe titlists.

Joint Sponsorship

Eastern top-ranking competitors in slalom include Tom Southworth (C-1 and C-2M); Nancy Southworth (C-2M); Les Bechdell (K-1 and C-2); Dave Kurts (C-2) and Terry Franz (K-1W).

The Kayak and Canoe Club of New York sponsors the two races jointly with the Phoenicia Rotary. Gene Gormley, Rotary race chairman, estimated the combined events would attract several thousand spectators and to 120 athletes.

Awards will be made to the champions at the Phoenicia school auditorium Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

500-Miler Thursday

Indianapolis Duel: Turbines vs. Pistons

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Thirty drivers of old fashioned piston-engine race cars wound up preliminaries today for Thursday's 52nd 500-mile auto race, by no means conceding the event to three other pilots of favored Lotus turbine cars.

Gordon Johncock of Hastings, Mich., one of the faster qualifiers in a conventional car, predicted a turbocharged Offenhauser would win the race. He has one.

A. J. Foyt Jr. of Houston, last year's winner who is shooting for an unprecedented fourth 500-mile victory, was on record as thinking the Pratt & Whitney powerplants were "a year away."

However, the consensus around Gasoline Alley was that the turbines of Joe Leonard, San Jose, Calif.; Graham Hill, London, England, and Art Pollard, Medford, Ore., couldn't be beaten if they held together and didn't run into extremely hot weather.

No heat wave, which could cripple turbine efficiency, was in sight.

Which turbine might finish first was a matter of heated opinion.

The situation was about the same as last year, except that Parnelli Jones had the single turbine car in the race. Foyt stayed in the same lap but couldn't catch him until a $6 bearing failed in the turbine's gearbox with 7½ miles to go and Foyt sailed past.

The '67 race also was unique in that five cars piled up just as Foyt approached the finish line and he was the only finisher.

Hill is riding a winning wave, with victories last Sunday in the Grand Prix of Monaco and two weeks earlier in the Spanish Grand Prix.

Bobby Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., sharing the front row Thursday with Leonard and Hill, has won the last three races on the U.S. Auto Club's championship circuit.

Red Whites Topple Club 99 Nine, 2-1

Tom King's single to left field drove in Tony Kilmer with the winning run, as Red Whites of Poughkeepsie edged Augie's Club 99 of Highland, 2-1, for their third straight win in the City Softball League last night.

The scheduled second game of the doubleheader at Block Park was rained out.

Cliff Ong limited Augie's to four hits and blanked them after yielding a run in the first inning. Artie Penfield tripled off the right center-field fence with one out in the first inning and scored Augie's run on Bob Constable's sacrifice fly to center. Ong fanned nine.

AL Splits in Two Divisions; NL Rejects Plan

By ED SOINSBURY
UPI Sports Writer

CHICAGO (UPI)—Some of the tradition was out of the traditional American game—baseball—today, and National Baseball League President Warren Giles said, "I don't think the public will accept it."

American League baseball team owners voted Tuesday to separate the league into two divisions and play a 156-game schedule. The National League officially added two more teams but left all of them in the traditional single pennant race with a 162-game schedule.

The American League divisions were made strictly along geographical lines — Chicago, Minnesota, Kansas City, Oakland, Seattle and California in the western; New York, Boston, Detroit, Cleveland, Baltimore and Washington in the eastern.

The winner of a three-of-five game series between the division champions will determine the American League pennant winner and the World Series team. The playoff will be held at the same time the National League completes its regular season because owners in both leagues agreed in a meeting with baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert that their schedules would begin and end on the same day.

Differences Exist

But Giles said the officials of both leagues would have to meet soon to try to resolve what he called "some differences" obviously concerning the schedules and divisional organizations.

"We believe the playoff system is in contradiction to the tradition and history of the World Series," he said, "and would hate to see the team with the best percentage in on league play the fourth or fifth best percentage team in th other league. I don't think the public will accept it."

Chicago and Minnesota, opposed to the division lineup, were in the minority when the needed three-fourths of the 12-member American League voted for the separation. League president Joe Cronin said the vote was not unanimous, but he would not elaborate.

Each American League team will play 18 games with each team in its division—nine at home and nine away. Every team will also play 11 games with each team of the other division—six at home and five away with three teams, and five at home and six away with the other three. Home games with teams in the other division will alternate annually.

The National League ordered a schedule calling for 15 games with either other teams—eight at home and seven away with four of them, and seven at home and eight away with the other four. Each will also play 14 games—seven at home and seven away--with the other three clubs.

However, a National League spokesman emphasized its schedule was on a "year by year" basis, and that approval of the 162 game schedule for 1969 did not mean the same program would be followed in 1970.

The National League officials also informed the American League officially of the addition of San Diego and Montreal at their meeting Tuesday.

Twins' Early Harvest Puts 3-1 Win in Silo

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland's Sonny Siebert and Bill Rohr pitched seven hitless innings against Minnesota, but their combined effort was sort of like locking the barn after the horse escaped.

Siebert and Rohr didn't yield a hit from the second through the eighth innings Tuesday night at Minnesota, but the Twins touched Sibert for three in the first when they scored all of their runs in a 3-1 victory.

In other American League action, Oakland edged Boston 3-1, Detroit topped California 4-1 and Baltimore nipped the Chicago White Sox 2-1 in 10 innings at Milwaukee. The Washington at New York game was rained out.

Minnesota got its first four batters on base against Siebert in the first. John Roseboro doubled and scored on Rod Carew's single. After Harmon Killebrew walked, Tony Oliva doubled in Carew and Killebrew scored on Rich Reese's sacrifice fly.

Little Too Late

Siebert then stopped the Twins until the seventh when Rohr took over to complete the nice-going-but-too-late job.

Cleveland scored in the top of the first on Lee Maye's single, a fielder's choice and Tony Horton's double. May and Horton each got three of the seven hits off Jim Perry, who was bailed out of an eighth-inning jam by Al Worthington. It was Worthington's 10th save of the season.

Jim Lonborg, the Cy Young Award winner who broke a leg in a skiing accident, made his first appearance of the season in Boston's losing effort against Oakland.

The big Red Sox right-hander, who was reactivated last weekend, came in with two men out and one on in the sixth and got out of the jam. He also pitched the seventh, yielding one hit and no runs.

Ken Harrelson homered for Boston in the second, but Oakland came back with two runs on Jim Pagliaroni's blast in the bottom of the inning.

The Athletics also scored in the sixth on two walks and Joe Rudi's double.

Horton Slams Homer

Detroit broke loose for four runs against California's George Brunet in the first inning. Bill Freehan doubled in the first two runs and then scored on Willie Horton's homer.

California got its run in the bottom of the first on two walks and Rick Reichardt's single.

A crowd of 18,748 at Milwaukee saw Baltimore win on Paul Blair's leadoff homer against Hoyt Wilhelm in the 10th.

Baltimore took a 2-0 lead in the third when Curt Blefary was hit by a Tommy John pitch and Curt Motton homered. Chicago scored in the fourth on Luis Aparicio's single, a balk, fly ball and wild pitch. The White Sox tied it in the fifth on Duane Josephson's homer.

Sawyer Netmen Are Felled Again

Saugerties High almost won its first tennis match of the season yesterday as Catskill just nipped the Sawyers, 3-2, at Saugerties.

Ricky Buck and Dave Jenkins of Catskill toppled Ward Borchardt and Bruce Luhrs in the first two singles matches. Mike Harder kept the Sawyer hopes alive by beating Steve Dunn, but the Catskillian tandem of Buck and Jenkins topped Borchardt and Harter 8-5 to wrap up the match.

Saugerties, 0-10 overall and 0-8 in the DCSL, has just two more chances to improve on last year's one-win record. The Sawyers travel to Red Hook today and to Pine Plains tomorrow.

The score:

Ricky Buck (C) d. Bruce Luhrs, 8-1. Dave Jenkins (C) d. Ward Borchardt, 8-6. Mike Harder (S) d. Steve Dunn, 8-5. Buck and Jenkins (C) d. Borchardt and Harder, 8-5. Luhrs and Carl Ferrono (S) d. Dunn and Jim Guilderstern, 8-5.

Sawyer Netters Take 3-2 Victory

Saugerties High school's tennis team scored its first dual meet triumph of the year yesterday, handing DCSL foe, Red Hook, a 3-2 setback at Saugerties.

The Sawyers, 1-10 on the year and 1-8 in the loop, had to take it in the final doubles match. There, the team of Bruce Luhrs and Carl Ferrono turned away Jack Townsend and Wayne Johnson, 8-2.

Red Hook took the first match, Saugerties won the next two to gain the lead, then saw the match tied in the opening doubles as Warren Shaw and Dick Malloy were sent into overtime by the Sawyers' Ward Borcherdt and Mike Harder. The RH duo took a 10-8 victory.

Saugerties closes out the season Monday at Pine Plains.

The results:

Warren Shaw (RH) d. Bruce Luhrs, 8-1.

Ward Borcherdt (S) d. Richard Malloy, 8-1.

Mike Harder (S) d. Jack Townsend, 8-3.

Shaw-Malloy (R-H) d. Borcherdt-Harder, 10-8.

Luhrs-Carl Ferrono (S) d. Townsend-Wayne Johnson, 8-2.

Gloria Allen Posts Fifth "600" Setries

Gloria Allen of Woodstock posted her fourth "600" of the bowling season, first for the 1968-69 campaign with a 609 off games of 224, 197, 188 in the Summerettes league.

Team results: Stuart's Follies 3, National Bank of Orange and Ulster 0; Jim's Body Shop 0, P. J. Wieder Realtor 3.

Quarter Horse Show on Sunday

The first approved Quarter Horse Show in Ulster county will be held Sunday at 8 a. m., rain or shine, at the Lowlands Ranch Club in Lake Katrine.

The show is recognized by the American Quarter Horse Association. There will be 15 halter classes, seven performance classes and four youth activity classes.

Judge of the show will be Harry Hermann of Pittstown, N.J., who is recognized as one of the finest quarter horse judges in the country. All horses must be registered with the American Quarter Horse Association. The show is open to the public.

Quarter Horse Group Elects Lew McMahon

Lewis G. McMahon of Rifton, well known county horseman, has been elected to the board of directors of the New York State Quarter Horse Association.

McMahon joins another Ulster county resident, Mrs. Virgil Van Wagonen of Bearsville on the board. She was elected in January.

McMahon, who is known as "Mac" is a member of the Ulster County Sheriff's posse and vice president of the Woodstock Riding Club.

Mrs. Rusk Ties For Fifth Place

Mrs. George Rusk of Kingston, playing out of Woodstock Country Club, tied for fifth place with a net 79 in the Class A division of the Northeastern New York Women's Golf Association's weekly tournament Tuesday at Mohawk Golf Club in Schenectady.

Mrs. Rusk had a 97 gross and 18 handicap. Mrs. Douglas Coupe of the host club led the field with an 89. Low net went to Mrs. Thomas Boyan, also of Mohawk, with 94-17-74.

Lending Class B was Mrs. Robert Van Raden of Edison with gross 98. Net honors went another Mohawk swinger, Mrs. John Dutcher, with 99-22-77.

Middleton Cops Triple Jump in Pre-State Meet

Onteora's Fred Middleton, second in the triple jump to Highland's Lee Barrington in the Section Nine qualifying meet last weekend, yesterday turned the tables on everybody, coming up with his best leap ever, 45-4¼, to take first in the state meet eliminations.

Middleton, the diminutive but powerfully built jumper, was more than six inches farther out in the sand trap than runner-up Tom Barnes of Warwick.

The OCS trackster will lead the area-four athlete contingent to the state meet next weekend at Port Jefferson, L. I.

AL Splits in Two Divisions; NL Rejects Plan

By ED SOINSBURY
UPI Sports Writer

CHICAGO (UPI)—Some of the tradition was out of the traditional American game—baseball—today, and National Baseball League President Warren Giles said, "I don't think the public will accept it."

American League baseball team owners voted Tuesday to separate the league into two divisions and play a 156-game schedule. The National League officially added two more teams but left all of them in the traditional single pennant race with a 162-game schedule.

The American League divisions were made strictly along geographical lines — Chicago, Minnesota, Kansas City, Oakland, Seattle and California in the western; New York, Boston, Detroit, Cleveland, Baltimore and Washington in the eastern.

The winner of a three-of-five game series between the division champions will determine the American League pennant winner and the World Series team. The playoff will be held at the same time the National League completes its regular season because owners in both leagues agreed in a meeting with baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert that their schedules would begin and end on the same day.

Differences Exist

But Giles said the officials of both leagues would have to meet soon to try to resolve what he called "some differences" obviously concerning the schedules and divisional organizations.

"We believe the playoff system is in contradiction to the tradition and history of the World Series," he said, "and would hate to see the team with the best percentage in on league play the fourth or fifth best percentage team in th other league. I don't think the public will accept it."

Chicago and Minnesota, opposed to the division lineup, were in the minority when the needed three-fourths of the 12-member American League voted for the separation. League president Joe Cronin said the vote was not unanimous, but he would not elaborate.

Each American League team will play 18 games with each team in its division—nine at home and nine away. Every team will also play 11 games with each team of the other division—six at home and five away with three teams, and five at home and six away with the other three. Home games with teams in the other division will alternate annually.

The National League ordered a schedule calling for 15 games with either other teams—eight at home and seven away with four of them, and seven at home and eight away with the other four. Each will also play 14 games—seven at home and seven away--with the other three clubs.

However, a National League spokesman emphasized its schedule was on a "year by year" basis, and that approval of the 162 game schedule for 1969 did not mean the same program would be followed in 1970.

The National League officials also informed the American League officially of the addition of San Diego and Montreal at their meeting Tuesday.

Twins' Early Harvest Puts 3-1 Win in Silo

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland's Sonny Siebert and Bill Rohr pitched seven hitless innings against Minnesota, but their combined effort was sort of like locking the barn after the horse escaped.

Siebert and Rohr didn't yield a hit from the second through the eighth innings Tuesday night at Minnesota, but the Twins touched Sibert for three in the first when they scored all of their runs in a 3-1 victory.

In other American League action, Oakland edged Boston 3-1, Detroit topped California 4-1 and Baltimore nipped the Chicago White Sox 2-1 in 10 innings at Milwaukee. The Washington at New York game was rained out.

Minnesota got its first four batters on base against Siebert in the first. John Roseboro doubled and scored on Rod Carew's single. After Harmon Killebrew walked, Tony Oliva doubled in Carew and Killebrew scored on Rich Reese's sacrifice fly.

Little Too Late

Siebert then stopped the Twins until the seventh when Rohr took over to complete the nice-going-but-too-late job.

Cleveland scored in the top of the first on Lee Mayc's single, a fielder's choice and Tony Horton's double. May and Horton each got three of the seven hits off Jim Perry, who was bailed out of an eighth-inning jam by Al Worthington. It was Worthington's 10th save of the season.

Jim Lonborg, the Cy Young Award winner who broke a leg in a skiing accident, made his first appearance of the season in Boston's losing effort against Oakland.

The big Red Sox right-hander, who was reactivated last weekend, came in with two men out and one on in the sixth and got out of the jam. He also pitched the seventh, yielding one hit and no runs.

Ken Harrelson homered for Boston in the second, but Oakland came back with two runs on Jim Pagliaroni's blast in the bottom of the inning.

The Athletics also scored in the sixth on two walks and Joe Rudi's double.

Horton Slams Homer

Detroit broke loose for four runs against California's George Brunet in the first inning. Bill Freehan doubled in the first two runs and then scored on Willie Horton's homer.

California got its run in the bottom of the first on two walks and Rick Reichardt's single.

A crowd of 18,748 at Milwaukee saw Baltimore win on Paul Blair's leadoff homer against Hoyt Wilhelm in the 10th.

Baltimore took a 2-0 lead in the third when Curt Blefary was hit by a Tommy John pitch and Curt Motton homered. Chicago scored in the fourth on Luis Aparicio's single, a balk, fly ball and wild pitch. The White Sox tied it in the fifth on Duane Josephson's homer.

Sawyer Netmen Are Felled Again

Saugerties High almost won its first tennis match of the season yesterday as Catskill just nipped the Sawyers, 3-2, at Saugerties.

Ricky Buck and Dave Jenkins of Catskill toppled Ward Borchardt and Bruce Luhrs in the first two singles matches. Mike Harder kept the Sawyer hopes alive by beating Steve Dunn, but the Catskillian tandem of Buck and Jenkins topped Borchardt and Harter 8-5 to wrap up the match.

Saugerties, 0-10 overall and 0-8 in the DCSL, has just two more chances to improve on last year's one-win record. The Sawyers travel to Red Hook today and to Pine Plains tomorrow.

The score:

Ricky Buck (C) d. Bruce Luhrs, 8-1. Dave Jenkins (C) d. Ward Borchardt, 8 6. Mike Harder (S) d. Steve Dunn, 8-5. Buck and Jenkins' (C) d. Borchardt and Harder, 8-5. Luhrs and Carl Ferrono (S) d. Dunn and Jim Gulderstern, 8-5.

Siebert and Rohr didn't yield a hit from the second through the eighth innings Tuesday night at Minnesota, but the Twins touched Sibert for three in the first when they scored all of their runs in a 3-1 victory.

In other American League action, Oakland edged Boston 3-1, Detroit topped California 4-1

Sawyer Netters Take 3-2 Victory

Saugerties High school's tennis team scored its first dual meet triumph of the year yesterday, handing DCSL foe, Red Hook, a 3-2 setback at Saugerties.

The Sawyers, 1-10 on the year and 1-8 in the loop, had to take it in the final doubles match. There, the team of Bruce Luhrs and Carl Ferrono turned away Jack Townsend and Wayne Johnson, 8-2

Red Hook took the first match, Saugerties won the next two to gain the lead, then saw the match tied in the opening doubles as Warren Shaw and Dick Malloy were sent into overtime by the Sawyers' Ward Borcherdt and Mike Harder. The RH duo took a 10-8 victory.

Saugerties closes out the season Monday at Pine Plains.

The results:

Warren Shaw (RH) d. Bruce Luhrs, 8-1.

Ward Borcherdt (S) d. Richard Malloy, 8-1.

Mike Harder (S) d. Jack Townsend, 8-3.

Shaw-Malloy (R-H) d. Borcherdt-Harder, 10-8.

Luhrs-Carl Ferrono (S) d. Townsend-Wayne Johnson, 8-2.

Gloria Allen Posts Fifth "600" Setries

Gloria Allen of Woodstock posted her fourth "600" of the bowling season, first for the 1968-69 campaign with a 609 off games of 224, 197, 188 in the Summerettes league.

Team results: Stuart's Follies 3, National Bank of Orange and Ulster 0; Jim's Body Shop 0, P. J. Wieder Realtor 3.

Mrs. Rusk Ties For Fifth Place

Mrs. George Rusk of Kingston, playing out of Woodstock Country Club, tied for fifth place with a net 79 in the Class A division of the Northeastern New York Women's Golf Association's weekly tournament Tuesday at Mohawk Golf Club in Schenectady.

Mrs. Rusk had a 97 gross and 18 handicap. Mrs. Douglas Coupe of the host club led the field with an 89. Low net went to Mrs. Thomas Boyan, also of Mohawk, with 94-17-74.

Lending Class B was Mrs. Robert Van Raden of Edison with gross 98. Net honors went another Mohawk swinger, Mrs. John Dutcher, with 99-22-77.

Quarter Horse Show on Sunday

The first approved Quarter Horse Show in Ulster county will be held Sunday at 8 a. m., rain or shine, at the Lowlands Ranch Club in Lake Katrine.

The show is recognized by the American Quarter Horse Association. There will be 15 halter classes, seven performance classes and four youth activity classes.

Judge of the show will be Harry Hermann of Pittstown, N.J., who is recognized as one of the finest quarter horse judges in the country. All horses must be registered with the American Quarter Horse Association. The show is open to the public.

Quarter Horse Group Elects Lew McMahon

Lewis G. McMahon of Rifton, well known county horseman, has been elected to the board of directors of the New York State Quarter Horse Association.

McMahon joins another Ulster county resident, Mrs. Virgil Van Wagonen of Bearsville on the board. She was elected in January.

Middleton Cops Triple Jump in Pre-State Meet

Onteora's Fred Middleton, second in the triple jump to Highland's Lee Barrington in the Section Nine qualifying meet last weekend, yesterday turned the tables on everybody, coming up with his best leap ever, 45-4¼, to take first in the state meet eliminations.

Middleton, the diminutive but powerfully built jumper, was more than six inches farther out in the sand trap than runner-up Tom Barnes of Warwick.

The OCS trackster will lead the area-four athlete contingent to the state meet next weekend at Port Jefferson, L. I. Another entrant is Tom Murray of Ellenville, second in the 220, hitting the tape in 0:22.8, fourtenths of a second behind winner Don Stevens of Valley Central. Murray finished third in the 100 to Stevens and Ed Bria, the champ.

Highland's Lance Mann, second in the long jump to Warwick's Ken Kusek, and Craig Hubbell (also of Onteora), who was upset in the two-mile, finishing second to Mike Meehan of Clarkstown, will go.

The other winner, Gary Boice, victor in the mile, will be unable to compete in the state meet because of conflicting plans. Joe Landolt of Suffern will take his place as the section's top entrant, moving Rich Donovan of Monticello up from third and into the state meet.

The summary:

120-High hurdles—Darrell Chase (PJ), Harlow (M-W), Strausser (S). Time 0:15.2.

180-Low hurdles — Chase (PJ), Doherty (CL), Harris (NY). Time 0:20.5.

Shakeup Continues At BOCES in Paltz

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

The shakeup of BOCES at New Paltz continues after it was learned that the services of three women employes of the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center were terminated as of Friday.

All of the women had been directly associated with Dr. Raymond G. Kenyon, former director of the center who was dismissed last month by the Board of Cooperative Educational Services, acting on the recommendation of the center's board of trustees.

On May 15, A.E. Woolley, Democratic State Senatorial candidate, resigned his $15,000 a year post as associate director of the regional center, citing Henry Hopper, director of BOCES, and Dr. George Sullivan, chairman of the BOCES board of trustees, as being "unethical" in their termination of Dr. Kenyon.

It was Woolley, also, who predicted that Hopper and Sullivan, along with the trustees boards of the two educational organizations, would decide "to withdraw the expertise of the staff from the region.

Protests Attitude

"And that is precisely what is going to happen," he said, adding, "I am resigning in protest of the attitude that exists."

The three women who have been put on terminal leave are Mrs. Elizabeth Pugh of New Paltz, $5,650 a year office manager of the center; Mrs. Marie T. Reilly of Modena, $4,200 a year secretary to the Talented Art Program (TAP), and Mrs. Frances Almack of Wallkill, a $4,000-per-year secretary at the center.

Although BOCES director Hopper, acting under the state's educational law, would give no reason for the dismissals, it was learned that the women were informed, on May 3, that they would have to take civil service examinations for the purpose of being "properly classified."

In a letter to the center's staff, the BOCES director stated, "In a current directive from the State Education Department, a determination has been made that employes working with federal ESEA (Elementary and Secondary Educational Act.) projects must now be properly classified by local civil service officials."

The women were instructed to fill out an enclosed application form and not to "insert title of position," in that "civil service will determine that at a later date because of the new and unique titles assigned to program positions."

Experience Noted

The directive had to be complied with by May 10. The women, however, sent a communication of their own to Hopper asking whether they would "have to start on the lowest rung of the civil service ladder," adding that they had 25 or more years in experience behind them.

Neither BOCES, Hopper, or the center's 15-member board of trustees answered the women and, on May 23, the regional center's board met and the next day informed the three female staff members that "your services with the Board will be terminated as of June 7."

It has not been learned whether Mrs. Irma Gray, $13,000 a year assistant director of the center, was also issued the same directive. Mrs. Gray may, it has been alledged, fall under a different classification and may not be subject to the same ruling.

According to a release issued Monday, by Dr. Kenyon, the purposes, of the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center were: designing programs to meet regional needs and assisting local school districts in planning their programs; implementing and evaluating new educational techniques or programs on pilot basis; disseminating information concerning new techniques or programs; coordinating the efforts and resources of the various educational and cultural agencies of the region, and encouraging innovation on the part of the schools and other ecucational agencies."

Reportedly, during 1966 through 1967, the center's staff, under Kenyon and Woolley "designed and planned 19 innovative programs in the Mid-Hudson region.

"The various programs that were submitted to both the New York State Educational Department and the United States Office of Education, Washington D.C., for approval, negotiation and grants totaled approximately $1,500,000 for one year," the release states.

According to Hopper, the federal grant for the center runs out on June 30. It has been reported also that a question exists as to whether there will be trouble in obtaining new fundings.

Currently, the acting director of the center is Leon Greenberg of the BOCES staff. BOCES acts as the legal arm of the center.

Vassar Gets $50,000 Ford Foundation Grant

The Ford Foundation will make a grant of $50,000 to Vassar College as part of the foundation's new national program to assist humanities at the four-year liberal arts college level.

The Foundation today announced grants totaling $2,700,000 for 61 leading colleges. The funds will be used for grants-in-aid to individual humanities faculty members for research, study in new disciplines, refresher courses, and other opportunities for intellectual stimulation. Stipends will provide for such expenses as secretarial assistance, research materials and assistance, travel, and released time.

Under the terms of the grants schedules call for a total matching contribution by the college that will at least equal the Foundation's grant over the four-year period. From the fifth year on, each college has committed itself to continue the program by providing annually for the humanities an amount equal to at least half the total Foundation grant. These sums will be in addition to those funds presently budgeted by the colleges.

County Historian Heads Holland Society Branch

Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, Ulster County historian, was elected president of the local branch of the Holland Society of New York at a recent dinner meeting at Williams Lake Hotel.

Others named to office were Lloyd R. LeFevre, Earle H. Houghtaling, and Dr. Virgil B. DeWitt, vice presidents; Howard DeWitt, secretary and Richard Lent, treasurer.

Guest speaker was Dr. John F. Hurst, president of the Wayne County Historical Society, who gave an eye witness account of the 1917 revolution in Russia.

Louis D. LeFevre and Joseph E. Hasbrouck Jr. were honored as having been members of the society for the greatest number of years. The Brink family had the most members as a family unit with the Hasbroucks second.

Charles E. Deyo was chairman of the nominating committee Earle Houghtaling is outgoing president.

Newburgh Trip Off to June 19

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Departure to Washington by bus for the Poor People's March has been postponed from Thursday to June 19, Samuel A. T. Hodge Jr., president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, announced today.

Hodge said the postponement was made to allow Washington officials of the march more time to prepare for the Newburgh group's arrival.

Governor Platoon Seeks Applicants

Sergeant Jacqueline Shertzer, the Woman Marine representative from this area has announced that the State of New York and every other state across the country is seeking its Miss Woman Marine to represent them in the Governor's Platoon.

This special platoon is being formed in conjunction with the 25th Anniversary of the Women Marines and is scheduled to arrive at Parris Island, S.C. during August. Platoon members will undergo seven weeks of training at which time each member will receive their state flag to be used in ceremonies at Parris Island.

For information contact local Marine Representative Sgt. Clifford Claypool, Broadway and Maiden Lane. Applications must be received before June 25, in order to qualify.

New Housing Bill Passes in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a $5 billion housing bill containing a major new program to help poor families buy homes or rent apartments.

A 67-4 vote Tuesday sent the bill to the House where a Banking subcommittee already has approved legislation of similar scope.

Sponsors voiced confidence the measure will be sent to President Johnson before final adjournment, although they forecast some trouble for it in the House floor debate.

Johnson issued a statement applauding Senate approval of what he called "the largest and most comprehensive housing bill in the history of our nation."

The bill's key feature authorizes broad new federal subsidies to help low-income families buy or rent homes.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, leader of the Poor People's Campaign here, said the measure would go a long way toward meeting his group's housing goals.

The administration figures the new subsidies should make possible 85,000 starts on new and rehabilitated units available for purchase by low-income families in the next year—along with 90,000 rental units for the poor.

These would provide more than half of the 300,000 government-subsidized housing starts for these families which the administration has projected for fiscal 1969 starting July 1.

Congressional experts emphasized, however, that the new programs offer no instant miracles.

They noted the administration has projected actual expenditures of only $6.9 million for the home-ownership plan in the year ahead and $5.2 million for the apartments.

This would mean very little housing actually would become available during the upcoming fiscal year.

Under the plan, the government would subsidize the monthly mortgage payments by paying all of the interest charges above 1 per cent in the case of those with the lowest incomes.

Many home buyers now must pay 6¾ per cent or more to get mortgages.

The 303-page omnibus housing bill has dozens of other important provisions.

It includes new money authorizations for many existing programs designed to deal with problems of city slums and the impoverished.

In this category are model cities, rent subsidies, low-rent public housing, urban renewal, mass transit, rehabilitation loans and comprehensive planning aid.

Wrapped into the measure are far-reaching new provisions that would:

—Set up a government insurance corporation to help make policies available to homeowners and businessmen in riot-vulnerable areas.

—Establish a national flood insurance program.

—Make available a new package of federal help to developers of new, self-contained communities.

Shakeup Continues At BOCES in Paltz

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

The shakeup of BOCES at New Paltz continues after it was learned that the services of three women employes of the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center were terminated as of Friday.

All of the women had been directly associated with Dr. Raymond G. Kenyon, former director of the center who was dismissed last month by the Board of Cooperative Educational Services, acting on the recommendation of the center's board of trustees.

On May 15, A.E. Woolley, Democratic State Senatorial candidate, resigned his $15,000 a year post as associate director of the regional center, citing Henry Hopper, director of BOCES, and Dr. George Sullivan, chairman of the BOCES board of trustees, as being "unethical" in their termination of Dr. Kenyon.

It was Woolley, also, who predicted that Hopper and Sullivan, along with the trustees boards of the two educational organizations, would decide "to withdraw the expertise of the staff from the region.

Protests Attitude

"And that is precisely what is going to happen," he said, adding, "I am resigning in protest of the attitude that exists."

The three women who have been put on terminal leave are Mrs. Elizabeth Pugh of New Paltz, $5,650 a year office manager of the center; Mrs. Marie T. Reilly of Modena, $4,200 a year secretary to the Talented Art Program (TAP), and Mrs. Frances Almack of Wallkill, a $4,000-per-year secretary at the center.

Although BOCES director Hopper, acting under the state's educational law, would give no reason for the dismissals, it was learned that the women were informed, on May 3, that they would have to take civil service examinations for the purpose of being "properly classified."

In a letter to the center's staff, the BOCES director stated, "In a current directive from the State Education Department, a determination has been made that employes working with federal ESEA (Elementary and Secondary Educational Act.) projects must now be properly classified by local civil service officials."

The women were instructed to fill out an enclosed application form and not to "insert title of position," in that "civil service will determine that at a later date because of the new and unique titles assigned to program positions."

Experience Noted

The directive had to be complied with by May 10. The women, however, sent a communication of their own to Hopper asking whether they would "have to start on the lowest rung of the civil service ladder," adding that they had 25 or more years in experience behind them.

Neither BOCES, Hopper, or the center's 15-member board of trustees answered the women and, on May 23, the regional center's board met and the next day informed the three female staff members that "your services with the Board will be terminated as of June 7."

It has not been learned whether Mrs. Irma Gray, $13,000 a year assistant director of the center, was also issued the same directive. Mrs. Gray may, it has been alledged, fall under a different classification and may not be subject to the same ruling.

According to a release issued Monday, by Dr. Kenyon, the purposes, of the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center were: designing programs to meet regional needs and assisting local school districts in planning their programs; implementing and evaluating new educational techniques or programs on pilot basis; disseminating information concerning new techniques or programs; coordinating the efforts and resources of the various educational and cultural agencies of the region, and encouraging innovation on the part of the schools and other ecucational agencies."

Reportedly, during 1966 through 1967, the center's staff, under Kenyon and Woolley "designed and planned 19 innovative programs in the Mid-Hudson region.

"The various programs that were submitted to both the New York State Educational Department and the United States Office of Education, Washington D.C., for approval, negotiation and grants totaled approximately $1,500,000 for one year," the release states.

According to Hopper, the federal grant for the center runs out on June 30. It has been reported also that a question exists as to whether there will be trouble in obtaining new fundings.

Currently, the acting director of the center is Leon Greenberg of the BOCES staff. BOCES acts as the legal arm of the center.

Vassar Gets $50,000 Ford Foundation Grant

The Ford Foundation will make a grant of $50,000 to Vassar College as part of the foundation's new national program to assist humanities at the four-year liberal arts college level.

The Foundation today announced grants totaling $2,700,000 for 61 leading colleges. The funds will be used for grants-in-aid to individual humanities faculty members for research, study in new disciplines, refresher courses, and other opportunities for intellectual stimulation. Stipends will provide for such expenses as secretarial assistance, research materials and assistance, travel, and released time.

Under the terms of the grants schedules call for a total matching contribution by the college that will at least equal the Foundation's grant over the four-year period. From the fifth year on, each college has committed itself to continue the program by providing annually for the humanities an amount equal to at least half the total Foundation grant. These sums will be in addition to those funds presently budgeted by the colleges.

County Historian Heads Holland Society Branch

Others named to office were Lloyd R. LeFevre, Earle H. Houghtaling, and Dr. Virgil B. DeWitt, vice presidents; Howard DeWitt, secretary and Richard Lent, treasurer.

Guest speaker was Dr. John F. Hurst, president of the Wayne County Historical Society, who gave an eye witness account of the 1917 revolution in Russia.

Louis D. LeFevre and Joseph E. Hasbrouck Jr. were honored as having been members of the society for the greatest number of years. The Brink family had the most members as a family unit with the Hasbroucks second.

Charles E. Deyo was chairman of the nominating committee Earle Houghtaling is outgoing president.

Newburgh Trip Off to June 19

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (AP) — Departure to Washington by bus for the Poor People's March has been postponed from Thursday to June 19, Samuel A. T. Hodge Jr., president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, announced today.

Hodge said the postponement was made to allow Washington officials of the march more time to prepare for the Newburgh group's arrival.

Governor Platoon Seeks Applicants

Sergeant Jacqueline Shertzer, the Woman Marine representative from this area has announced that the State of New York and every other state across the country is seeking its Miss Woman Marine to represent them in the Governor's Platoon.

This special platoon is being formed in conjunction with the 25th Anniversary of the Women Marines and is scheduled to arrive at Parris Island, S.C. during August. Platoon members will undergo seven weeks of training at which time each member will receive their state flag to be used in ceremonies at Parris Island.

For information contact local Marine Representative Sgt. Clifford Claypool, Broadway and Maiden Lane. Applications must be received before June 25, in order to qualify.

New Housing Bill Passes in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed a $5 billion housing bill containing a major new program to help poor families buy homes or rent apartments.

A 67-4 vote Tuesday sent the bill to the House where a Banking subcommittee already has approved legislation of similar scope.

Sponsors voiced confidence the measure will be sent to President Johnson before final adjournment, although they forecast some trouble for it in the House floor debate.

Johnson issued a statement applauding Senate approval of what he called "the largest and most comprehensive housing bill in the history of our nation."

The bill's key feature authorizes broad new federal subsidies to help low-income families buy or rent homes.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, leader of the Poor People's Campaign here, said the measure would go a long way toward meeting his group's housing goals.

The administration figures the new subsidies should make possible 85,000 starts on new and rehabilitated units available for purchase by low-income families in the next year—along with 90,000 rental units for the poor.

These would provide more than half of the 300,000 government-subsidized housing starts for these families which the administration has projected for fiscal 1969 starting July 1.

Congressional experts emphasized, however, that the new programs offer no instant miracles.

They noted the administration has projected actual expenditures of only $6.9 million for the home-ownership plan in the year ahead and $5.2 million for the apartments.

This would mean very little housing actually would become available during the upcoming fiscal year.

Under the plan, the government would subsidize the monthly mortgage payments by paying all of the interest charges above 1 per cent in the case of those with the lowest incomes.

Many home buyers now must pay 6¾ per cent or more to get mortgages.

The 303-page omnibus housing bill has dozens of other important provisions.

It includes new money authorizations for many existing programs designed to deal with problems of city slums and the impoverished.

In this category are model cities, rent subsidies, low-rent public housing, urban renewal, mass transit, rehabilitation loans and comprehensive planning aid.

Wrapped into the measure are far-reaching new provisions that would:

—Set up a government insurance corporation to help make policies available to homeowners and businessmen in riot-vulnerable areas.

—Establish a national flood insurance program.

—Make available a new package of federal help to developers of new, self-contained communities.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that sealed Proposals are sought and requested, according to the Contract Documents for Alterations to Existing All Purpose Building & Science Building, as set forth in the Drawings and Specifications of Albert Edward Milliken, Architect, 14 Pearl St., Kingston, New York, Job No. 642-B. The Proposals will be for separate contracts for (1) General Construction; (2) Plumbing; (3) Heating & Ventilating; (4) Electrical work.

Separate sealed Proposals completed on forms herein, shall be received by the County of Ulster on or before 4.00 P. M. Friday, June 7, 1968 at the Office of the President, Ulster County Community College, Stone Ridge, New York and at that time publicly opened and read aloud.

Instruction to Bidders, Proposal Forms, General Conditions Governing All Contracts, Drawings & Specifications may be examined by Bidders at the office of Albert Edward Milliken Architect, 14 Pearl Street, Kingston, New York. Copies of these documents may be obtained at this office upon deposit of cash or certified check in the amount of $50.00 for the first set of Bidding Documents, and $25.00 for each additional set.

Deposits shall be returned to any Bidder duly submitting a Proposal, provided that all such documents are returned in a condition free of markings, defacements and the like within 30 days following award of Contracts or rejection of Proposals. One-half such deposit will be refunded to all non-bidders upon return of all documents in conditions free of markings, defacements and the like.

As a guarantee of good faith, each proposal must be accompanied by the deposit of a certified check payable to the order of the County Treasurer, Ulster County, New York or suitable Bid Bond, in the sum amounting to 5% of the total amount of the bid. All deposits, except that of the successful Bidder will be returned within ninety days after the opening of the Bids.

The right is reserved to waive any informality in or reject any or all bids submitted.

No bidder may withdraw a bid within 45 days after the actual date of the opening thereof.

Attention of Bidders is particularly called to the minimum wage rates to be paid under the contract.

Upon acceptance of any bid, the successful Bidder shall execute a contract with the County of Ulster, State of New York and furnish a suitable Performance Bond in accordance with the General Conditions of the contract and acceptable to the County Attorney. The deposit heretofore mentioned for 5% of the bid shall be forfeited and retained as liquidated damages if the successful Bidder neglects or refuses to execute the said contract and furnish said bond.

Dated this 24th day of May, 1968.

LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL PROPERTY

TAKE NOTICE that the Town of Hurley will accept sealed bids for the purchase of a parcel of land situate off Mt. View Avenue in said Town.

The said property consists of a vacant lot of an acre more or less, and is more particularly described in the Ulster County Clerk's Office in Liber 816 of Deeds at page 99.

The said bids must be delivered to the Town Clerk on or before June 3rd, 1968, at 8:00 p. m., when they will be opened at the Town Garage, situate on Dug Hill Road, in said Town of Hurley.

The successful bidder must pay a 10 per cent deposit and upon the acceptance of his bid the balance will be due within 30 days.

The Town reserves the right to reject all bids.

Dated: May 27th, 1968
RAYMOND C. CROSWELL,
Town Clerk

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed bids for Contract "C," Phase II Site Improvemenits for the Ulster County Community College at Stone Ridge, will be received by the County of Ulster at the Office of the president of the Ulster County Community College at Stone Ridge, Town of Marbletown until 4:00 p.m., D.S.T., on June 7, 1968, and then at said office publicly opened and read aloud.

The Information for Bidders, Form of Bid, Form of Contract, Plans, Specifications and Form of Bid Bond and Performance Bond may be examined at the office of the president of the Community College, Stone Ridge, New York or at the office of Brinnier and Larios, Professional Engineers, 79 St. James St., Kingston, N.Y. and copies thereof obtained upon the payment of $20 for each set. Any bidder, upon returning such set promptly and in good condition, will be refunded his payment, and any non-bidder upon so returning such set will be refunded $10.

The Board reserves the right to waive any informalities in and to reject any and all bids.

Each bidder must deposit with his bid security in an amount of not less than five per centum (5%) of the base bid in the form and subject to the conditions provided in the Information for Bidders.

Attention is also directed to the fact that the contractor will be governed by Section 220 of the Labor Law as amended relating to hours of labor and prevailing rate of wage, also schedule of minimum wages to be paid workmen, laborers, and mechanics as designated by the Industrial Commissioner to be paid laborers employed in the performance of the contract either by the contractor or subcontractor; also 220A and 220B of the Labor Law as amended in relation to the payment of wages earned by employees upon public works.

No bidder may withdraw his bid within forty-five (45) days after the actual date of the opening thereof.

Dear Abby

'Ticketed' for 'Parking'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
[© 1968 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY : I am 18 and my boy friend is 19. We sometimes will come home from a movie or something and we will sit in his car for a while. We sit right in front of my house, Abby. If we wanted to neck up a storm, we could go park on a lonely road, couldn't we? I am not saying we have never exchanged a kiss once in a while, but it's no big make-out session. We talk mostly.

We don't do anything in the car we wouldn't do in the house, but my mother says she doesn't want us out there — even talking. She says the neighbors are getting their eyes full and I am ruining my reputation. I could care less what the neighbors say as my conscience is clear. I would like your opinion.

NOTHING TO HIDE

DEAR NOTHING: As long as you don't do anything in the car that you wouldn't do in the house, do it in the house. A girl has only one reputation, so take care that yours is as clear as your conscience.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Your advice is desperately needed if my wedding is to be a joyous occasion next month.

My father is dead and my mother insists that I have my brother walk me down the aisle and give me away.

Abby, I do not want my brother to walk me down the aisle as he drinks heavily, is foul-mouthed, ill-mannered, and he spoils every gathering he attends with his crudeness. He has no friends except a few drinking bums like himself.

I am marrying a fine man whose family lives out of town, and they are coming here for our wedding. I suppose every family has a skeleton in their closet, but I don't wish to put mine on display. I am paying for my own wedding and don't want it spoiled.

My mother has made excuses for my brother all his life, and now she tells me if I don't have him give me away she will not attend my wedding. Please help me decide what to do.

TORN

DEAR TORN: It's your wedding and it should be your day, and I think your mother is being unfair by putting you in the position of having to make such a difficult choice. Ask your clergyman to talk to her. If she is firm in her refusal to attend your wedding unless you ask your brother to give you away, you would be justified in telling your mother that you don't want your wedding spoiled by him, but you want with all your heart to have her there, and the rest is up to her.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for "not ready" — the young married woman who wasn't ready for a family, but was made to feel it was her "duty."

Her letter could have been written by me, except our reasons for waiting are financial. If we both work another five years we will have our mortgage paid off and will be in a better position to afford a family.

Abby, you would be doing me and lots of other girls a big favor if you would put a few lines in your column telling people how rude it is to ask a girl, "Why aren't you pregnant yet?"

I don't think the answer is anybody's business but my husband's and mine. Just the same a lot of people keep on asking.

NOT READY EITHER

* * *

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

* * *

Quick Quiz

Q—When was the first time the Electoral College was invited to witness an inaugural?

A—The 531 electors, of whom all but 59 were Democrats, were invited by President-elect Franklin Roosevelt to attend his inaugural at Washington, D. C., on March 4, 1933. This was the first time the Electoral College was invited to witness an inaugural.

* * *

Q—What French holiday corresponds to our Fourth of July?

A—July 14, Bastille Day, commemorating the storming of the Bastille prison in 1789.

* * *

Q—Which planet is both a morning and an evening star?

A—Venus, the most brilliant planet in our solar system.

* * *

Q — What year in American history is known as "the year in which there was no summer"?

A — 1816, in which frost and snow occurred in June and throughout the summer months in New England.

* * *

Q—Does Great Britain have any colonies in Central America?

A—British Honduras, formerly called Belize, is Great Britain's only colony in Central America.

* * *

Q—When was Dec. 25 adopted as the date for the celebration of Christmas?

A—In 345, by order of Bishop Liberius of Rome. The date was probably chosen because the feast of the sun, or winter solstice, was a Roman feast celebrating the victory of light over darkness. This idea was easily turned from a pagan to a Christian one, since Christians consider Christ as the light of life.

Q—Who is the custodian of the public moneys?

A—The Treasurer of the United States, not the Secretary of the Treasury.

* * *

Q — How did the little toy bear get the name of "Teddy"?

A — After Theodore Roosevelt who, on a hunting trip, refused to shoot a small bear. C.K. Berryman, famed cartoonist, immortalized the incident, and toy bears, then new to the market, soon became known as "Teddy bears."

* * *

Q — By what name is a collective farm known in Israel?

A — A kibbutz.

* * *

Q—Are there any extant remains of King Solomon's Temple?

A—The stones in the bottom of the Wailing Wall in Jerusalem are all that remains of the once great temple.

* * *

Q—When was the King James Version of the Bible compiled?

A—The work was begun in 1604 and published in complete form for the first time in 1611.

Bridge

Partner Bid for No Reason

By Oswald and James Jacoby

Here is another example of bridge astigmatism which causes a player to overlook the fact that his partner is a living, breathing human being who can make decisions of his own.

North had 15 high card points and a lot of honor cards. He might well have made a two no-trump response. After all, in standard American bidding the two no-trump response shows 13 to 15 points, but North liked his hand.

We have no real quarrel with his three no-trump response. Everyone is entitled to overbid a trifle on occasion.

We have a real quarrel with his five heart bid. North had told his full story and just a little more when he responded three no-trump. His partner had heard this three no-trump call and had chosen to go to four hearts. South wasn't trying for a slam. He just didn't like no-trump and did have two good five card major suits.

East played his ace of clubs on the first trick. He continued by cashing his ace of spades and since there is never any way to eat the ace of trumps, South was down one.

As is so frequently the case, North who was solely responsible for the debacle, blamed South: "Why shouldn't you just let me play in three no-trump? I would have made it."

South replied, "Right but how could I tell that you had three stoppers in clubs? In any event, you should have passed to four hearts."

South was right. If South were fully interested in a slam he could have bid something other than four hearts. It didn't matter, anyway. North had nothing extra to show and no excuse for his five heart bid.

Dear Abby

'Ticketed' for 'Parking'

[© 1968 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY : I am 18 and my boy friend is 19. We sometimes will come home from a movie or something and we will sit in his car for a while. We sit right in front of my house, Abby. If we wanted to neck up a storm, we could go park on a lonely road, couldn't we? I am not saying we have never exchanged a kiss once in a while, but it's no big make-out session. We talk mostly.

We don't do anything in the car we wouldn't do in the house, but my mother says she doesn't want us out there — even talking. She says the neighbors are getting their eyes full and I am ruining my reputation. I could care less what the neighbors say as my conscience is clear. I would like your opinion.

NOTHING TO HIDE

DEAR NOTHING: As long as you don't do anything in the car that you wouldn't do in the house, do it in the house. A girl has only one reputation, so take care that yours is as clear as your conscience.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Your advice is desperately needed if my wedding is to be a joyous occasion next month.

My father is dead and my mother insists that I have my brother walk me down the aisle and give me away.

Abby, I do not want my brother to walk me down the aisle as he drinks heavily, is foul-mouthed, ill-mannered, and he spoils every gathering he attends with his crudeness. He has no friends except a few drinking bums like himself.

I am marrying a fine man whose family lives out of town, and they are coming here for our wedding. I suppose every family has a skeleton in their closet, but I don't wish to put mine on display. I am paying for my own wedding and don't want it spoiled.

My mother has made excuses for my brother all his life, and now she tells me if I don't have him give me away she will not attend my wedding. Please help me decide what to do.

TORN

DEAR TORN: It's your wedding and it should be your day, and I think your mother is being unfair by putting you in the position of having to make such a difficult choice. Ask your clergyman to talk to her. If she is firm in her refusal to attend your wedding unless you ask your brother to give you away, you would be justified in telling your mother that you don't want your wedding spoiled by him, but you want with all your heart to have her there, and the rest is up to her.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for "not ready" — the young married woman who wasn't ready for a family, but was made to feel it was her "duty."

Her letter could have been written by me, except our reasons for waiting are financial. If we both work another five years we will have our mortgage paid off and will be in a better position to afford a family.

Abby, you would be doing me and lots of other girls a big favor if you would put a few lines in your column telling people how rude it is to ask a girl, "Why aren't you pregnant yet?"

I don't think the answer is anybody's business but my husband's and mine. Just the same a lot of people keep on asking.

NOT READY EITHER

Quick Quiz

Q—When was the first time the Electoral College was invited to witness an inaugural?

A—The 531 electors, of whom all but 59 were Democrats, were invited by President-elect Franklin Roosevelt to attend his inaugural at Washington, D. C., on March 4, 1933. This was the first time the Electoral College was invited to witness an inaugural.

* * *

Q—What French holiday corresponds to our Fourth of July?

A—July 14, Bastille Day, commemorating the storming of the Bastille prison in 1789.

* * *

Q—Which planet is both a morning and an evening star?

A—Venus, the most brilliant planet in our solar system.

* * *

Q — What year in American history is known as "the year in which there was no summer"?

A — 1816, in which frost and snow occurred in June and throughout the summer months in New England.

* * *

Q—Does Great Britain have any colonies in Central America?

A—British Honduras, formerly called Belize, is Great Britain's only colony in Central America.

* * *

Q—When was Dec. 25 adopted as the date for the celebration of Christmas?

A—In 345, by order of Bishop Liberius of Rome. The date was probably chosen because the feast of the sun, or winter solstice, was a Roman feast celebrating the victory of light over darkness. This idea was easily turned from a pagan to a Christian one, since Christians consider Christ as the light of life.

Q—Who is the custodian of the public moneys?

A—The Treasurer of the United States, not the Secretary of the Treasury.

* * *

Q — How did the little toy bear get the name of "Teddy"?

A — After Theodore Roosevelt who, on a hunting trip, refused to shoot a small bear, C.K. Berryman, famed cartoonist, immortalized the incident, and toy bears, then new to the market, soon became known as "Teddy bears."

* * *

Q — By what name is a collective farm known in Israel?

A — A kibbutz.

* * *

Q—Are there any extant remains of King Solomon's Temple?

A—The stones in the bottom of the Wailing Wall in Jerusalem are all that remains of the once great temple.

* * *

Q—When was the King James Version of the Bible compiled?

A—The work was begun in 1604 and published in complete form for the first time in 1611.

CBS Reports: Very Illuminating

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — "CBS Reports," in an illuminating and sometimes dismaying inspection of merchandising techniques used to sell a political candidate, neatly peeled off the veneer of an old American institution.

The hour program Tuesday night opened with a quote from Leonard Hall, a former chairman of the Republican National Committee, that "you sell your candidates and programs the way a business sells its products."

It concluded with Eric Sevareid stating that the sales techniques "are probably not evil in themselves, only evil men could make them that, but they can be misleading."

Behind Scenes Report

There was a fascinating film study of the behind-the-scenes activity during the campaign a year ago of Sol Wachtler, 37, Republican candidate for the $30,000-a-year post of county executive of Nassau, a large residential area on Long Island.

Efforts were shown to raise funds, to stimulate interest, to get publicity. Professional politicians explained frankly that the candidate was chosen on the basis of specific selling points, including his age, looks and ethnic background.

Most interesting to the average voter-viewer, however, was the portion showing activities of the public relations experts called into develop the right image for the candidate.

He was instructed how to dress—"You can't come on as a gentleman—even, on occasion, the tie off. . .and no cufflinks." He was instructed to forget the cameras.

His advisors sat around discussing his slogan, his theme and his conduct as if he were an inanimate object. At one point the candidate complained almost wistfully that "sometimes I find myself rebelling against their advice—even though I know its good advice—because I resent the fact that they're trying to market me as a product."

Lost Race

Wachtler, as it turned out, lost the election to the Democratic incumbent although it was a spirited campaign and a close race.

It was a valuable program for the viewer and succeeded in showing some of the nuts and bolts of the political structure. Occasionally one wondered why Wachtler's team had permitted the exposition. It sometimes seemed as indiscreet as having some fabled beauty explain how she had her face lifted and revealing the name of her corsetmaker.

No Fantasy, Just Quiet Talks Is Hope

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

PARIS (AP) — Ambassador W. Averell Harriman is expected to make a new attempt in coming sessions of the Vietnam peace talks to move them beyond the stage of propaganda exchanges and into meaningful secret discussions on de-escalating the war.

Harriman and his advisers think there is little chance of early agreement from Ambassador Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam to do this. But they insist private diplomacy will have to be employed if the talks are to make any progress.

President Johnson said in Washington Tuesday that the time has come to get away from "fantasy and propaganda" and into "quiet, serious discussions."

Will Continue Patience

While expressing dissatisfaction with the two and a half weeks of negotiations, Johnson declared: "We shall continue patiently to see if the Paris talks can yield constructive results."

Harriman and Thuy meet behind closed doors, but statements are issued afterward and spokesmen for both sides brief newsmen on what happened.

Harriman reportedly wants an opportunity to sit down with Thuy informally and explore—without commitments on either side—the possibilities of working out arrangements to reduce military operations in Vietnam.

Harriman and Thuy stated conflicting positions on this problem in their first session May 13 and have repeated them frequently since then.

Thuy says the United States must halt the rest of the bombing and other attacks on North Vietnam before broader peacemaking issues can be discussed. Harriman insists that North Vietnam must in some manner scale down its own military operations to justify the cessation of U.S. attacks against the North.

Repeats Offer

Johnson ended all bombing and other attacks above the 19th parallel on March 31. He offered then—and he repeated the offer Tusday—to go further if North Vietnam would reciprocate. But he said North Vietnam has sent more men and supplies into the South than ever before.

North Vietnam has accused Washington of stalling on Hanoi's demand to halt all attacks on its territory, and has attempted by its arguments to rally world opinion to its support. The United States has accused Hanoi of stepping up the war, and U.S. officials here say privately they believe North Vietnam is seeking some spectacular victory to improve its bargaining position.

Fire Kills Boy

ALTMAR, N.Y. (AP) — Howard Smith, 7, was killed in his bedroom today when a predawn fire destroyed his family's rural home near this community 20 miles east of Oswego.

Mrs. Mary Smith, his mother, and six other Smith children were not injured, firemen said.

The children's father died six months ago in an automobile accident, State Police said.

Firemen said they believed the fire started on the second floor of the two-story, frame home.

The cause was not determined.

The house was beside South Albion Road.

CITE VIET COMMITTEE—Lt. Col. Rose V. Straley of the U.S. Army presents a plaque to Edward H. Englehardt, chairman of the Ulster County Vietnam Servicemen's Committee, for the work the committee has done for the county's men and women in Vietnam. Others include Nick Valenzano of Ulster Hose No. 5 and Mrs. Elsie Corey of Ulster Hose Auxiliary. Ulster Hose was one of the more prominent organizations in the collection of gifts and money for persons serving in Vietnam. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

LBJ: No Reduction Of N. Viet Bombing

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson says he's prepared to keep his peace envoys in Paris for an indefinite period but will not further reduce U.S. bombing of North Vietnam without similar restraint by Hanoi.

Johnson's comments at a Tuesday news conference came after he was briefed on the Paris talks by Cyrus R. Vance, top assistant to chief U.S. negotiator W. Averell Harriman.

Vance also briefed top Congress members, after which Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfild said he was "not discouraged" about peace prospects. But Mansfield voiced hope "the American people realize this is something that will take weeks and maybe months."

Vance plans to return to the French capital late this week.

Johnson said it is time for the Communists "to move from fantasy and propaganda" at the conference table—the North Vietnamese have yet to acknowledge any of their forces are in South Vietnam—and to get down to serious negotiations for a peaceful settlement.

The President reported the enemy is pouring record amounts of men and material into the South and has accelerated attacks since the Paris parley began nearly three weeks ago.

Nevertheless, "we shall continue patiently to see whether the Paris talks shall yield anything in the way of constructive results," Johnson said.

Other sources said Vance and Harriman are gearing for discussions they believe could last through the summer and beyond.

Johnson said the Communists have used the Paris meetings to try to pressure the United States into a complete, one-sided bombing halt of North Vietnam and to peddle propaganda.

Is DeGaulle Ready To Quit Presidency?

By GEORGE SIBERA

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle today abruptly cancelled a cabinet meeting and left for his country retreat in the face of a deepening labor crisis and planned Communist demonstrations to demand his resignation.

The 77-year-old French president has traditionally gone to his country home at Colombey-les-Deux-Eglises 110 miles east of Paris whenever he has crucial decisions to make or a major statement to prepare. There was speculation—but no confirmation — this decision would be to resign.

Cabinet ministers arriving for the morning meeting were told there was none and that it had been rescheduled for Thursday. Officials said De Gaulle would be back to Paris to preside over it.

Leftist federation leaders Francois Mitterand Tuesday called on De Gaulle to resign and declared himself ready to step into the place held by De Gaulle for 10 years.

Communist party leaders today ordered their 4.5 million card-carrying members to march in all of France's cities in a move they hoped would propel them to a position of leadership in a leftist government.

They also called on the workers of the giant, Communist-led General Workers Confederation to join them in the streets in defiance of a government ban on demonstrations, imposed last week but not likely to be enforced today.
